The Trolley Line.

The surveyors of the Trolley Line have come and passed on through our town. They came pretty well up the old Augusta road from near Brookland, as we stated last week, deviating but little as they came. At or near Mr. Jas. W. Corley's residence, beyond the rock quarry, about a mile below town. They made as near a direct line as the situation would allow for Lexington, which crossed Twelve Mile Creek in front of Judge Wingard's on to lands of Eli L. Corley, and thence up the creek and across by Mr. Mike Wingard's place; continuing through direct, taking the home of Mr. Hall, nearly centrally in front of the Baptist church, where they again crossed the Augusta road, through the Fort place, lands of G. M. Harman and W. P. Roof, crossing depot street about 150 yards south of the town hall. Here on the flat ridge of Mr. Roof it is likely a depot will be erected. By their survey they reached Lexington from Brookland in less than eleven miles. From here the route continues over and through the Muller lands, on to those of E. J. George. Here they diverge a little northwest on lands of Mrs. D. L. George, passing near D. E. Ballentine's place, through lands of W. W. Barr, Ada Leaphart, Milledge Harris, Rev. W. D. Quick, to the Rawl old field, again on the Augusta road. They will likely continue up said road nearly direct for Leesville by Shiloh church, &c.

Our people are delighted with the idea of having this road which certainly will enhance their property and be of inestimable value to the community through which it passes. Let the land owners throw no obstacles, unnecessarily, in the way as to its construction, but aid in every way possible.

The conference of prominent prohibitionist held in Columbia last week is said to have had no politics in it, but was purely an effort to deal with the liquor question from a scientific point of view, and the movement promises good.

It has always been our opinion that it is best to eliminate the liquor question entirely from politics. If we are to have the question settled by the people of the State, let the executive committee furnish boxes at the primary election in every county and allow the people to express themselves on the question of liquor or no liquor. Mixing men with this question will likely not give us the most efficient officers.

Capt. Charles Inglesby, a gallant Confederate veteran, distinguished lawyer and for thirty-five years secretary of the grand lodge of Masons of this State, died in the 68th year of his age, at the residence of his son-in-law, Dr. E. M. Whaley, in Columbia, March 26th. He had been in declining health for about two years, and the end, though sudden, was not unexpected. His remains were buried in Charleston.

Gen. Carwile has accepted the invitation to hold the reunion of Confederate veterans in Columbia some time in May, and the citizens are going to entertain the old soldiers in grand style.

Samuel Wingard Dead.

We have just learned of the death of Mr. Samuel Wingard, who moved from this county to Orangeburg county about twenty years ago, and died there on the 26th February, 1906, in the 78th year of his age. He will be remembered by the members of company K, 20th Regiment, S. C. V., and was a jovial and faithful soldier, but he has answered the last roll call here and past over the river to wait the bugle call above. He was a good neighbor and citizen and a warm friend.

For Thin Babies

Fat is of great account to a baby; that is why babies are fat. If your baby is scrawny, Scott's Emulsion is what he wants. The healthy baby stores as fat what it does not need immediately for bone and muscle. Fat babies are happy; they do not cry; they are rich; their fat is laid up for time of need. They are happy because they are comfortable. The fat surrounds their little nerves and cushions them. When they are scrawny those nerves are hurt at every ungentle touch. They delight in Scott's Emulsion. It is as sweet as wholesome to them.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

By all means do not forget the garden. It is too important a part of every well regulated home to be overlooked, and to have the best results, buy your seed at the Bazaar.

There are more rumors afloat to the effect that another cotton mill will be built here in the near future. We hope it will prove more than a rumor. There is plenty of room for such a mill and it would be a great benefit to Lexington.

If you are needing furniture of any kind, rugs, art squares and a lot of other articles that makes home comfortable and happy, it is useless to go elsewhere than to Scott Hendrix's. His prices are always lowest. Call and see the stock.

Don't you think if we had a system of water works or water supply from a stand pipe or steel tank the property in town would be much safer. In case of fire it will be too late to call for water. A bucket brigade will not answer everytime.

Mr. Jacob Wingard, of the Pilgrim section, was in town Saturday, prompt as usual, called in and renewed his paper, this being the 35th year he has subscribed for and read the Dispatch. He is one of our war comrades and a warm friend. There is not many such men as Jake.

Rev. C. J. Sox has resigned the Willis-Gladesboro pastorate in Virginia, and has accepted a call from Mt Pleasant pastorate, Saluda, S. C., and will take charge of the work about the 23 Sunday in April. On his return he will stop over to visit his relatives in this section.

The case of Elliott Gunter and wife vs. Burt Fallow and wife, to test title to land, before F. E. Dreber as referee, brought to town today a number of citizens from the Edisto section, as witnesses. Asbill and Sharpe are attorneys for the plaintiffs, and Graham and Martin are for the defendants.

Ex-Senator Sharpe was in town yesterday on legal business and still believes that there is more in law for him than in politics, but we doubt his friends allowing him to stay out of the political arena this summer when the rest of mankind are seeking office and they are on the hustings.

Jake Barr and George Wright, colored, whom Sheriff Corly arrested in Orangeburg county last week, charged with stealing clothing, &c., from hands on the place of Mr. J. E. B. McCartha, were convicted before Judge Mack, at Leesville, last Saturday, and fined, which they paid and was released.
