Batesburg Items.

The beautiful Indian summer, has at last been broken by the frost, and though vegetation has been killed, the weather is still delightful. Crops are being rapidly gathered, and corn is satisfactory, but cotton is short, though the price being better than for some seasons past, will help somewhat to make up for the shortage. There is evidence of a large grain crop being sown, and that augurs well for the future business among the merchants is fine, and to take a glance in some of our big stores remind one of the mammoth shops in the large cities, both in wares and customers.

Events of "out of the ordinary" rarely occur in our town, consequently the newspaper correspondent is at a loss for something to send off, the unexpected hardly ever occurs here and though it is a hustling town in every sense of the word, still the even tenor of business is rarely departed from and the chronicler is in danger of falling into disfavor, with the pressman, for what is not his fault.

A departure from the usual routine, has however occurred even in Batesburg, the "Advocate" newspaper has, we are reliably informed, changed hands, and Messrs "Towell, Whitten, and Kneecs" the proprietors since it has been in Batesburg, have sold the paper, to "N. Rogers Baylie," and Mr. Baylie now has charge of the enterprise and all wish him success. This weeks issue has not yet appeared, consequently, we do not know whether or not Col. Towell still remains as editor but this much can be said whether or not he still serves the paper, his warm sympathies remain with the child of his youth, and we trust a continued success will attend the old Advocate.

Large numbers of our people are visiting the fair in Columbia this week. I will not be able to go this time as I have for some time past been vegetating in the green fields and pastures anew of the prosperous eastern section of the State, and by so doing have about exhausted the necessary funds and so I now remain at home, and as far as this scribe now knoweth his burial place will be marked by the sands of old Lexington county in which the imprint of his first footsteps was made, and the love for which then engendered, has never since ceased to burn in his breast, and time poverty, or temporary absence, has never removed or lessened it.

Occasional.

"Strength and vigor come of good food, duly digested. 'Force,' a ready-to-serve wheat and barley food, adds no burden, but sustains, nourishes, invigorates."

THE OLD RELIABLE

Absolutely Pure. THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

Salesday.

There was quite a crowd of our citizens from various sections of the county in town Monday, and our streets certainly bore a businesslike appearance. Some selling cotton and other produce and trading, while others were attending the sales, and to legal and other business about the court house. The following property changed hand:-

The old Simeon Lybrand place, 89 1/2 acres. Bought by John B. Sox, for $1005 00.

The Jesse Sox place, 156 acres, in the case of John I. Laird vs. C. S. Roof. Bought by M. C. Bachman: for $330

The Frances D. Koon estate lands were bid in by the heirs of the estate.

The Old "Vets" Reunion.

The rates to the reunion of the Confederate Veterans' Association, which meets in Augusta, Ga., November 10, 11 and 12th, are as follows:-

Lexington, $1.65; Barrs, $1.60; Gilbert, $1.45; Summit, $1.40; Leesville, $1.35; Batesburg, $1.25. This rate is for the round trip.

Train No. 129 leaves Lexington at 4:30 a. m., and train No. 133 leaves Lexington at 2:20 p. m.

Col. M. D. Harman and Camp will leave here on the 4:30 train on the morning of November 10th. He has also made arrangements for meals and lodging for all Veterans, who may go from this county.
