

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or floating particles indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

A Poor Organ.

Dam(s) the bile. That's what your liver does if it's torpid. Then the bile overflows into the blood—poisons your system, causing sick headache, biliousness, sallow skin, coated tongue, sick stomach, dizziness, fainting spells, etc. Ramon's treatment of Liver Pills and Tonic Pellets strengthens the liver and makes it do its own work. Prevents and cures these troubles. It aids—doesn't force. Entire treatment 25c, Derrick's Drug Store and C. E. Corley.

DON'T WANT LEVER TO ENTER SENATORIAL RACE.

Orangeburg is So Pleased With Him as Congressman She Wants Him to Remain Where He is.

Orangeburg, May 24.—Congressman A. Frank Lever of the seventh congressional district, who came here to confer with the business men with regard to securing a government appropriation for the purpose of making the Edisto river navigable, would not discuss the report that he would be a candidate for the United States senate.

Congressman Lever was in Orangeburg much of his time while secretary to the late Congressman Stokes, and has hosts of friends who are always glad to give him the glad hand.

The people of Orangeburg county have been much exercised over the report that Mr. Lever would not be a candidate for re-election, but would oppose Senator Latimer. The idea has not taken well here at all. Not because the people are opposed to sending him to the senate, but because they consider him of so much value as congressman that they don't want to give him up.

It would be hard to tell just all Congressman Lever has done for his constituents in this county since he was elected over an Orangeburg county man, but the hundreds of little things that never get into print have of themselves made him stronger year by year.

When he was first elected there were not more than fifteen R. F. D. routes in the county, while now the county is covered by a net work of them, and practically every farmer gets his mail every day.

Having gotten the county thoroughly equipped with the R. F. D. service, he has recently induced the postoffice department to give what is known as "county service." This means that the entire service in the county will be overhauled, routes changed and new ones instituted, service operating from the county seat to as great a degree as possible.

When this is done it is very probable that there will be a chief carrier in charge of the entire county, or this work will devolve on the postmaster at Orangeburg, who is already the practical head for the county.

City delivery will be instituted in Orangeburg June 1, and this, too, has been secured through the instrumentality of Mr. Lever.

That Orangeburg will get a federal building at the next session of congress is an assured fact, Mr. Lever having discussed the matter with the public building committee during the last session of congress and holds their promise to allow him one building in his district. Of course this is fixed to a certainty unless "Uncle Joe" Cannon should change the personnel of the committee greatly, but this is hardly probable.

In his work for the Congaree river during the last two or three terms Mr. Lever has benefited the people of the eastern part of the county, living near the Santee, and they are now reaping the benefits.

Having secured liberal appropriations for the Congaree, Mr. Lever turned his attention to the Edisto, secured an appropriation at the last session of congress for the purpose of making a survey, and at the next session hopes to secure a sufficient appropriation to secure a three-foot depth from Orangeburg to its mouth, thus opening up river navigation, putting Orangeburg on a footing with Columbia in this respect.

As has been said, the people realize that Mr. Lever is recognized as one of the most aggressive and strongest men in congress, and, too, that he has done far more for this district than any former congressman, hence they do not relish the prospect of his giving up his seat in a contest for the senate, and he was told so every hand by our citizens. Not because the people fear he can not be elected, for there is every reason to believe he could, and he would get more than nine-tenths of the votes of this county, but because they need him where he is.

Should Mr. Lever decide to enter the senatorial contest, Orangeburg will probably put Col. Thomas M. Raysor forward for congress.

It is not known just what Col. Raysor would say to this as he declined to enter the race for governor, though urged by friends from every section of the State last year, but it is thought that sufficient pressure could be brought to bear to make him enter the congressional race, in which case he would prove a most formidable candidate, still there is a universal desire that Congressman Lever succeed himself without opposition.—The State.

CATARRH and Catarrhal Headaches

are quickly relieved by Nosenal. It soothes the congested membranes, allays inflammations and thoroughly heals and cleanses. It keeps moist all the passages whose tendency is to thicken and become dry. Cures colds, throat troubles, hoarseness, hay fever, "stopped-up" nose, breathing through mouth while sleeping, offensive breath, etc. It is antiseptic and contains no chemicals or drugs having a narcotic effect, or that can cause the "drug habit." Derrick's Drug Store and C. E. Corley.

Old Fashion.

