Gaston Gleanings.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

The lovely autumn days are here and we are enjoying the bright sunshine and cool mornings.

Our hearts go out in sympathy to you Mr. Editor in deep loss of your better half.

The fields are white with cotton, labor scarce, and the recent storm did much damage to the fleecy staple.

Our graded school at Athens opens up Monday, the 15th inst. Let all the children be on hand. Miss Lillie J. Fallow has been elected assistant.

One of our good friends and patrons has promised the carrier on R. F. D. No. 1 a big possum when he, the carrier, gets enough lard to cook 'em in. Don't wait for that friend Ben, but send 'em on, we will manage to cook 'em.

Make hay while the sun shines. But, we made it while it rained, and now are trying to save it while the sun shines.

On Saturday eve as the sun sank behind the western hills, and the hooting owl warbled out his dismal sounds there was a couple wending their way to a magistrate and were made man and wife. The eloping couple were Talmage Chavis and Miss Rachel Sharpe. Peace and happiness to them.

G. W. Sightler and family now occupies the Sightler building on the hill in our little town. We welcome them.

Miss Aileen Sightler, of Montgomery, Ala., has been visiting friends and relatives here for some time.

Several new patrons have arrived on the R. F. D. recently. Some day they may become voters and cooks.

Perry T. Fallow and wife have been sick for several days, but are up again under the treatment of Dr. W. T. Brooker.

Little Milo, the eldest son of Prof. J. V. Smith, fell out of the buggy recently the rear wheel passing over the left leg just above the knee, breaking it. Dr. G. R. Langford set the broken part and at this writing he is doing well.

C. S. Goodwin has purchased a fine piano.

Our R. F. D. carrier No. 2 is a jolly good fellow, but I fear we will lose him soon. There is a magnetic force on the northern extremity of his route with a tendency to cause him to delay and tarry. (?) Now, there is a something (?) at this end to cause him to fear (?) Coming in one evening he heard a sound not familiar to him. He thought it was a hyena escaped from John Robinson's circus, but on close inspection he learned that it was the sweet melodious sounds of a piano, whose keys were manipulated by the delicate touch of an expert musician.

The health of the Felix family is at par. Billy Felix.

Up-to-Date Goods.

Don't forget while you are looking up your dresses for the county and State fairs that Wm. Platt & Son, Columbia, have a beautiful line of goods, just the thing you are looking for. Their millinery is up-to-date and will please you both in looks and prices.

RAMON'S BROWNIE CALENDAR.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. Eliza B. Hook, nee Drafts, was born November 20, 1832, and departed this life June 25, 1906, aged 73 years, 7 months and 5 days.

She was married to S. Walter Hook, November 15, 1853. To them were born eleven children, six daughters and five sons. She leaves to mourn her departure nine children, fifty-two grandchildren, two great grandchildren, three brothers, two sisters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her death, her husband, two sons and twelve grandchildren having preceded her to the spirit land. In early life she connected herself with Cedar Grove Evangelical Lutheran church, Lexington, S. C. After her marriage she transferred her membership to Old Zion and later in life with Mt. Tabor, Brookland, S. C., of which congregation she was a faithful member at the time of her death.

She was a good woman and will be greatly missed by all and especially her children to whom she was devoted. She was universally beloved as generous, kind, honest and true, always had a smile and kind word for everyone. Thus another loving mother and good neighbor has gone to receive her reward.

Her funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. E. L. Lybrand, and her remains laid to rest in the family burying ground in the presence of an unusually large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Most consoling is the reflection that hers was the Christian hope.

"It is the hope—the Christian hope—That calms the troubled spirit, And bids him wait with patient heart For joys that saints inherit. A sun that sets, no, never; Blessed hope of the Christian soul, 'Tis a star that shines forever."

In Congressman A. F. Lever's district there are 93 rural routes in operation.
