Teachers' Institute Comes to a Close.

The Lexington County Teachers'Institute came to a close Friday after a successful term of two weeks.

On Thursday evening, from 6:30 to 8 o'clock, Miss Elizabeth Dominick delightfully entertained the teachers and a few invited guests on the school grounds of the Palmetto Collegiate Institute. First the guests were asked to participate in a historical and geographical contest in which Mr. Sam P. Roof won the highest prize, a beautiful vase. Next was a drawing contest illustrative of the "good old summer time." In this contest the first prize, a dainty apron, was won by Mr. Julian P. Meetze, the consolation was awarded to Dr. P. H. Shealy. All during the evening delicious and refreshing punch was served by Misses Lula Kaimer and Annie Meetze. Miss Dominick, who is always attractive, was especially so on this occasion, and she was delightful indeed.

The teachers all returned to their homes on Saturday. All Lexington enjoyed having them here, and we hope they will all return next summer.
