Fifteen Thousand Copies.

Washington, May 31.—Congressman A. F. Lever's desk in his office is literally filled with cans of beans, beets, squash, etc., world without end. This comes of the fact that he is a member of the committee of agriculture and is the chief champion of a strict enforcement of the Pure Food and Drugs Law and of the idea that preserving powders and the like are unnecessary in the canning business. The department of agriculture has just issued a bulletin giving a very simple method by which all fruits and vegetables may be canned in the farm home and kept through winter and this is to be done without the use of preservatives. The cans and jars on Mr. Lever's desk represent the efforts of the department of agriculture to convince him that its method is not only simple but effective. He is thoroughly convinced. The process for preserving is the work of Frank Breazale, an Anderson boy and a graduate of Clemson College, who has been in the department of agriculture for several years and who has made good. Breazale is a confirmed dyspeptic—as thin and cadaverous in appearance as the Congressman whom he is interesting in his work. He is a vegetarian as much so as Senator La Follette who is also greatly interested in his process. It is because of the fact that he is a vegetarian that he has fallen upon this plan of preserving fruits and vegetables.

The only trick in it is a glass jar and an ordinary tin can or clothes boiler. Corn, English peas, string beans, okra, in fact all vegetables may be kept with their original color and flavor. The method consists in steaming the fruit or vegetables in a closed vessel for one hour each on three successive days, this completely sterilizing it, killing all germs and other things. The cause of decomposition is a germ or bacteria and as soon as these are destroyed, the vegetable will keep indefinitely. The adoption of this method not only leaves no excuse for the use of preserving powders, against which Mr. Lever and Dr. Wiley have fought so hard during the recent session of Congress and which are undoubtedly harmful in their effects upon infants and invalids and are used to cover up unsanitary and unclean methods and cheap and rotten materials, but it enables the housewife to make use of every vegetable raised in her garden and of all the fruit from her orchard and the expense is practically nothing.

The department has issued a bulletin, being simple in its get-up and these may be had by applying to members of Congress. It is Farmer's Bulletin No. 358.

Mr. Lever has been allotted 15,000 of these and any one who is interested in his crusade for pure food, may have one by writing him a postal card asking for it.

At The Altar.

"Will you have this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?" "That's what I vowed I would." "Will you love, honor and obey her?" "Ain't you got that switched around, parson?" said the bridegroom. "John!" said the bride-elect, "don't you reckon the parson knows his business? Answer the question." "Yes, sir," said the bridegroom, meekly, "I reckon I'll have to." —Atlanta Constitution.

Press Association Meeting.

Col. E. H. Aull, of Newberry, president of the State Press Association, who has been attending the Pythian meeting, is very enthusiastic over the coming meeting of the Press Association in Greenville, and said yesterday that all who attended the meeting would have a most enjoyable time. The headquarters of the Association will be in the Hotel Otteray, Greenville's new hostelry, and adjoining the hotel is the Poinsett Social Club, which was named after a Charleston man. The hotel will be opened on June 1 and great preparations will be made to entertain the members of the Association on July 6, 7 and 8.

Announcements of the details of the meeting and also the programme will be announced later. A trip to Tallulah Falls and a day in Atlanta, Ga., will follow. It is expected that the meeting will be very largely attended and will prove as successful as any of the former meetings of the Association.—News and Courier, 27th.

Jealous Husband Slain.

Raleigh, N. C., May 28.—A sensational killing occurred last Sunday near Bellamy's Mill, in Halifax county. Levy Marriott was the victim, and Charles Flannigan is charged with having fired the shot that caused his death. Flannigan, according to the report received here, had gone to Marriott's home where part of the morning was spent. Flannigan went for a drive with Mrs. Marriott and upon his return was cursed by Marriott. Flannigan bore the cursing, but when Marriott told him he must leave the house, drew a revolver and fired, killing Marriott instantly.

Nothing made is as good as DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for any ailments of the kidney or bladder, which always result in weak back, backache, rheumatic pains, rheumatism, and urinary disorders. Weston, Ocean-to-Ocean Walker

Said recently: "When you feel down and out, feel there is no use living, just take your bad thoughts with you and walk them off. Before you have walked a mile things will look rosier. Just try it. Have you noticed the increase in walking of late in every community? Many attribute it to the comfort which Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, gives to the millions now using it. As Weston has said, 'It has real merit.'"

Death of Mr. Tom Oliver.

Mr. Tom Oliver, one of Calhoun's oldest citizens, died at his home in the Andrew Chapel neighborhood on Friday morning, in his 83rd year. He had been quite feeble for about a year, but was only confined to his home for the past five or six months. He was a member of the Andrew Chapel church. His pastor conducted the burial services. Mr. Oliver was a Mason and that order laid his body to rest with Masonic honors in the family burying grounds at his old home on Saturday.—Calhoun Advance.

A Song.

I am as weary as a child That weeps upon its mother's breast For joy of comforting. But I Have no such place to rest. I am as weary as a bird Blown by wild winds far out to sea, When it regains its nest. But, oh, There waits no nest for me. What think you may sustain the bird That finds no housing after flight, And what the little child console, Who weeps alone at night?

The reason hardly and men in the world can save money is because they don't have to and married men can't.

People who are married act as if it was against the law for either one of them over to admit that the other was right anything.