Old fashioned sincerity, old fashioned truthfulness, old fashioned morals, old fashioned integrity and the like have given away to the new fashioned standard of "The Dollar." The possession of the dollar is the aim of the day and by it the standard of our people is judged. And that is what the trouble is throughout the land. Formerly a man was valued for his personal worth. Now he is measured by the dollar rule. The majority of the people of the land are in a mad rush for money regardless in many instances of the means used to get it. With money now takes the place of good morals and high character.

Serial number 1908. It is the best of all.

Carriers Have Right Of Way.

The Postmaster General has issued an order or notice that all rural mail carriers have the right of way on all the country roads, and that all other carriages or conveyances must surrender that right of way to the rural carriers. That was the rule when the mails were carried in four-horse stage-coaches, and every one had to get out of the way when the mail came along. It is a very serious matter for any one to obstruct the rapid transportation of the United States mails. Get out of the road when the rural free delivery carrier comes along with Uncle Sam's mail!—R. F. D. News.

MY SANCTUM.

You can talk of pretty boudoirs and parlors superfluous. Whose glories are concealed in coverlets; You can prate of cozy corners, where you can lie supine; For luxuries like these I've no regrets. For there's a little sanctum which is very near the roof. Devoted to my literature and pen. Where from domestic troubles I can always keep aloof; I call it quite familiarly my den.

I know it is untidy, but it's very snug at that; It's dusty, and the curtains smell of smoke. I brook no interruption, allow no common chat. While the divine afflatus I invoke. The walls are hung with pictures which typify an art a cent— Quite equal to the usual mortal's ken. And when from care and bother I like to be apart I just retire into my little den.

It has no bars, although they say that I am like a bear. When I have turned the key inside the lock; There is no "open sesame;" somehow I never hear. However hard outsiders choose to knock. For they may chafe, and they may fret— I do not care a cent— And they may bless the selfish race of men. I have no use for friend or foe; I'm perfectly content; I'm dead to all the world when in my den. —La Touche Hancock in New York Press.

His Identifying Mark. Viscount Turnour, the Earl of Winterton's son, was being interviewed in New York about clothes. On this subject, however, the young man refused to talk.

"You," he said, "are the sixth reporter to talk clothes to me today. I think you reporters are too persistent. You give me no rest. You remind me of a friend of mine at Oxford who used to like to drink a mug of ale at the Miter. He was always very particular about having his own mug.

"At the Miter one evening he said to the barmaid: "A mug of Bass, Nellie, and be careful to draw it in my own pewter. Make no mistake."

"No fear of making a mistake about your pewter, sir," the barmaid answered. "I can tell it with ease."

"How so?" my friend asked.

"By the handle," said the barmaid. "It's always warm."—Washington Star.

Mother Love. "Look, Arthur! That is our baby." "How do you know?" "I recognize the back of our nurse." —Wahre Jacob.

The Law's Delay. Shortly after Congressman Maddox of Georgia had turned over part of his law practice to his son the young man came into the office with a flushed, triumphant face.

"Pap," he began, "you know that Wilkins case you've been trying for the last ten years?"

The congressman nodded. "Well," said the young man, "I've settled it!"

"Settled it?" ejaculated his father. "Settled it! Why, my boy, I gave you that case as an annuity!"—Woman's Home Companion.

Provoking. "John," said Mrs. Stubb after supper, "I wish you would put this picture in a good position on the wall."

"Oh, hang it!" blurted Mr. Stubb, who was reading up the baseball prospects for 1907.

Mrs. Stubb smiled sweetly. "How did you guess it, dear? That is just what I should have said in the first place—hang it!"—Detroit Tribune.

Points of Difference. "There's a great difference in autos." "In what way?"

"Well, I think my neighbor's $2,000 car is infinitely superior to the $4,000 car of the man farther down the street."

"In what way?" "My neighbor often takes me for a ride in his car."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wise Old Gentleman. "But, pop," said the astonished youth, "why in the world should you present me with a watch covered with rubber?"

"Why, my boy," replied the father, "I hear that you 'soak' your watches so often I wanted to make this one waterproof."—New York World.

Her Reasons. Elizabeth, aged four, had been chided for her naughtiness by her mother, who concluded her reproof by asking, "Why can't you be nice, like the little Smith girls?" Like a flash the little one came back with, "Well, their whole family is nicer than ours."—Motherhood.

Helpful Suggestion. "I can't decide," she said to the milliner. "I just don't know what to do about a hat. I'm of two minds about it."

"Then take two hats," suggested the milliner, "and please both minds."—Judge.
