Died.

We have been informed that Mr. James Buff, an employee of one of the Columbia cotton mills, was taken to the home of his brother, Mr. Ed. Buff, in Lower Fork, very ill, died on the 14th instant, and was buried in the cemetery at St. Andrew's Evangelical Lutheran church in the afternoon of that day.

The Markets.

The following is yesterday's quotations except this market which is today's for turpentine and cotton at the places named: Turpentine—Savannah, 57. MIDDLING COTTON. Augusta, 10 15-16. Charleston, 10 1/2. Lexington, 10 1/2. The price of cotton has fell 1/2 of a cent since yesterday.

Smith Branch Items.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: We are having delightful weather now. The health of this section is very good at this writing with the exception of sore eyes among the little kids, and big kids too. Cotton is opening slow, don't believe there will be more than half a crop in this part. Pease are beginning to get ripe. They are somewhat hurt by the dry weather. Mr. Lee Berry has bought the home place of Mr. Jerome Lucas and has moved in it. Mr. John T. Kyzer is repairing his old dwelling. Mr. Charlie Smith and family of this community have moved to Sticks. Our lost is Sticks gain. Those who were wild about the new county I think are about tame. We hope the good roads will soon be. We have got good roads in our section and the only way to have them is to work them. There was a large crowd attended the Baptising at Florence Sunday. There will be a big meeting at Smith Branch next Sunday. Birdie. September 21, 1903

Delingo Items.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: There has been quite a change in the weather. The wind is very high the most of the time and if the weather keeps cool it will not be long before we will have frost.

The cotton crop is short and most of the farmers are having theirs picked and ginned and are selling as fast as they gin it for fear that cotton will go down.

Mr. Simon I. Hook, who has been spending sometime in the mountains and at the springs, has returned to his home much improved in health.

Mrs. G. C. Hook and children have returned from an extended trip to Chester.

Mrs. S. C. Kinsler has returned from Georgia and Glenn Springs much to the delight of her many friends.

Miss Estelle Hook has been the charming hostess of a "house party" consisting of her cousins, Misses Ethel and Eula Rowell, of Bamberg, and her classmate, Miss Lina V. Dent, of Columbia.

Mrs. May Kreps has gone to Langley to teach school.

Miss Julia Corley, of Orangeburg, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Frances Hook.

Miss Annie Geiger is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. W. Shull.

Mrs. Jane Hook and granddaughter, Mary Senn Hook, have returned to their respective homes in Bamberg after an extended visit to Mr. R. N. Senn.

We are sorry to learn of the illness of Miss Corrie Corley. Hope she will soon be well again.

Delingo school opened Monday with Miss Ethel Dreher as teacher.

Many of our young people who have been spending the good old summer time with their parents have returned to the various schools and colleges.

Misses Hattie Hook, Cora Buff and Mr. George J. Buff have gone to Lexington to attend the Palmetto Collegiate Institute.

Miss Estelle Hook has returned to the Columbia Female College to resume her studies.

Brown Eyes.

Delmar Locals.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: We are now having ideal fall weather.

Mr. J. O. Eargle made a business trip to Columbia last week.

Mr. J. Luther Moore has returned to his work in Augusta, Ga.

Mr. John W. Ballentine has gone to Georgia to take charge of his school.

Miss Quilla Eargle visited relatives and friends in Leesville the first of last week.

Mrs. Martha Derrick is visiting at Mr. J. Ed. Shealy's.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Hare, of Summit, visited in this section last week.

Mr. Allen B. Caughman and sister, Miss Carrie, visited their brother, Mr. J. L. Caughman, of Edgefield, last week.

Miss Lula Black, who has been in this section for sometime teaching music, has returned to her home at Blacks, Saluda county.

Mr. Allen B. Caughman will leave this week for Newberry, where he will resume his studies in Newberry College.

Mr. W. H. Hare and Miss Jessie Caughman will represent Mt. Hebron church at the Sunday School Convention, which meets at Bethlehem church.

Rev. Austin delivered a very impressive sermon at Mt. Hebron yesterday from Romans I:XVI. Rev. Austin has only two more appointments at Mt. Hebron, after which Rev. J. D. Shealy will have charge.

Mrs. Adaline Smith, who lives a few miles from here had her barn destroyed by fire one night last week. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.
