Daniel R. Buff.

Daniel R. son of Martin W. and Francis Buff, was born in Lexington county, September 15, 1877 and died August 29, 1903. The deceased was an ideal young man and his death was a shock to his family and a surprise to his many friends. Acute appendicitis, assuming a serious form did its work, notwithstanding the faithful work of his physician, loved family and kind neighbors. When but a mere boy at the age of eleven, he connected himself with Hebron Methodist church and proved himself a worthy and useful member, being consistent in all the walks of life, impressing both old and young that he was a follower of Christ.

Death is ever an unwelcome messenger and particularly when it enters a home in which none has ever been taken and carries away one in the very prime of life when everything is so full of promise as it were with this young man.

In all his sickness he manifested a Christian spirit and on the evening before he died while he was lingering on the margin of life and when conscious that he was nearing the end, he called the family to his side and told them "that he had been with them so long that he hated to leave them, but it seemed that he must go, but if it was so intended he was not afraid and was perfectly resigned to God's will." And with this assurance his faith never faltered and not an expression of fear could be discerned, having lived well and most assuredly he died well.

The writer knew the deceased well and always found him to be of a gentle and kind disposition, being a young man of pure lips always abounding in chaste conversation. His was a character, unblemished, unselfish and true, possessing the happy faculty of drawing all who knew him into his confidence and that confidence he never betrayed. The community has lost a faithful friend, the church a useful member, the parents a devoted and useful son and the brothers and sisters a loving brother. He was buried at Hebron church cemetery on the evening of the 29th of August, in the midst of a large concourse of relatives and friends, to await the resurrection morning. His Teacher.

Light from Bakersville.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Mr. Ben H. Kaigler is at home from Augusta. He intends standing the Civil Service examination in October.

The colleges are opening and the boys and girls are leaving home after spending "the good old summer time" with fond relatives and friends.

Mr. George Kaigler returned to Clemson last week.

Several of Clemson's "rats" are known in our section, among them are Messrs. Lemuel Kaigler and Cleveland Martain.

Miss Mary Geiger leaves Monday night for Winthrop College.

Mr. James J. Wolfe has been here several weeks visiting his home. He leaves soon to return to Harvard University.

Miss Maude Bookman is the popular guest of Miss Carrie Davis.

Miss Ollie Geiger returned on the 7th, we hear, much improved in health after a most pleasant visit to Misses Effie and Maude Riley, near North.

Miss Annie Wolfe is visiting the Misses Boozer of Columbia. Miss Wolfe has just returned from Crockettville where she was the guest of Miss Miley.

Mr. J. Archie Wolfe has been quite sick but is improving.

We are having pleasant weather, and it really seems like fall is almost here. "The melancholy days, the saddest of the year."

The cotton crop is late, a little has been picked.

Fodder pulling is about over except the very late corn.

Wishing you, Mr. Editor, much success this fall. We are,

Teamsters.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

SOCIETY MEN

by reason of their eminence in social circles must necessarily be all that is perfect in matters sartorial. Their dress requirements are most exacting and are subject to the most rigid and critical inspection. Gentlemen whose social duties call for the best in the tailor's art, together with strict exactness in the matter of style propriety, would do well to look into the merits of

"INTERNATIONAL" GARMENTS.

They excel in all those little points, without which, quality and workmanship, avail nothing. We show their complete line and take measurements.
