

District court, or District Judge, shall go to the court of Appeals, the appellant paying, in cash, two dollars for the report, which shall go to the District Fund. No order of any court or Judge in this State, shall require printing by a party to a suit of any report, brief or other paper connected with appeals.

XXXVII. The various Boards of commissioners for the District, instead of the reports heretofore made to the Superior court of Law, shall, on the first day of the first quarterly sitting of the District court, in each year, make such reports to the District court. The District Judge shall, himself, examine these reports carefully, so that they contain a full statement of transactions for the year preceding, as well as a correct account of receipts and expenditures, and point out errors and omissions. He may also refer them to the Grand Jury, in his court, and shall make each order, in reference to them, as he may think likely to secure in future accurate conformity to law.

XXXVIII. In case of the vacancy of the office of a District Judge, by death, resignation or otherwise, the Governor shall immediately appoint a successor, who shall continue in office until a Judge shall be elected by the Legislature, and shall take the oaths of office. The District Judge, during his continuance in office, shall hold no other office of profit or trust in this State, or the United States.

XXXIX. In all process and pleadings in the District court, the largest liberty of amendment, consistent with fairness, shall be allowed. Indictments shall be required to contain only so much as will give to the accused reasonable information of the charge against which he is to defend himself; substance, and not form, shall be looked to; and technical requirements shall not be permitted to hinder or delay the administration of justice.

XL. The Judges of the court of Appeals shall, from time to time, make rules for the orderly and uniform transaction of business and conduct of cases in the several District courts of the State, and shall prescribe forms short and simple for the conduct of business, and for the assistance of officers and others connected with these courts.

XLII. The fees of officers for all services which are required by this Act, or either of the other Acts mentioned in the "Act preliminary to the legislation induced by the emancipation of Slaves," and for which no special provision is made in any of these Acts, shall be the same as now prescribed by law for like services, except as is hereinafter provided.

XLIII. The Attorney-General, Solicitor, Deputy of either or other District Attorney, shall have: For convicting each offender in the District Court of a capital crime.....$15.00 For convicting each offender of a felony.....$10.00 For convicting each offender of a misdemeanor.....$5.00 (Misdemeanors to be classified according to rules to be adopted by the Court of Appeals.) For representing the Tax Collector, Magistrate or other officer in a case for the trial of a question of color or caste.....$20.00 To be paid out of any public funds in the hands of such officer, and recovered back from the adverse party, if the final decision should be against him.

XLIV. The Clerk shall have, in the following matters connected with the District Court, these fees, to wit: For all services respecting Juries, including entries in the Journal, receiving returns and making certificates: For a Jury at a monthly sitting.....$0.50 For a Jury at a quarterly sitting.....$1.00 For a new Jury list, and necessary tickets.....$2.00 For an annual copy of rolls of jurors and constables transmitted to the Treasurer.....$5.00 For the annual report of the District Court transmitted to the Treasurer.....$10.00 For copying any report or other paper, or making any entry more than one hundred words, in a Journal, for each word.....$0.01 For license granted by order of the District Judge.....$0.50 On all moneys paid into Court under order of Court, 3 per cent.....$0.08 For filing any report, instrument or other paper, or other paper directed to be filed in his office.....$0.20 The services mentioned in the last two items, if required by the said District Board, shall be paid for out of its funds; if required by a Magistrate, shall be collected by him, along with his own fees, from the person liable for the paper. For any summons, notice, order, sentence, process, return, or final judgment, proceeding from a Magistrate, if the case be before the Judge of the District Court, and the Clerk issue the paper, the fees of the Clerk shall be the same as the Magistrate would have had.

XLV. The Sheriff shall have in the following matters connected with the District Court, these fees, to wit: For obtaining a copy of the Tax Collector's return and helping the Clerk about a new Jury list.....$2.00 For summoning a Jury at a monthly sitting.....$1.00 For summoning a Jury at a quarterly sitting, including the writing of summonses.....$1.50 Besides mileage for the number of miles actually and necessarily traversed in summoning a Jury, at the rate per mile of.....$0.05 The Sheriff or Constable, shall have for serving process and executing orders from the District Court (not intended to include the ordinary proceedings by summary process), the following fees, to wit: For arresting an individual or serving a chattel under a special order, or evicting a tenant, or doing other specific services as duly required.....$0.50 For serving any process, summons or order, not requiring any special attention.....$0.25 With mileage from the place whence the summons, order or other paper issued, to the place of its service or execution, going, but not returning, per mile.....$0.05 For specific execution of a sentence.....$0.50 For receiving money, note or goods under special attachment.....$0.50 For fees of the Clerk and Sheriff, respecting the Juries in the District Court, and the fees of the Clerk for copying rolls and reports transmitted by him to the Treasurer, and of the Magistrates, for reports shall be paid out of the District Court Fund.

