Fork Township To Go.

Elsewhere we publish an article from The State in reference to the proposed annexation of a portion of Fork Township to Richland county. The article speaks for itself. These people have petitioned the governor for an election on the question, and it is likely that the governor will grant their request. We are at a loss to know why these good people want to leave the good old county of Lexington to join that of Richland. The State asserts that the maximum distance to Lexington court house from Fork township is 17 miles. This certainly must be an error, because it cannot possibly be more than 10 or 12 miles. Of course the farthest point might reach about 16 miles. Under the constitution a county line must not come nearer than eight miles to a court house. Should this scheme materialize there will still be a postion of the Fork in Lexington countythat portion lying south of the River

We have not yet figured on the amount of taxable property this would take away from Lexington nor can a correct estimate be made until after the survey has been made. It will require a two-third vote to carry the project through and we trust that, after due consideration, the voters will decide to remain with Lexington. These are good citizens and we would regret to lose them, but in any event they are to decide

The Lexington Dispatch the question and by their actions will

When we are better informed as to the exact territory proposed to be cut off, we shall have something more to say on the subject.

It is to be regretted that there has arisen such a muddle over the steele bridge matter. In another column we publish an interesting article from the Columbia State on the matter. We submit it to our readers for what it is worth. Personally, we know but very little about the charges-whether they are true or not is not for us to say. We hope that they are not. It seems most likely now that the whole matter will be aired, and when this is done we will see what we will see.

This bridge is a necessity and should be built. We understand that the supervisor intends building the bridge, but will make a thorough investigation as to the cost of the bridge, before paying the contract price of the old board-$18,500.

Further developments in the matter will be awaited with interest.

United States Senator E. D. Smith has appointed Mr. C. M. Galloway, the brilliant news and telegraph editor of The State, as his private secretary. Mr. Galloway has all the qualifications for the position and Mr. Smith could not have found a more suitable man for his secretary. While we rejoice in Mr. Galloway's success, we regret to lose him from the fraternity. He has been one of the prime factors in making The State what it is today—one of the best dailies in the country. Mr. Galloway will be succeeded as news editor of The State by Mr. William Banks, who is one of the most polished writers in the south. Good luck to you, Charlie!
