QUALITY SHOES!

You have probably bought many things that looked good, that cost a good price, but under the rugged test of service soon proved themselves worthless.

It might have been shoes that soon run over at the sides, caps broke down, heels gave way, sewing gave out and soles were plated.

To guard against these things, pecially in footwear, and be confident of getting the best quality footwear your money can buy, take advantage of the large and choice stock constantly available for making pleasing selections at our store.

For the Heartbroken Mother.

BE COMFORTED.

Weep not, though thy afflictions come
 In terror's dreaded form;
 Trust Him whose step the whirlwind
 hides,
 Whose ways are in the storm.

"Be comforted," thy precious one
 He kindly called away,
 To garner with his treasures safe
 From evil's hasting day.

How sweet the rest in Jesus' care;
 Safe He the dust doth keep;
 Until the resurrection morn,
 "He giveth His beloved sleep."

Mourn not; have comfort in this thought:
 He doeth all things well!
 And past the sorrows of this life
 Soon we shall safely dwell.

Where tears are wiped from every eye
 By that dear pierced hand,
 Where evermore all shall rejoice,
 In all that happy land.

There thou wilt share a blest reward
 For all thy love and care;
 Thine own returned—from death restored,
 Joyful, immortal, fair.
 "Be comforted," thou'lt meet thine
 own
 And sing where comes no harm,
 Of Him who stills the tempest's power
 And calms to rest the storm!
 Of Him whose mighty rest and power
 Shall robe the earth anew;
 Efface the ruin sin hath made,
 And Eden bring to view.

Since looking for such glorious things,
 May waves of grief be still;
 Thy dearest friend, the King of Kings
 Most blessed is His will.

Dear mother, look up; lift up your bowed head; I, too, have drunk of that "bitter cup," and can know the heartrending pangs of seeing the casket close from view the sweet little face forever in this world. But then Jesus says: "In my Father's house are many mansions," and He has one there for you and has only gathered your little one to transplant it in the mansion "just beyond," only a little way over Home. she has found "shelter" before the storms of life came upon her, and will there await your home-coming. So "be comforted," and live for those dear little ones who are left to you. A MOTHER.

Honesty in Jewelry

"If it came from Sentz's, you know it's all right," is what one of our customers remarked to another the other day.

When you buy Jewelry, you generally have to take the "Jeweler's word for it" whether it is good or not.

That's just where our reputation for honesty and fair dealing counts.

And furthermore, we will always give you your money back and ask no questions any time you are dissatisfied with a purchase.

Special attention to mail orders.

THAT GAME OF QUILTS.

I HEV seen them city fellers playin' golf out on the links.
 An' it looked like you could larn the game in four an' twenty winks.
 An' I've seen the gals in sweaters playin' tennis on the lawn
 An' others playin' croquet till their slowness made you yawn.
 In fact, game baseball seems to me to be quite tame
 When compared with one excitin' an' real good old fashioned game Played by Squire Riggsby an' perhaps a dozen more—
 Yes, a game of quilts with horseshoes in the back of Peter's store!

When the first warm wind of springtime came a-sighin' through the grove
 An' it got too warm for checkers in the back of Peter's store
 Pegleg Smith an' Grandpap Saunders hung their coats up in a tree.
 Banked the clay an' druv the pegs home just as true as they could be.
 Searched aroun' the whole blamed county for old horseshoes, rusty, red—
 Even stole of Peter's horseshoe that was hangin' overhead—
 Started playin' after dinner, with Pap Spruce sayin' keepin' score.
 In a game of quilts with horseshoes in the back of Peter's store.

Through the spring an' through the summer till the late fall came aroun'
 An' the frost was on the pumpkin an' the snow was on the groun'
 You could find the same old codgers pitchin' horseshoes every day, Controversin' an' contestin' every game that they would play.
 Squire Cole would fume an' argue till his face was like a beet.
 An' his claims would get the others' feelin's up to fever heat.
 Till you'd think there'd be a riot, but 'twas fun an' nothin' more
 In that game of quilts with horseshoes in the back of Peter's store.
 —Victor A. Hermann in Judge.

Drug Clerk Kills Himself.
 Standing before a mirror in his room in his home at Hyatt's Park, Columbia, Louis P. Arndt, aged 25, took his life late Tuesday by sending a bullet crashing through his brain. Ill health and despondency are given as the cause for the act. He was well known in Columbia, having been employed by a local drug store as a drug clerk. He is survived by a mother, brother and sister. His uncle, Mr. P. Mallory, committed suicide four years ago by choking himself.
