Entered at the Post Office at Lexington,
S. C., as second class matter.

CIRCULATION 2,300.

The day is not far off when Lexington will be filled with Columbia folk who will build homes here.

"Politicians gets their innings when they can stir up antagonism among the people, the only way to keep a good government is to keep in a good temper and a charitable frame of mind toward your neighbor."

Keep an eye on John L. McLaughlin. He will yet again land in the United States Senate as Senator from South Carolina. He is a good, clear statesman, broad minded and clear-headed. The state needs the services of such a man and the State will demand that service sooner or later.

Isn't the proper name of Main street, Columbia "Richardson street?" so named for John Peter Richardson, one of the early Governors of the State when Columbia was in the woods. Our recollection is that the street received its name of Main only through the courtesy of custom. A reference to the archives of the city will show, we believe, that we are correct.

An exchange truthfully remarks: "The man who excuses himself to promote by money or time some wise project for the improvement of his home town is one of that large class whose indifference and selfishness have been the means of killing the prosperity of many a place. When one considers the interests of his home town he will not attempt to shirk responsibilities or refuse to lend a helping hand, but will do what is fair and sensible to make it a more prosperous place and a better place in which to live."

Compulsory Education.

We see it stated that the gentleman from Cherokee proposes to introduce in the Senate a compulsory educational bill and proposes to use his best efforts to have it enacted into law. We trust that his efforts will be unsuccessful and that the Legislature will reject the measure, for, while in the abstract it bears upon its face the mark of being a good thing, yet in the concrete it has all the elements of being the most pernicious proposition laid before the Legislature in years.

It would, indeed, be a good thing if every white child within the borders of the State could receive the benefits of a common school education at least. The spirit of the times demands this of the parent, and if he fails to see that the child does not receive the advantages of the common schools provided by the public he does an irreparable injury to the child and criminally neglects an important duty that he owes the State and society, for both of these recognize the truism that ignorance is the hot bed of vice and corruption and lowers the standard of citizenship and both are straining all their energies to place within the reach of every child the means of acquiring a good practical education.

We favor the education of the masses in every conceivable way except on, and that one is compulsory education. We oppose this plan because we believe the theory impractical and an obstacle to our Republican institutions. But our chief objection to the proposed law arises from the fact that the negro is in the way as he is in nearly every measure having for its object the uplifting of the white race and the elevation of its standards. The negro stands as a menace to Anglo-Saxon civilization. When the law undertakes to enact into law measures which would possibly be of great benefit to the white race the negro bobs serenely up and asks to share the benefits no matter whether they are suitable to his environment or not. Then if we had a law upon the statute books compelling the children of the State between certain ages to attend school a given number of months during the year, and making it incumbent upon the parents to see that they do so, then, not only the white children of the State, but the negro children also will have to attend school for under the Constitution of the United States we cannot make a law which applies alone to the white race and another law made especially for the government of the negro race alone. We cannot under the law make laws of one and another kind.

Therefore, we believe that a law would be enacted which would be of no benefit to the white race and an obstacle to the negro race.

work in other fields of industry where his is useful and where "book learning" is not essential for the faithful and satisfactory performance of his duties and occupy a place in which nature has specially created and qualified him by training, experience and ambition to fill. Hence the enactment of a compulsory educational law would disrupt farm work, destroy the usefulness of a good laborer and prove harmful to the negro himself.

The Recitals.

A very large audience attended the musical recital of Miss May Lois Boozer class and Miss Ruth Efrid's expression class in the High School auditorium last Friday evening and the members of the two classes did honor to themselves and their gifted and painstaking instructresses. The audience was highly delighted with the evenings entertainment and made known their appreciation by a liberal applause throughout the programme. Both Misses Boozer and Efrid are to be congratulated on having brought their classes to such a high state of proficiency. The following is the evening's programme.

After the recitals were over delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of the school improvement society and quite a neat little sum was added to the treasury of the society. And thus ended one of the most delightful and enjoyable entertainments of the season.

GOOD ROADS BILL

Swanson Presents Measure for $25,000,000 Appropriation.

WOULD GREATLY ASSIST THE STATES.

Federal Fund Would be Divided Ratio Among the Several States Which Appropriate Money.

Special to the State.
Washington, Jan. 7.—What is probably the most comprehensive good roads bill ever introduced in congress was filed here today by Senator Swanson of Virginia. It is provided that there shall be appropriated $25,000,000. Upon the application to the director of good roads of the department of agriculture by the legislature of any State or other organization authorized to act, requesting national aid in the improvement of any public road, post road or rural delivery route, and upon showing that the State or other organization is prepared to pay half the expenses of proposed improvement or maintenance, and after the director has satisfied himself that all necessary requirements have been met, bids shall be called for an opened if the amount to be expended exceeds $5,000. The total amount appropriated, $25,000,000, shall be divided half in the ratio which the State shall bear to the total population of the United States, as shown by the last census, and the remaining one-half among the States in the ratio which the mileage of star routes and rural delivery routes of the United States as shown by the records of the postoffice department for July 1 preceding such distribution. Not less than $100,000 would go to each State.

Coughs and Colds

You could not please us better than to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis. Thousands of families always keep it in the house. The approval of their physician and the experience of many years have given them great confidence in this standard cough medicine. Sold for seventy years.

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver.

The Earliest Easter.
Easter Sunday will fall on March 23 this year—the very earliest date upon which it can fall, in any circumstances.
Easter is reckoned as the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21.
The first full moon after March 21 will occur this year on March 22.
Easter will therefore come this year on March 23— which is Sunday, and the very next day after the moon falls.
It could not possibly occur earlier.
