Pleasantly Entertained. We were hospitably entertained last Saturday at Brookland by Mr. P. J. Wessinger and his charming wife. We spent the night at Brookland with Mr. Rial North and was pleasantly entertained by himself and family. Being guarded by a St. Bernard, weighing 118 pounds, our dreams were undisturbed by the fear of burglars.

For Sale. My complete steam saw mill outfit which has only been used two years, with horses, mules, oxen, wagons and carts. Also several desirable tracts of land. Address, W. H. Donly. Lewisdale, S. C. 1w41pd.

To the Public. I wish to correct a little error in the advertisement of the barbecue given at Brookland Aug. 16th. It was to have been furnished by Mr. M. Gunter and myself, but for private reasons I withdrew. I only cooked it for Mr. Gunter. Respectfully, Geo. W. Lybrand.

Ice For Sale. Ice will be kept on hand at the Bazaar for sale at all times at a very reasonable price. All persons wanting large quantities will please give in their order before. Packing in sacks, boxes or otherwise will be charged for extra. THE BAZAAR.

HEALTH INSURANCE

The man who insures his life is wise for his family. The man who insures his health is wise both for his family and himself. You may insure health by guarding it. It is worth guarding. At the first attack of disease, which generally approaches through the LIVER and manifests itself in innumerable ways TAKE Tutt's Pills And save your health.

For Sale Cheap. A complete equipment for a short telephone line including two telephones, wire insulators etc., for sale cheap. Those wishing to purchase can get further information by applying at this office.

A Card. To the Editor of the Dispatch: I desire to say to the voters and my friends of Lexington county that on account of being sick I have been unable to be present at all the campaign meetings in the county, and hope that I will lose nothing by reason of my absence. I am in favor of good roads, good bridges and free delivery and I promise, if elected, that I will do all in my power to advance these industries. Yours sincerely, J. Collins Price. August 18, 1902.

Fully Qualified. The Yorkville Enquirer made the following reference to Mr. J. T. Gantt and his candidacy for Secretary of State: Mr. J. T. Gantt who, as assistant has virtually been Secretary of State during the past four years, seeks election to this important office. As to the qualifications or claims of the other candidates. The Enquirer knows little: but it is a fact that the people of the State are under much obligation to Mr. Gantt for much valuable information about the office they have gotten through the newspapers during the past four years. Mr. Gantt has done a great deal of work that he was not required to do, and made common with the general public, much important information that was previously held principally by the lawyers. If he should be elected and prove as efficient in the position of principal as he has been in the position of first assistant, the people will have no cause to complain.

Union Meeting. The next meeting of the Lower Division of the Lexington Baptist Association will be held with the Florence church on Saturday before the 5th Sunday in this month. PROGRAM. 10 a. m. Devotional exercises, enrollment of delegates and reports from the churches. 11 a. m. Union sermon by Albert Rodgers or J. M. Langston. 12 m. Recess for dinner. 1 p. m. Would it not be better to call a pastor indefinitely instead of annually?—By H. V. Rish or A. E. Smith. 2 p. m. Are churches doing right in keeping members on their roll who do not support the cause and come only to church on election day?—By C. H. Corbitt or Burdette Kirkland. 3 p. m. In what way can the young members of the church be induced to take part in the discussion of the questions submitted to the Union?—By Willie D. Rish or Marion Rish. Query box opened. Miscellaneous. SUNDAY. 10 a. m. Good and evil of protracted meetings.—Discussed by the Union. 11 a. m. Charity sermon.—By F. H. Poston or W. B. Fallaw. Miscellaneous adjournment. D. E. Craft, Clerk of Com. Gaston, S. C., Aug. 18, 1902. Midway, the neighborhood in which the barbecue of Wingard & Kleckley will be served next Saturday, is thickly populated with voters and the candidates will find a ripe harvest there.

The Veteran's Reunion.

The re-union of the "boys who wore the gray" last Wednesday was an occasion that will linger long in the memory of those who participated in the pleasures and happiness of the day. Perhaps it was the largest gathering of the war worn and battle scarred veterans and "girls who were not ashamed to wear homespun dresses," that this town has ever witnessed. The popular airs of Southern music which heated the blood, fired the heart and neved the arm of the brave young patriots in the early sixties, was a feature of the day.

