FROM ALL OVER THE STATE

Latest News of General Interest That Has Been Collected From Many Towns and Counties.

Lexington.—The annual meeting of the joint conference of the Tennessee and South Carolina Lutheran synods is now being held at St. John's church, about nine miles above Lexington.

Washington.—President Wilson named H. P. Tindall to be postmaster at North. Ella A. Arnsdorff has also been named at Salkehatchie, Colleton county, this being a new office.

Columbia.—Governor Cole L. Bleas opened his campaign for the United States senate for the seat now held by Senator E. D. Smith when he made a labor day address to the people of that section of Aiken county.

Greenville.—Jesse B. Walker of Greenville, member of the local military company, is making a fine record at Camp Perry, in competition with the best riflemen in the world. His record so far at Camp Perry gives him a standing of seventh in the list.

Columbia.—That several meat dealers of Columbia have their pens and places of business in excellent shape, while improvements are needed in others, was the statement made by Commissioner Watson, following receipt by him of a report from John W. Douglas, inspector under the pure food and drug act.

Greenville.—The new city directory just issued gives Greenville a population of 33,000. This includes the villages of Brandon, Camperdown, Carolina, Poe, Woodside, Vardry, Monaghan, Duncan and Westervelt, none of them being over two miles from the court house, though several are outside the city limits.

Spartanburg.—Armstrong Mills, a negro laborer, was shot and seriously wounded by James Alley, also a negro, at a railroad construction camp near the city several days ago. Alley was arrested and confessed to the shooting. Mills, it is said, was caught picking the pockets of sleeping negroes at the construction camp and was shot when he fled.

Columbia.—That Judge H. A. M. Smith, of Charleston, is no longer a member of the state historical commission by virtue of the constitutional provision against a two-office tenure, but that Mr. B. Frank Kelley, of Bishopville, is the legal member, is a decision rendered by the office of the Attorney General in a letter to Mr. Kelley.

Spartanburg.—Charles Tinsley, proprietor of a restaurant on North Church street, was convicted of selling intoxicating beverages and directed to pay a fine of $100 or serve 30 days, by the recorder. Testimony was given against him by J. M. Mitchell and B. B. Ballard, detectives employed by Moss P. Hayes, chief of police.

Greenville.—Commissioner of Health C. E. Smith announced that the local Board of Health had made arrangements to distribute free in this city the typhoid serum, and he urges as many people as possible to take the treatment so as to be immune from typhoid fever. There have been few cases here this summer, and the commissioner wishes this record to be sustained.

Columbia.—"I find that cotton anthracnose is making its appearance in a great many localities of the state and in some cases is causing very serious loss," says H. W. Barre, pathologist of Clemson college, in a letter received in Columbia several days ago. Mr. Barre has gone to Florence on official business. According to Prof. Barre, announcement will be made at an early date as to the appointment of an expert to make investigation of plant diseases in Beaufort county.

Columbia.—Derailing three box cars, and smashing their ends, freight train 95, southbound, and a switching train, collided in the yards of the Seaboard Air Line railway, at the corner of Hampton and Lincoln streets. Engineer Robinson of train 95 was bruised by a jump from his engine. As train 95 rounded the curve and entered the "cut," which extends from Taylor street to Lady street, it met the yard train, with box cars preceding the engine, and the two trains smashed together.

Gaffney.—The Daniel Morgan chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution made the statement recently that the local chapter would shortly let the contract for the installation of a modern sanitary drinking fountain at the Central graded school here.

Washington.—Can a railroad company lawfully file a mileage which does not exist and charge for it? This is a question which S. Lipman of Ridgeland asks in a petition filed with the interstate commerce commission against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company.

St. Matthews.—Everybody is in good humor over the cotton prices here. About 750 bales of new cotton have been marketed, 67 of which were sold in one day, and the buyers bid with a zest which gives hope to the burdened heart of the producer. The price ranged from 11.75 to 11.85.

Elmore.—Consolidation of the Bank of Elmore and the People's Bank, both of this town, was effected here at a joint meeting of the stockholders of both institutions. The consolidated bank will be known as the Bank of Elmore and will have a capital stock of $100,000.

Letter From Florida.

Wildwood, Fla., August 30.—Now that the dispensary election is over, I will make an effort to tell the people something more about Florida. First of all, will say the people of Lexington county are awakening to their needs by reestablishing the dispensary. Senator Sharpe was right in saying that all your revenue has been going to other counties. Less blind tiger whiskey will be sold when there is a place from which the people can get whiskey when they need it. Less criminal cases will come before your courts and your county will get the revenue to aid in the construction of good roads. I stand for sobriety, but when liquor will help the poor taxpayer, let it help him. If those who oppose it will get out of the shade and earn their living by hard work, like the farmers do, they will find out how much benefit is derived from the legal sale of liquor. Things are moving along smoothly down here. The farmers are beginning to prepare their land for fall planting, such as cabbage and other fall crops. Will close with best regards to all. J. A. H.

