ELEPHANT'S TUSK ENDED HIS LIFE.

Canvassman in Cole Brothers' Circus Killed—Supposed That His Play With Baby Elephant Angered Queen, Who Made Fatal Charge.

Columbia, October 10.—About 4:30 o'clock Gordon went into the menagerie tent and, although it was in violation of all rules, began to play with "Chief," the baby elephant about nine months old. The young animal knocked the man to the ground and before any one could reach him for assistance, Queen, the largest and leading elephant of the trained herd, had attacked him and driven her great ivory tusk deep into his right side and leg. Either of the wounds was serious but it was from the deep perforation of the abdomen that death occurred.

The baby elephant is an orphan and was bought by the show several months ago, but Queen became much attached to it soon after its arrival and the attachment has grown into a motherly devotion. They have been kept chained side by side and yesterday when she saw what she must have mistaken for an attack upon the smaller elephant she dashed to its assistance. Queen is not an animal of ugly temper, has never before shown such anger, and the circus employes were shocked to know of her fatal display of anger.

She is the center of the performing group and so far does her trainer trust, takes part in acts in which the animal could easily crush the life out of his body in a twinkling. He places his head in her great mouth, stands on her reclining body and as a climax to the act is taken up bodily in her powerful trunk and is borne out of the ring high above the heads of the spectators.

As quickly as possible the keepers and others went to the rescue of Gordon and took him away from the animals. An ambulance was summoned and he was taken immediately to the hospital. An operation was performed in hopes of saving his life, but he died about 7 o'clock. Gordon is said to be from Cincinnati, Ohio, while some say that he is from San Francisco. His body has been prepared for burial and as soon as his relatives can be communicated with will be sent to his former home for interment.—State.

Be Careful What You Say.

In speaking of a person's faults, Pray don't forget your own; Remember those with homes of glass Should never throw a stone. If we had nothing else to do Than talk of those who sin, 'Tis better we commence at home, And from that point begin.

We have no right to judge a man Until he's fairly tried; Should we not like his company, We know the world is wide. Some may have faults—who has no?— The old as well as young; Perhaps we may for ought we know, Have fifty to their one.

Then let us all, when we begin To slander friend or foe, Think of the harm one word may do To those we little know. Remember, curses sometimes, like Our chickens, roost at home. Don't speak of others' faults until You have none of your own.
