BEAUTIFUL WIDOW SHOT TO DEATH.

Murder and Suicide Shocks the Town of Seneca—The Details.

Because she had repeatedly refused to marry him Mr. J. F. Hinckle, a former policeman at Seneca, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon shot Mrs. Emma L. Anderson, a widow, proprietress of a boarding house, inflicting wounds from which she died six hours later, and then sent a bullet through his own brain dying a few minutes afterwards.

The tragedy was one of the most harrowing that has occurred in Oconee county in years. It took place in the dining room at Mrs. Anderson's boarding house, and brought to a tragic end a conversation between Hinckle and Mrs. Anderson, which followed the midday meal.

As soon as he had shot Mrs. Anderson Hinckle turned the weapon upon himself, firing point blank under his chin, the ball ranging upward and into the brain. Within a few minutes he had expired without having spoken to any one. Mrs. Anderson lingered until 8 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

Hinckle fired three shots at Mrs. Anderson, one of which was warded off by her, one breaking her arm and the third entering her body between the seventh and eighth ribs, and come out at the back, crashing through her body close to the heart. Mrs. Anderson ran from the room and was caught by some one as she fell, mortally wounded.

It is stated that the first shot fired was aimed at Mrs. Anderson's daughter, two of her children being in the room with her when she and Hinckle entered the room. Mr. Hinckle engaged Mrs. Anderson in a conversation under the pretext of wishing to pay his board bill. It is understood that he had been a persistent suitor for Mrs. Anderson's affections for some time, and that the tragedy was the culmination of her refusal to marry him.

For a number of years Hinckle was policeman at Seneca and was well thought of. For some time he and Mrs. Anderson had been quite intimate. She was a woman of beauty of face and figure and had many admirers. Jealousy and Mrs. Anderson's persistent refusal of him are generally thought to be the two prime factors that led to the murder and suicide. Hinckle was about 50 years of age, and a widower, and Mrs. Anderson, several years younger. Her husband has been dead about three years.

A Traveling Man's Experience

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garder, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suitcase and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost to Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." ### The Rules of Life.

Look not back on past mistakes,
Look ahead;
Bury blunders and bad breaks,
Look ahead;
Let the past in human eyes,
Give its lessons how to rise,
But not effort paralyze,
Look ahead.

Let no narrow view prevail,
But look out;
Under broadest colors sail,
And look out;

Generous and liberal be,
From all prejudices free,
Bide by justice's decree,
And look out.

Seek the highest to be won,
And look up;
Prove good thoughts by acts well done,
And look up.

Never downward be the gaze,
To the sky let all thoughts raise,
Onward journey thou through days,
And look up.