Do You Fear Consumption?

No matter how chronic your cough or how severe your throat or lung ailment is, Dr. King's New Discovery will surely help you; it may save your life. Your money refunded if it fails to benefit you. The best home remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed by The Harmon Drug Co. adv.

Anderson Intelligencer Sold.

Anderson, Aug. 28.—The Anderson Intelligencer, one of the oldest semi-weekly papers in the State, has been sold to a syndicate of local people and the transfer will be made on September 1. The idea has been in progress for several days. The price has not been made public, but it is understood on good authority that it is between $15,000 and $20,000.

The Intelligencer has had a wide circulation and has been a good paying proposition. The editor and proprietor, V. B. Cheshire, says he has made no definite plans for the future, but is considering going into politics and may be a candidate for Congress or Lieutenant Governor.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by All Dealers. adv.

Unfinished.

O' Master Day, behold you setting sun
Emblazon all the tinted west with gold,
In whose rich glow thy ending is foretold
While I am helpless, with my tasks undone!
These weary hands have labored soon and late
But, Master, thou hast sped on fleetest wing;
There was so little time to pray and sing,
So much undone, wilt thou not for me wait?
Here is my flute untouched, but in my heart
The melody awaits, which I must try,
Hold yonder sun, within the gold-set sky
That I may sing this song before we part.

MR. DOLBY IMPOSED ON WHY HE BROKE A SELFISH RESOLUTION.

Had Resolved to Play Part of Hog on a Crowded Street Car, Until Woman With Borrowed Baby Appeared.

Dolby likes babies. That is why he gave his seat to the good-looking young woman in the triangular brown hat. She carried a baby. If she had not been so incumbered she would have been condemned to strap hanging, so far as Dolby was concerned, for he vowed at the beginning of the trip that he was going to play the hog.

"I'm dead tired," he said to Mr. Bowler. "Thank heaven, I've found a seat. I am going to stick to it, too. Nothing short of an accident or a woman with a baby can rout me out till I get home."

Bowler said "Humph," as did several other passengers who overheard Dolby's selfish resolution. The young woman in the brown hat stood within hearing distance as Dolby thus declared himself, but she did not say "Humph." She merely thought it. Presently she edged down the car until she stood directly in front of Dolby. About that time the baby began to show off. He kicked at Dolby's hat, first with the left foot and then with the right, and then with both feet simultaneously, and said, "Oo-oo-oo," very plaintively.

Dolby looked up and met the baby's eye. The youngster's gaze embarrassed his somewhat, so he allowed his eyes to travel a little higher. That time he encountered an appealing glance from the young woman. Dolby became still more embarrassed; he sat still a few seconds longer.

"Madam," he said, "will you have this seat?"
"Thank you," sighed the young woman. "You are very kind."

It really was not worth while to tell Dolby that. He already had an exaggerated notion of his own magnanimity, so, to even things up, he retired to the back platform and picked a quarrel with the conductor. When he got tired of that he stepped inside the car again. Directly in front of him, but under different guardianship, sat the baby that had so ruthlessly assaulted the rim of his hat a few minutes before.

"Oo-oo-oo," cooed the baby.
"Hello," said Dolby. "Aren't you the kid that took liberties with my headgear a little while ago? How did you get down to this end of the car?"

The baby's reply was not exactly intelligible, so his mother supplemented it with a more lucid explanation.

"He belongs here," she said. "The lady sent him back. She just borrowed him for a few minutes."

With one quick glance Dolby retreated to the platform, and there he stayed.

Typhoid Unknown To The Army.
Washington.—The high degree of health maintained at the army maneuver camps at Texas City, where 12,000 men have been under tents for the past six months, has convinced the army medical officers that there will be no repetition of the "sick camps" which marked Spanish war days. It was pointed out at the surgeon general's office that in the six months since the mobilization of the troops, there has been no case of typhoid fever among the men.

Hands Out 32 Plums Per Day.
Washington.—In the 176 days, including Sundays and holidays, since Postmaster General Burleson assumed the duties of his office, he, among other things, has appointed 5,765 postmasters. This makes his average something over 32 a day. Of the 5,765 number 2,293 were postmaster positions, who receive in excess of $1,000 a year salary and whose appointments must be confirmed by the senate.
