SECOND PRIMARY.

State Ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR. R. I. Manning. M. F. Ansel.

ATTORNEY GENERAL. Fraser Lyon. J. W. Ragsdale.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER. J. H. Wharton. J. M. Sullivan.

Luke Gray, colored, was hung in Aiken S. C., last Friday for the killing in cold blood, of Mr. Clifford Woodward in his store at Montmorenci, on the 23d of last February. Scott Oliver was charged with complicity in the crime and was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment. Isaac Thompson was also sentenced to hang on the same day, but his attorneys secured a new trial.

Mr. Lindler's Card.

To the Voters of Lexington County: Inasmuch as Mr. Lindler of our town is in the second race for County Auditor, we, his fellow townsmen recommend him to the voters of Lexington county as a young man of high moral character, worthy in every respect and believe well qualified to fill the position of County Auditor: P. M. Frick, N. Z. Sease, Dr. J. W. Earge, J. S. Boozer, J. S. Boozer, J. S. Wessinger, T. A. Chaffin, W. C. Bouknight, D. E. Barnet, W. E. Koon, Jon. R. Robinson, G. B. Dominick, R. W. Frick, Sr. R. W. Frick, Jr. W. B. Williams, C. P. Robinson.

The First Monday.

Our town was well crowded Monday with citizens from various sections of the county. The board of county commissioners were in session and transacted the usual routine business, payment of claims, etc. The board of control was also engaged reckoning the accounts, etc., of the dispensary for last month. The board of registration issued a number of certificates. Probate Drafts sold the Lupo land of twenty-nine acres to W. D. Moak.

A Card.

To the Voters of Lexington County: Allow me through the columns of the Dispatch to thank you for the support you gave me in the primary election on the 28th of August for County Supervisor. I certainly feel grateful and will ever remember my friends, while I have the best of feelings for those who saw fit to vote for the other candidates. Respectfully, Jno. W. Fry.

Collegiate Institute.

The fall session of the Palmetto Collegiate Institute opens next Monday with bright prospects. Several students have already applied for board, which was secured at reasonable prices. It is useless to think of sending your boys or girls elsewhere, as they will have the best of care and attention by Prof. Rauch and his assistants, and given all advantages possible. Send for a catalogue, which will be mailed at once.

How to Avoid Appendicitis

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated, Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels, and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. The Kaufmann Drug Co.

Thanks to His Friends.

I take this method of thanking my friends all over the county, who cast their ballots for me for Auditor on the 28th of August, and of saying that I feel deeply grateful to them for the confidence reposed in me. With malice towards none and charity towards all, I am, Respectfully, Sam'l J. Derrick. Swansea, S. C., Sept. 1st, 1906.

Just Back.

Mr. John Fitzmaurice, one of Columbia's up-to-date dry goods merchants, has just returned from the northern markets where he has purchased the latest in dry goods, notions, clothing and furnishings and some of these goods are now being opened. They are all pleasing to the eye and pocket book. Look at them.

High-Art Job Printing Our Forte.

Pride of Kentucky.

JUST take a glass And mangle in't A young and tender Sprig o' mint, Some pineapple, A cherry red And just a little Twisted shred Of orange peel; Of ice about As much as you Would gather out In one fistful From where 'tis packed; Now fruit and mint And ice that's cracked Are in the glass; To help the cause Put in a couple Of long straws, And while the ice Steams up and melts You've got to put in Something else—I don't know—what That—is, do you? Or else I guess Perhaps you do! But put it in, Shake it a lot, Then taste and tell Us what you've got. —Houston Post.

A Foregone Conclusion.

"Pa, what is a foregone conclusion?" "Something that you know will happen before it does. For instance, it's a foregone conclusion that if your mother should come into this room now and see me with my feet cocked up and my cigar going nicely, as you see me, she would immediately think of something that— Ah, there she comes! Listen!" "Henry," she said, "I wish you'd see if you can't do something to the dining room window. I can't get it up or down. And when you get that fixed oil the hinge of the kitchen door. It squeaks terribly."—Judge.

A Literary Repast.

"John," said the poet, "time for breakfast, isn't it?" "Yes, sir—high time!" "Did you warm that sonnet over?" "I sure did, sir!" "And the love song?" "It was warm enough already, sir." "All right. Just pour a little ink in the coffee cups and ring the bell!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Their Honeymoon.

