THE LEXINGTON DISPATCH.

Blasts from Klondike.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

And now with all her other troubles Russia has a blooming revolution on her hands. Hope that does not mean that we are to be served to still longer and harder names. Don't see how Uncle J. and many more of 'us are to get through if it does.

Its no longer "Lo, the Poor Indian!" but lo, the poor dog. Our broad shoulders, big hearted Auditor has thrown around his neck a noose and later on Frank Shealy will come along and rope him in, and then there'll by a mad nigger. Our farmers have lately shipped their tobacco and are now waiting with bated breath the awful consequences. You can almost hear them say under their breath, what if we should 20 cents per pound. Of course then we would not plant any more cotton. Our school, under Professor Lindler, is growing much beyond our expectations.

All the patrons of R. F. D. No. 1, are hereby kindly requested to help cut out a foot and bicycle path around the route. A good path will be a great public con-vanience for both footman and ciclyist. The writer will give a full year's sub-scription to the "good old Lexington Dis-patch" to the person who cuts out the What says the R. F. D. boys of the exanty to having a rousing meeting at Lexington the 22nd of February? Of course there will be no danger to the thing. We can have a meeting and with car tongues out and tears in our eyes we can stand and look at Uncle Sam like a bird dog puppy does at a piece of fat meat. Maybe he will see that we need it and tell us to hi on or get out. The boys all remind me of what I heard a Fittle boy say while his bigger brother was eating candy. He said: "I like candy, but I don't want any." Klonkike.

Details of Fighting.

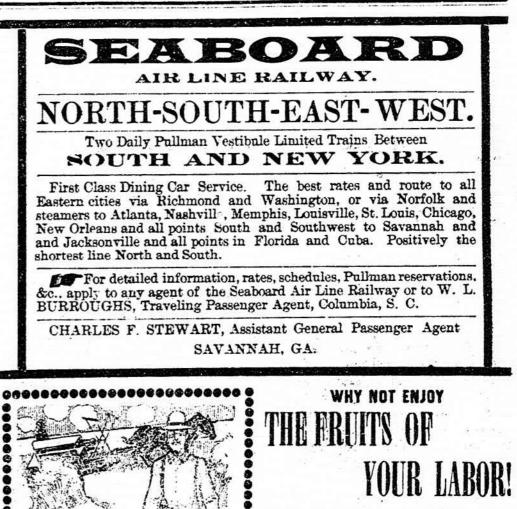

Washington, Feb 2-The Japanese legation has received a report made by Field Marshal Oyam-, giving the derails of the fierce tighting from the 25th to the 29 h of January, when the Russians were driven to the right of the Hun river. The marshal says that the enemy consisted of at least seven divisions, ons of which was a cavalry division. The Japanese casualities were about 7,-000 Prisoners state that four regiments of Bussian infantry were nearly annihilated. Many of the companies of these regiments were reduced to from 20 to 30 men each. The field marshal expresses the opinion that the Russian cosualities must have totaled at least 10,000.

May Hurt College.

The Trustees or Clemson College and others interested in that institution are expecting a sharp fight in the Senate over the bill, which has passed the House, providing for a division of the fertilizer tax with Winthrop The bill provides that Ciemson shall receive about $75 000 and that after this amount has been received the rest shall go to Winthrop. G Dancan Beilinger, E q. who is a trustee of Clemson, is quoted with having said, in discussing this mat ter: "If the bill becomes a law the college will have to abolish some of its deparments. As it now stands now our expenses are much about up to the revenue, and we contemplated expensive additions to some of our courses next session. If this bill now passes it will be seen that we cannot add to the strength of the college, but will necessarily have to Cures Blood Poison, Cancers, Ulcers.

Dots from Monetta.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: I shall deem it an honor should you see fit to publish dots as I may be able to write you. There is very little being done on the farm in this vicinity. I prognosticate that the farmers are waiting to see what the staple will do and what they can grow it for. Should all farmers reduce acrage and fertilize 25 per cent. less than that used last year the staple would be marketed considerable higher for this year's crop. Unless they do this the farmer must expect six cents this fall,

Mr. Editor, how did those cold days of last week strike you? Did it strike you as it did some of the rest of us, unprepared. I predict that the worst is to come yet. Look out for the fifteenth of February. Those in need of wood had better replenish their wood pile in due time.

Mr. Editor, I saw in your last issue where you were asked to dine with a good old friend and possum and tatter were served. That sounds euphonious to my ears. Should I have participated with you in such a dine as that then I could have dissected the ripe possum with a better relish.

Legislature.

The famous Brice dispensary bill was killed in the Senate by a vote of 16 to 11. Mr. Efird would have voted aye and W. E. Johnston no. but were paired.

Qaite a lot of discusion was provoked Friday by Senator Hood's bill to limit the number of jarors drawn to not less than double the number needed for the term of court. Now one in every three of the names of qualified electors is drawn. Sepator Hood contended that his bill furnished a better class of jurors. Senator von Kolnitz spoke against the bill, saying that there were too few jurors a dangerous law and Senator. Marshall said there were now only 3,000 registered voters in Richland and to reduce the number would be very bad policy Senator Brown said that the growing disbelief in jury trials made it necessary that some-thing should be done. Sensior Hay spoke against the bill and Senator Brice on the same side. It was killed by a rote of 23 to six.

Among the new bill's introduced was Senator Efird's relating to magistrates holding inquests.

Among the bills sent to the house Friday was Senator Efird's firing time for courts in fifth circuit.

Mr. Raysor's compulsory education bill was recommitted which practically means its death.

The Senate has devoted considerable time to the discussion of several bills regulating the dispensary.

Among the most important bills which have been ratified were the following:

Regulating traffic in seed cotton. Repealing law forbidding county anditors to make public returns of income tax

On Housing Cotton.

Cotton men, with long experience as dealers in the steple, give it as their judgment that buudreds of bales will be seriously damaged for lack of housing and proper care. People are now holding cotton who never beld any before, and, not knowing from experience how easy the staple is affected injuriously by weather conditions, they are allowing their cotton to lie uncovered on the ground, about gin houses and in their yards, instead of storing it in warehouses or other buildings. The loss on this account will be simply enormous.

Many Rioters Killed.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2-Latest reports from American consuls in Russia indicate a cessation of trouble in most industrial centers. Killed by Falling Tree.

Walhalla Courier.

Last Saturday morning, 14th ult., in the Burnt Tanyard neighborhood, on the farm of Widow Deaton, Deady Hughes, about twelve years old, a son of Marcus Hughes, was out rabbit hunting early in the morning, and in cutting down a tree was caught under it as it fell and pinioned to the ground. His dog returned home and showed unessinass, coming and going in the direction of the woods Search was made and the body found at 1 o'clock in the afternoon by J. F. Frady, who, with his mother, lifted up the butt of the tree, while his grandmother drew his body out. Young Hughes had been dead some time when found. Coroner W. L. Harbin went and looked into the case and issued a burial permit, but no inquest was held, as it was plainly an accident. The unfortunate accident is deeply regretted by the friends of the young man.

Murray's Horehound, Mullein and Tar will cure your cough. Large bottle for 25c.

The South's Great Year.

From the Manufactu .s' Record.

There is one striking point worthy of general attention, and that is while raising by far the largest cotton crop ever produced, larger than the world generally had supposed that the South could cultivate and pick with its present labor supply, this section at the same time has raised its largest grain crops and its largest fruit crops, and, in addition to all of this, has steadily developed its industrial and railroad interests. The people of the South have thus been doing more work and accomplishing greater results during the last tweive months than ever before.