The meeting was held in Roof's hall, which was packed to its utmost capacity. The Lexington Brass Band and the Irene Brass Band discoursed sweet music throughout the day and a choir of the ladies and gentlemen of Lexington sang patriotic airs and some of the war songs of the Confederacy. The following is the programme used by them on that occasion:

- Chorus—"To Thee O, Country." Recitation—"Rear Guard"—Miss Lena Harman. Children's Chorus—"He Laid Away the Suit of Gray to Wear the Union Blue." Recitation—"The Sword of Lee"—Ernestine Graichen. Music, accompanied by Mary Sue Roof, 6 years old. Recitation—"The Unknown Dead"—Lewis Roof. Solo and Chorus—"The Boys of the Sixties."—S. J. Leaphart, soloist. Recitation—"Antietam"—Miss Anna Lou Harman. Recitation—"Palmetto and Pine."—Miss Caro Efrid. Music—"Homespun Dress"—Misses Naoma Stuart, Lula Kaminer, Lucile Efrid and Lena Harman. Recitation—"The Rusty Sword"—Ruth Efrid. Recitation—"The Blue and Gray."—Anna Martha Meetze. Chorus—"Let Us Pass Over the River." Recitation—"The Old Canteen."—May Boozer. Chorus—"Dixie." Col. Andrew Crawford, of Columbia, was the orator of the day and his word painting was grandly sublime in its eloquence and beautiful in its conception. We regret that our limited space will not permit us to give even a synopsis of this literary gem. Col. U. R. Brooks followed in a speech fragrant with pleasant memories which are sacred to the "boys who acted well men's part, and made the history of the Southern Confederacy glorious indeed." The dinner was bountiful, tastefully spread and immensely enjoyed by all.

The Teachers' Summer School.

The Summer School for Teachers' is progressing quite satisfactorily. The instructors, Prof. S. J. Derrick, Arithmetic and History; Prof. R. A. Law, Grammar, English and Literature; Miss Carrie Guignard Drawing, are hard at work. In addition to the above Prof. Derrick, at the request of the teachers, is giving, whenever the opportunity offers, instructions in Algebra. The attendance this week is forty and the interest manifested by the teachers is very commendable.

A Safe Insurance Company.

The New York Life Insurance Co., is composed of over 550,000 policy holders, who are the company, who own the company and who alone receive PROFITS of the company. For full information call on or address, Alfred J. Fox, Agent, Lexington, S. C. Major J. H. Counts made a capital hit when in speaking of the expense of the higher institutions of learning he said that if the standard of the common schools was elevated and an academic course prescribed there would no longer be a necessity for such large appropriations for the maintenance of State colleges. Listening to the songs of the candidates on the 28th one would conclude that the iniquities of the tariff were responsible for all the ills that flesh is heir to. Their assertion were about as ridiculous as would be the statement that J. Peirpont Morgan had cornered the weather and raised the price of rain water.

OF INTENSE INTEREST TO FARMERS.

How High Priced Beef and Cotton Seed Are Related.

The Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' Association at a late meeting held in Texas, passed a resolution confirming that the high price of beef was due to a shortage in seed products. The following taken from the Cotton and Farm Journal, throws some light upon this subject: "The rules adopted by the Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' Association puts it in line with the other associations of a similar kind in the South. It is probable that there will be no more invasion of Mississippi and Alabama by Texas mills in search of seed. "The cattlemen who were expected here to expostulate over their alleged bad treatment during the past year have not put in appearance as yet, and may not. The crushers do not seem concerned over the threat of some of the cattlemen to operate their own mills. The fact that the Swift Company has recently purchased half a dozen mills at different points was not commented on by any of the crushers to whom it was mentioned, save to the effect that Swift would probably be able to use more feed than those mills would provide. "A resolution was adopted deprecating 'any act of congress that may tend to reduce the price of cattle and hogs,' and alleging that the present high price of meat is due 'to a shortage in seed products.' "This would seem to show there were two sides to this question of high beef and that in so far as Texas is concerned the price of beef is bound to vary with the price of cotton seed hulls and cotton seed meal. In proportion as the grass area of Texas has diminished, the cattle-raisers have been compelled to buy feed stuffs, and the only available feed-stuffs in quantity is cotton seed hulls and cotton seed meal. Hulls have been selling within the last year or two in Texas as high as $14 a ton. This means that the meat supply in the future is largely dependent upon the cotton seed oil business, and that the people of the Southeastern States will probably go much more extensively into the business of raising cattle for beef purposes after they find out as much about the values of hulls and meal as the Texas cattle man has found out by the necessities of the case. It would seem as though the eastern farmer now has the advantage of the Texan in raising cattle for beef purposes and in handling cattle for dairy purposes. All the cotton seed products that are needed for cattle raising and competition with other markets can be had right at home through the Southern Cotton Oil Company of the Carolinas and Georgia, through any of its mills in its headquarters at Columbia, S. C., Charlotte, N. C., Goldsboro, N. C., Atlanta, Ga., Augusta, Ga., and Savannah, Ga.
