A Sad Story of the Sea.

The following outline of the sad story of a citizen of New Jersey appears much like the romantic tales found in our sensation weeklies; but the narrative is nevertheless true...

Judge Wardlaw's Letter.

The letter of Judge Wardlaw to General Kershaw, read by that gentleman at one of the meetings held just after the visit of the Reform speakers to Abbeville...

Southern Patience.

The St. Louis Republican pays this just tribute to the Southern character: "Patience was not once esteemed a Southern virtue, but afflictions sometime reveal heroic attributes that prosperity and success cannot develop."

What is Our Duty?

The Georgetown Times asks, "What is the duty of those who, like itself, doubted the expediency and policy of the Reform Convention? This is its answer: 'We speak for ourselves, and say, we see but one course open to us, and that is to give a hearty and cordial support to the Reform movement.'"

A Comparison of Wants.

From an article which treats of the Chinese, we extract the following: "The rate of wages is said to depend on supply and demand. The rule is sound, but so equivocal that it is worth but little."

A SUGGESTION FOR SCHOOLS.

We commend to the earnest pursuit of parents the appended suggestions upon a subject of paramount importance: "They have a delightful custom in the Swiss schools for boys, which might be adopted with great advantage to all concerned in this country."

WHAT BREAKS DOWN YOUNG MEN.

It is a commonly received notion that hard study is the unhealthy element of college life. But from tables of the mortality of Harvard University, collected by Professor Pierce...

THE NEW YORK TIMES SAYS.

"After all, the war has been too much for the Evangelical Alliance. The meeting which was to have been held in this city during the fall has been indefinitely postponed."

John as a Husband.

The Chinamen may want wives, the Massachusetts spinsters may want husbands. It isn't every woman that would have John for a husband, and it isn't every man John would have for a wife...

Papal Infallibility.

This dogma, so little understood, outside of Catholic communities, has recently been explained by Vicar-General Stars, in St. Patrick's Church, New York. We give his explanation of it, for the benefit of those of our readers, who like ourselves, have been unable to comprehend either its limit or extent...

RAISE YOUR COLTS.

It has struck us often, in our observations on the rural economy of our people, that we are very generally chargeable with a great oversight in our neglect of a rising work stock. We speak experimentally when we say that under most unfavorable circumstances a colt can be raised for about twenty-five dollars...

BRANDIED PEACHES.

Having had inquiries regarding the proper method for preserving peaches in brandy, we clip the following from an exchange, for the benefit of those desiring information on the subject: "Gather peaches before they are quite ripe; prick them with a large needle and rub off the down with a piece of flannel; put them into a preserving can, with cold water enough to cover them, and let the water become gradually scalding hot."

INFAMOUS FALSEHOOD.

In a late number of the Charleston Republican, a paper which is always ready to slander and endorse base fabrications against the good people of South Carolina, the editors assert that the life of Colonel H. J. Maxwell, of Scott's militia, had been threatened by citizens of this country, if he continued to drill his militia. This assertion was the first intimation that we had of such a threat ever having been made, and upon inquiry, we learn that even good Republicans have never heard such a report before.

THE FAT MEN'S GATHERING.

At the recent Fat Men's Gathering at Bridgeport, Conn., they were assembled one hundred and four persons, whose gross weight was twenty-three thousand five hundred and fifty-four pounds. The heaviest man on the list weighed three hundred and twelve pounds. Charleston can furnish a few men who will beat 312! At the next gathering we hope Charleston will be represented by one or more of her weighty men.

HOMINY CAKE.

Mix with cold boiled hominy an equal quantity of white flour until perfectly smooth; add a teaspoonful of salt, and thin off with buttermilk, in part of which a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved; when of the consistency of griddle cakes, add a desertspoonful of melted butter and bake as usual.
