Congressman Lever's Good Work.

News and Courier.
To the Editor of the Sunday News: I am writing to emphasize the fact that the farmers of the whole country, and South Carolina in particular, owe to Congressman Lever for his efforts in having potash salts put on the free list a debt of gratitude which they should endeavor to pay by every means in their power; not only by personal expressions of their appreciations, but by giving him continued support when he asks for it. Putting potash on the free list will save to this State alone not less than $250,000 to $300,000 per year, or $3,000,000 in ten years, and this enormous saving to the farmers has been secured by the splendid efforts of Mr. Lever almost alone. I cast no reflections on our other Congressmen; no doubt they helped him much, but Mr. Lever's winning personalities and his evident high purposes win for him especially an earnest consideration from "the powers that be."

ALL UNSTRUNG.

Many Lexington People Suffer From Nervous Troubles and Don't Know Why.

Thousands of cases of kidney trouble show few outward symptoms except nervousness, depression, languor, irritability and an inclination to worry over trifles. It is generally due to the poisonous action of uric acid on blood and nerves, and can't be cured except by curing the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure these ills by curing the kidneys. Lexington women are learning it.

W. P. Metts, of New Brookland near Lexington, S. C., says: "I suffered severely at times from attacks of kidney trouble. Severe pains caught me in the small of my back and were so severe that I was unable to get about for days. The kidney secretions were very irregular in passage and often a retention existed. I finally heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, procured them at the Kaufmann Drug Co., and since using them I am free from my former trouble. I now feel better in every way and heartily endorse Doan's Kidney Pills to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Honesty in Jewelry

"If it came from Sentz's, you know it's all right," is what one of our customers remarked to another the other day.

When you buy Jewelry, you generally have to take the "Jeweler's word for it" whether it is good or not.

That's just where our reputation for honesty and fair dealing counts.

And furthermore, we will always give you your money back and ask no questions any time you are dissatisfied with a purchase.

Special attention to mail orders.

Quite Sufficient.

A child-loving man was on his way to Denver to transact some important business. During the afternoon he noticed, in the opposite section of the Pullman a sweet-faced, tired-looking woman, traveling with four small children. Feeling sorry for the mother he soon made friends with the little ones.

Early the next morning he heard their eager questions behind the curtains of the berths, and the patient "yes, dear," of the mother as she tried to dress them, and looking out, he saw small white feet protruding beyond the opposite curtain. Reaching across the aisle he took hold of the large toe and began to recite: "This little pig went to market, This little pig stayed at home, This little pig had a piece of roast beef, This little pig had none, This little pig cried 'wee-wee' all the way home."

"How is that?" inquired the eager man. Then the foot was suddenly withdrawn, and a cold, quiet voice said: "I should think it was quite sufficient."—Ladies Home Journal.

Dreamed He Was In Paradise.

Father Vaughan, of London, Found Few Millionaires There.

A dispatch from London to the New York American says: Father Bernard Vaughan, speaking in the East End, related the following dream, which he said he had one night recently:

"I thought that I had died, and after I had been in Purgatory for no short time I received a visit from my guardian angel, who brought me the good news that the cleansing fires had done their work, and that now I might follow him and pass out of the King's prison house. At the great door my angel pointed to a mean-looking path that led up at a great height to a gate, which in the distance looked like a flame of gold.

"Before lifting his wings, my guardian bade me be of good heart, for now there was nothing to keep me from the Golden Gate. Light-hearted and brimful of joy and expectation, with elastic step, I flew rather than walked up the steep incline until I found myself standing before the gate of Paradise.

"Wildly impatient to cross the threshold I rang the great silver bell, which was answered by blessed Peter himself. The key-bearer, with what I thought a tinge of sadness on his bright countenance, looked me in the face, saying: 'I am very sorry, dear friend, but we cannot let you in to-day.'

"And why, pray, I asked, 'not to-day? I do not think I could live till to-morrow, I am simply agonizing to get in.'

"Well, replied the saint, we are expecting a millionaire from London to-day, so I must emphasize the occasion by letting no one else in on the same day."

"What! I exclaimed. 'You do not mean to say you act up here as they do below, and make money a test, and give millionaires the first place?'

"No, no, my son," replied St Peter, 'I am not making much of the millionaire on account of his wealth, but because we so rarely see one up here. Usually they go down in the opposite direction, and lose their souls like Dives, of whom you have so often spoken. But the rich man coming here to-day is one who not only left his money to the poor after his death, but even in his lifetime gave a living wage to all in his employment. Hence you see I want, as I said to emphasize this singularly rare sight of the rich man deserving to pass from earth straight to Heaven.'

"Having heard this explanation I answered, 'Tis well, 'tis well,' and sat consoling myself as best I could on the doorstep. Presently, which to me seemed a thousand years, so slowly passed the time. I saw coming toward me a poor brother man whom I recognized as one who had been in the employ of the millionaire.

"Pat," said I to him, 'you need not ring the bell, for no one will be let in to-day.' Sure, said Pat, 'if I only crow loud enough and long enough like a cock, I'll shame St Peter to letting me in.'

"No, don't do that," I replied, 'but as your prayers have so much helped the salvation of your millionaire master, just spring on my back as you are and we'll both get in.'

"Accordingly he sprang upon my back and once more I stood before the gate and rang the bell right merrily. At once it was opened, St Peter asking, 'What is this?' to which I replied, 'The millionaire's advance luggage.'

"Pass through at once," said the saint, but the blaze of light that suddenly flashed across my eyes woke me up."

Father Vaughan said that the lesson which the dream taught him was that there was no investment for money like that of helping the needy and poor. Not only were they our advance luggage for Heaven, but often they secured for those who otherwise might never get there at all a through ticket.