XLVI. A Magistrate, for the services mentioned below, shall have fees as follows, namely: For a summons or notice, and taking the return thereof.....$0.20 For making and entering any order or decision not below mentioned, including a copy, if it is to be served.....$0.20 For hearing and determining any small and mean cause or any complaint, dispute or controversy, including all necessary entries of judgment, decree of order.....$0.25 For the same as in the last item, where more than four witnesses are examined.....$0.50 For an order of eviction.....$0.50 For a special attachment and taking return thereof.....$0.50 For return of garnishes not contesting.....$0.50 For binding out an apprentice, including the instruments, to be paid by the master.....$0.50 For appointing a contract between master and servant.....$0.50 For any affidavit, not a return before mentioned.....$0.30 For each quarterly report to the District Court, not disapproved by the District Judge.....$1.00 For each semi-annual report to the Chairman of the Board of relief of Indigent Persons of Color, not disapproved by the said Board.....$2.00 XLVII. The person who requires services in a civil suit or complaint, or an attachment, who expects to be specially benefited to himself before the District Court or Magistrate, shall pay the fees for them, and he shall recover back from the adverse party what he has thus properly paid, if he should prevail against that party.

In a criminal proceeding, the services shall be rendered without instant payment; and if the accused should be convicted, he shall be bound to pay all the costs of the prosecution, and for them be liable to all the modes of execution which may be used for the collection of fines. If collection from the convict cannot be had, then the State shall be liable for one-half the costs. If the accused should be acquitted, the Judge or Magistrate before whom the trial has been had, if he has become satisfied in the course of the trial that the prosecution was without probable cause, may order that the prosecutor shall pay the costs of the prosecution, and thereupon proceed for collection shall go against the prosecutor, in like manner as in case of conviction, it might have gone against the convict.

XLVII. For the District Court of Berkeley the provisions of the Act shall prevail, subject to the following modifications, namely: The Clerk, Sheriff, Masters and Registers in Equity, and Ordinary for Charleston Judicial District, shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties and liabilities, in respect to Berkeley District, as like officers in other Districts. An appeal from the Ordinary of Charleston Judicial District, which under this Act, should go to a District Court, shall go to the District Court of Berkeley, according to the rules which, if such Election District had no Ordinary, would determine the Ordinary that should have jurisdiction of the matter in question. The various Boards of Commissioners in Berkeley District shall report to the Court of that District, and be subject to it in like manner, as in other District Boards are to their respective District Courts. The records of Berkeley District shall be kept in the office of the Clerk of the Judicial District of Charleston. The Judge of the District Court of Berkeley may hold a monthly and quarterly sitting of his Court at such places in his District as he may appoint, taking care to give due public notice, and all process of his Court shall be returnable to such a place as the Judge of the Court may appoint, and be by suitable words framed accordingly. Jurors for common Juries shall be summoned by a Sheriff from any citizen of the District, and for special Juries, Jurors shall be drawn from a box which contains the names of all the citizens of the District, the Judge being at liberty to reject, of those drawn, any citizen who lives more than twenty miles from the place where the Court is appointed to be held.

XLVIII. All the provisions of this Act will apply to the District Court of Charleston, and all the officers of the Judicial District of Charleston will occupy the same relations to the District Court of Charleston as like officers do in other Judicial Districts to the District Court of such Districts, except as in this Act excepted in reference to Berkeley District.

In the Senate House, the twentieth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

W. D. PORTER, President of the Senate.
C. H. SIMONTON, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

WOUNDED UNTO DEATH.

A few steps more; just down by the bushes— And then—the prayer that's haunting my lips— Will they mind it up there when my soul pushes Out of this suddenly awful eclipse? There goes the sudden, no need to hail him, I'm safe for a dead 'un at next roll-call, This is a job that would certainly fall him, Give me a drink, Jack—Lord help us all.

