Edward Fielding Bradford.

Mr. Edward Fielding Bradford, eldest son of Mr. C. S. Bradford, of this place, died in Providence Hospital, Mobile, Ala., Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after a few days illness with pneumonia. His remains will reach here on the 10:18 a. m., train of the Southern Railway this morning and the funeral services will be from St. Stephen's Lutheran church at eleven o'clock tomorrow.

The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers: Sam P. Roof, Frank E. Dreher, Edwin G. Dreher, Samuel B. George, Alfred J. Fox, C. E. Leaphart.

The deceased was born in the city of Augusta, Ga., on the 5th of August, 1871. He began his business career at the age of 20 in the traffic department of the Central of Georgia Railroad, at Savannah, with which road he remained for several years. His promotion was rapid, and subsequently he held responsible positions in the same department of the Jacksonville & Southwestern Railroad, at Jacksonville, Fla.; with the Atlantic Coast Line, both at Savannah, Ga., and Wilmington, N. C.; with the Seaboard Air Line, at Portsmouth, Va., and at the time of his death was Chief Rate Clerk in the Traffic department of the Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City Railroad, in Mobile, Ala.

"Ned" Bradford, as he was familiarly known to everybody in Lexington, was one of the brightest of the bright, and possessed the happy faculty of making friends readily. Everybody was his friend. He was one of nature's noblemen in its truest sense—brave, gallant, generous to a fault, manly.

He is survived by his father, Mr. C. S. Bradford, and the following brothers and sisters: Mr. Hal Bradford, of Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. Jules Bradford, of New York, and Mrs. P. T. Brodie and Miss Mae Bradford, of Lexington, and Miss Helen Bradford, of Clemson.

Mr. J. G. Etheredge Meets Tragic Death.

Mr. J. G. Etheredge, of Columbia, who met such a tragic death while out driving with his daughter in the city of Sumter on Saturday afternoon, was formerly a resident of Batesburg and was well known throughout the county and State.

It is said that Mr. Etheredge's horse became frightened at the approach of a train, and having but one arm, Mr. Etheredge could not manage the animal, which ran against a public trough throwing Mr. Etheredge and his daughter out.

Mr. Etheredge married a Miss Etheredge, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tyre Etheredge, of Leesville, and she with a large family of children, survive.

Rev. T. S. Brown Has Captured Lexington.

The Rev. T. S. Brown who filled the pulpit in St. Stephen's Lutheran church on Sunday morning for the first time as pastor of the church, has captured Lexington completely and Lexington has captured Mr. Brown. Those who heard the beloved divine on Sunday were charmed and delighted with his forceful sermon. The minister took for his text a part of the first verse of the sixth chapter of Amos: "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion." "Activity" was the minister's theme, and he urged the members of his congregation to be active in all church affairs; that activity was necessary in religious as well as in business affairs. The discourse was couched in beautiful language and delivered in a masterful style.

In anticipation of the coming of Mr. Brown and his family the members of the congregation gathered at the parsonage on Monday evening and gave the new pastor a severe pounding. When they arrived on Tuesday they were surprised to find every thing in apple-pie order and ready for occupancy.
