Tomorrow the Augusta and Columbia Trolley railroad meeting will be held at Leesville and we trust something definite may be the result.

Senator Tillman before the dispensary committee was a drawing card for a large attendance yesterday expecting a general shelling of the woods, but there were no new developments and altogether everything was pleasant. He was entertaining and frequently he was applauded.

After the extended law suit, in the case of the Farmers' Alliance Exchange, it came out that Lexington county stockholders will receive the sum total of $14237 to divide up between them. The first assets were about $16,000. The investment is very much like the negro's cat fish, "It ain't swunk powerfully."

When the Central Carolina Power Company builds a dam across Broad river near Frosts mill and builds out ton mills and other enterprises, wont some of our folks on this side join in the good feeling too. From indications past and present, it now seems that it might be probable. We hope this will not interfere with the promised electric power dams across Saluda.

The Knights of Pythias will have a grand time in Columbia on the 18th and 19th instants, celebrating the 42nd anniversary. An interesting program has been arranged, commencing with a sermon by Rev. Mr. Truesdale, Sunday at 8 p. m., in the Washington street Methodist church. Grand parade Monday with several addresses and other entertainments.

The dispensary situation, as far as the senate is concerned, seems in stead of having arrived at a conclusion to be in a more complicated condition than ever. There may not be any legislation whatever on the matter at all this session. Last evening the Morgan bill was killed and the dispensary forces hooked to the title of it the substitute for the Rayson-Manning bill.

There is still a lot of work for the Legislature to complete before Saturday's adjournment sine die.

A great deal has been said concerning the actions of some of the jury on the Seaboard damage cases. Knowing, as we do, the gentlemen of this jury, we cannot believe that they intended anything improper by accepting the courtesy of Mr. Johnson. Yet, it was, perhaps, wrong to do so, under the circumstances, more especially as they had to decide the fourth case of like nature for damage by fire, upon some of the same land, the understanding being that the three cases tried as one would act as a basis for the fourth, which this same jury were to hear. The point was well made by Mr. Seibles, attorney for the plaintiffs, and of course he secured new trials. Judge Hydrick was quite severe and properly so, in reprimanding the jurors for their mistake in the matter, and had Mr. Johnson been present know doubt his punishment might have been great, unless he could have satisfied the court of no wrong intention on his part. He has since secured affidavits from the jury that he never offered or paid them anything. It was in the night when this jury came out with their verdict in the three cases, and Mr. Johnson asked two of the jurors, Messrs. J. L. Sease and E. D. Hammond, to spend the night with him at the hotel and they did so, being away from home, thinking nothing of what might be thought or said of their action.

SEED TIME

The experienced farmer has learned that some grains require far different soil than others; some crops need different handling than others. He knows that a great deal depends upon right planting at the right time, and that the soil must be kept enriched. No use of complaining in summer about a mistake made in the spring. Decide before the seed is planted.

The best time to remedy wasting conditions in the human body is before the evil is too deep rooted. At the first evidence of loss of flesh should be taken immediately. There is nothing that will repair wasted tissue more quickly or replace lost flesh more abundantly than Scott's Emulsion. It nourishes and builds up the body when ordinary foods absolutely fail.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.