"They got married and went away in their new motor car." "Oh! Where did they spend their honeymoon?" "In the hospital!"

Too Much For Him.

"No," said the man who occasionally lets out an audible thought, "I can't figure it out." "Can't figure what out?" queried the party with the rubber habit. "Why all the women under sixty are not over thirty," answered the noisy thinker.—Chicago News.

The Limit.

Tess—Miss Giddy must be really seriously ill. She hasn't any appetite at all. Jess—Nonsense! A girl isn't always ill when she has no appetite. Tess—But she has no appetite even for ice cream and candy.—Philadelphia Press.

His Motto.

Well Digger—Now, we have found a mighty good vein of water, but there is nothing like being doubly safe and sure of the supply. Suppose we dig it, say, twenty feet deeper." Owner—No. I have always had for my motto, "Let well enough alone."—Judge.

Tried It.

Church—When you feel blue you want to go out and try some roller skating. Gotham—That's just what I did. "What was the result?" "I came home black and blue."—Yonkers Statesman.

Superior Wisdom.

"Mr. Raspem seems to be a most overbearing and self satisfied man." "Not always. You ought to see how humbly thankful he is when his chauffeur unbends and consents to tell him a little about the machine."—Washington Star.

Founts of Information.

"Who is the best informed woman in your city?" asked the visitor. "Mrs. Dressalot," replied the native. "Ah! Is she a college woman?" "No; but she patronizes every dressmaker in town."—Judge.

Bitter.

"I never was so happy before," said the new Benedict. "Marriage has made a different man of me." "I'm glad to hear it," said his rival, "for your wife's sake."—Boston Transcript.

A Punktown Hostelry And the Honest Man

WHEN the stranger with grass germs in his tresses was shown the last room back on the second floor of the Punktown hostelry and saw what sort of a stall he was to be bedded down in for the night, he bucked vigorously and said in the most offensive manner he could summon: "Look at that chair! Liable to fall down even if I hang my shirt on it. The wash pitcher is fatally cracked, and the bowl has a scallop as big as a summer squash. The carpet is full of holes and dirty, and so much quicksilver has been rubbed off the back of the looking glass that I look as if I had the smallpox. The cover on the washstand has been on there for two long, hard, busy, dirty years, and the bed looks like a swayback horse with a thin blanket over it. If I were to try to sleep on that bed I would arise in the morning looking like a waffle. The wall paper is off in large patches—in fact, it is off in a bunch. The ceiling is cracked, and a yard or so of plastering is liable to fall and smother me in the landslide at any moment. That table is really only a one night stand, and you couldn't write on it if you had two men standing and holding it."

By this time the porter was very tired and angry, so he cried out in his vexation: "That's right—kick, kick! But I'll bet a big dollar you're not used to any better than this at home." "Young man," said the stranger in Punktown, "your bet is begging for takers. Your proposition is too much of a cinch to bet on. Things at home are as bad as this, if not worse. But what does a man go away from home for if not for a change of scene? I hoped I would find something comfortable and clean and perhaps even elegant at a hotel." Moved to tears of compassion by reason of the man's honesty, the porter surreptitiously escorted him to Parlor A, where things were much better, because the wash pitcher had a shallow crack in it, and there was one upholstered chair.—Strickland W. Gillilan in Judge.

An Unreasonable Request.

Mrs. C. was ordering the day's lunch over the telephone. Brains were on her menu and she had tried a number of butchers without success. "Is that 266?" anxiously. "Yes." "Have you any brains?" "What?" "Have you any brains today?" "No, no, no!" came the testy reply. "Madam, you have made a mistake. This is Dr. Smith's telephone."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Significance of Wedding Presents.

"The wedding presents they received indicate that they must have a large number of very kind friends." "Not at all. Their wedding presents indicate that they have a lot of acquaintances, each of whom is anxious to exhibit greater lavishness than the others may afford."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Cool Proposal.

Tramp (who has just asked for a trifle)—Scuse me, ma'am, but if this 'ere copper says I've been beggin', you might tell 'im I ain't, and that I'm only your 'usband.—Bystander.

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.
