The Weather.

Us farmers in the country, as the seasons go and come, Is purty much like other folks—we're apt to grumble some! The thaw's set in too suddent; er the frost's stayed in the soil Too long to give the wheat a chance, and crops is bound to spoil. The weather's eether too mild, er too outrageous rough, Ane altogether too much rain, er not half rain enough!

Now what I'd like and what you'd like is plyne enuff to see: It's jest to have old Providence drop round on you and me And ast us what our views is first, re-garin' shine er rain, And post 'em when to shet er off, er let her on again! And yet I'd ruther, after all—consider other chores I got on hand, a-tendin' both to my affares and yours— Id ruther miss the blame I'd git a-ruling things up there, And spend my extry time in praise and gratitude and prayer. —James Whitcomb Riley.

Obituary.

Died in the eighty-fifth year of her age, Mrs. Mary Taylor, who was a daughter of Henry Miller, and about 1850, married Henry Wingard and moved to Arkansas, who there soon died, leaving her with one child. She came back here and after this married Amos Taylor, who in November, 1861, died at Coosawhatchie, S. C., leaving her a widow again with three children. She was a faithful member of the Baptist church for many years and finely joined the M. E. church, at Bolling Springs and remained a faithful member until death, when she was buried at her church, surrounded by many sorrowing relatives and friends who gave evidence of her being a good woman. Rest mother, thy work is done.

The textile plants of the State are desirous that the farmers discard the short staple for the long staple cotton. Commissioner Watson and Ira W. Williams, State agent for the United States farm demonstration work in this State, have been urging for some time the growth of the long staple and are using every means of interesting the farmers.
