For some time we have been trying to find out how the teachers of this county are pleased with the books now on the State list and the results obtained with these books as well as the sentiment of the people in regard to changes of text books.

As far as we have been able to learn, the present books with few exceptions, are satisfactory and have given good results. Our schools have made decided progress with them. Teachers are familiar with them and can do better work with them than they could with new books, and it would take some time to become familiar with.

Our people are decidedly opposed to changes, except where absolutely necessary. Changes are very costly as they know from experience.

It is to be hoped that the State board will not burden the people of the State with any extensive changes in our present book list.

Gov. Heyward says he would like to act on the investigating committee's suggestion and remove Maj. Black from the board of control, if he has the authority; and that question he has submitted to the attorney general.

Mr. W. G. Childs apologized for cursing before the dispensary investigating committee a few days ago and his apology was accepted and the matter dropped.

Dispensary Sales.

The following are the gross and net sales of the respective dispensaries for the month of May:

Lexington, gross sales $314.38. County and town each receive net $105.33.

Peak, gross sales $162.66. County and town receive each net $43.94.

Lewisdale, gross sales $115.14. County and town each receive $26.48.

The total gross sales in the county from the three dispensaries for May amount to $592.18. The county receives from this $175.75.

Lively Crowd in Town.

Monday there was a lively crowd in town. However, there were no sales, but the County Commissioners were in session and only did routine work, considering and passing on claims, though not so many in number. The Board of Control was also in session dividing and apportioning the dispensary sales of last month. The Board of Registration were at work. So all and all made a fair aggregation, and things had a business appearance.

Fishermen, you can find your tackle at the Bazaar. Japanese canes also.

Mr. David Hall, who holds a good position at Honeypath, S. C., sent us a dollar by mail to remind us he had not forgotten his obligation.

Why not in your leisure moments enjoy the ease and comforts of a hammock. Call at Scott Hendrix's and see his stock.

Remember the election for the three mill extra school tax in this district. Saturday is the day and the polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Ladies' white and summer dress goods. Prices marked down to close out. Need room for fall goods. J. S. Wessinger, Chapin, S. C.

Mr. Henry S. Crim, of Sandy Run, is the first one to send to this office a cotton bloom of this season. He is a progressive farmer and a good citizen.

When you are looking for something to cook, call or send to H. M. Wingard's. He runs a regular vegetable market and carries everything in season, with a full line of groceries.

Uncle Sam Salley a faithful and industrious old colored man of the Edisto was up last Thursday and called in to see us. He has been a long subscriber of ours and was anxious to see where he received his paper from.

Car load of mixed furniture just received. All are invited to inspect these goods at J. S. Wessinger's, Chapin, S. C.

While repairing the court house and jail the county commissioners overlooked the fence in front of the jail. A neat wire or other fence would make considerable improvement.

Have you visited the bankrupt sale to see how cheap things are offered. Call early and secure some of these bargains. Remember the place, Smoak's old stand and, go "a runnin'."

The citizens in the Hood Branch school district will vote on the 18th of June next to decide whether they will levy an additional two mill school tax in said district or not.

A Negro Drowned.

Will Lane, a young negro and an axman of the engineering corps working on the survey for the waterpower company near Dreher's ferry, went to that place on Sunday morning to go in swimming and plunged into water at the ferry about twelve feet deep and apparently he could not swim, as he almost sank at once, in the presence of a number of people who, it is said, offered all the assistance advisable, handing a pole to the drowning man, but he did not grasp it and sank. Some of them patriotic enough proposed to swim in, but others said both would be drowned, and so they had to stand and see the man drown. His body was recovered and sent to his home in Columbia for burial.

A Day of Enjoyment.

Don't forget to attend Ioor Hayes' big barbecue on June 16th. He promises you the best dinner that you ever ate in your life. The meats will be barbecued by the well known barbecue man, Mr. Lewie Hallman. He is preparing to feed five hundred (500) people, and his charges for dinner will be so low that you will not know when you get back home whether you paid for your dinner or if it was given to you. All the candidates will be present and address you. A well known photographer of Columbia will be on hand to serve you. Music will be furnished by the German string band. All the passenger trains will stop at Hayes' station on the day of the cue to take on and let off passengers. A day of pleasure and enjoyment is promised to all who attend.

Declines to Run.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: I notice my name has been announced in your worthy paper as a candidate for legislative honors. I am indeed sorry my friends failed to confer with me before making the announcement, as in that case I might have prevented my name appearing before the public and the trouble of declining. However I am truly thankful to the kind friends for the honor they meant to confer upon me and to those who have written and spoken to me so complimentary concerning my candidacy.

Yours very truly,
 J. W. Eargle, M. D.

A New Law Firm.

Messrs. G. T. Graham and T. C. Sturkie have formed a co-partnership for the practice of law. Col. Graham has practiced law for twenty-five years and is one of the most astute lawyers in the State. Mr. Sturkie is a young man of considerable ability and has had considerable experience in the practice of his profession. The firm occupy four rooms in the Kaufmann building where one of them can be found at all times during the day. All business entrusted to them will receive prompt attention. Business placed into the hands of either member of the firm prior to the formation of the co-partnership will be attended to by the one into whose hands it was placed. The new firm is a strong one and will undoubtedly receive a large patronage.

The formation of the co-partnership was made necessary because of the increase of business that came into their hands.

Senator A. P. Gorman, a distinguished Democratic leader of Maryland and an able statesman, died in Washington Monday from heart trouble.

We notice it is claimed that much cotton is still being held by the farmers in various counties of the State and that the mills have a reasonably good supply on hand. This may cause the price to remain steady or later decline.