Never a saint, and 'tis no use whining— I've got to travel—I'll do my best, The game's played out, and there's no divining What'll become of me and the rest, I'm wishing the parson was here to cheer me, For it's a Christian speech I know— He's coming!—If only oxen was near me (God bless her!) I'd be willing to go.

All the long night, lad, I lay a dreaming, A dream that stuck like a stab in my brain, I told the boys under the bayonets gleaming, "This morning I'd never be with 'em again!" They called me a muff, and swore I was shamming, Quick came the tears spite of all I could do— Lord!—when they saw me led out there was damning, "I'll bet you they missed me an' pitted me too.

Drop me down in this bed o' sweat-cloves— Thanks out the rigging off o' 'y breast, Bide a bit, comrade, 'till shortly be over, To-morrow I'll camp in the land o' the blest; You goes a shell!—that's jolly good bumping! Over the hill the old gall breaks— Lift me a little—death surely is coming! Give me your fist—see how my hand shakes.

'Twas only a faint! not much in a hurry, Above there, I take it—for fellows like me— Listen, old chap, you'll see that they bury This body o' mine right decently— And comfort the old folks—worse than the darning.

Pain of this bullet's the thought of that blow— God help 'em! and keep 'em through the long parting! I shall see 'em on 't'other side you know!

And here's the traps, I entrust to your keeping! Her letters! (the portrait must go, Jack, with me!) Ah, lad, there'll be plenty o' wailing and weeping In the old homestead down by the sea— But tell 'em I died with th' harness all on me— In th' face o' th' foe, in th' heat o' th' blast, With never a stain o' dishonor upon me— You'll tell 'em, dear Jack, I was true to the last.

For we two have toted like brothers together, Hard tack and water, this many a day— Did ever I show the least bit o' white feather? Bully for you! thought 'I would be nay, Battle, and march, and civic profession!

Steady, boys, give 'em a touch o' the steel! Here at the end of a soldier's profession! 'Tis the Red, White Blue, come woe or come woe!

It's getting dark, and I'm off for certain! Kiss me, dear Jack, for I cannot see; I'm called 'this time, and they'll drop the curtain, As sure as shooting, betwixt you and me. Ah, well! they'll give me a place I reckon, Among the boys, that have gone before! Good bye! good bye, old fellow, they beckon The angels—on the opposite shore.

CRIME IN ST. LOUIS.—The prevalence of crime in St. Louis appeals the newspapers, one of whom writes thus: "Many a bludgeoned and robbed under gas lamps, on thoroughfares, at 8 o'clock in the evening. Banks are robbed in open day-light, collectors and messengers are knocked down, and their money packages seized at noon, in the heart of the city. Ladies have their purses snatched from their hands while walking, in the consciousness of imagined security, along the streets, and scores of dwellings are entered nightly and plundered. And yet no arrests are made."

A dispatch from San Francisco states that there was great excitement in Victoria over the reported discovery of rich places at Big Bend. The largest nugget yet found was worth $4,000. One man took out $800 in one day. To make $800 a day was a common thing.

Woman is like ivy—the more you are bunched the closer she will cling to you. A villager once said: "It is like a woman—the more it clings to you the more you are ruined. Poor rule that won't work both ways."

A priest was once called upon to pray over the barren fields of his parishioners. He passed from one inclosure to another, and pronounced his benediction, until he came to an unpromising case. He surveyed its sterile acres in despair. "Ah!" said he, brethren use me to pray here—this needs me here.

The humorous Artemus Ward, during his travels, took occasion to inform the Shakers, that "the world revolves on its own axle-tree once in twenty-four hours, subject to the Constitution of the United States."

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
I AM happy to state to the public that all the Government and Private-marked, half-tanned, rotten Leather, has been removed from my yard by order of Capt. Rhet, and through B. E. Holman to some place unknown to me, and my yard is in full operation, and has been cleaned from all impurity which has infected it for the last two years. I now invite all of my old customers to send their hides to sell or exchange for leather, or to be tanned and dressed on shares, and I will assure them there is no danger of cholera. I will pay the highest price for hides and tallow, also, I want 600 cords of Tan Bark, for which I will pay more than any other Tannery. Call and see me before you make contracts for bark.
