have received the highest number of votes for Coroner of said County.

The Governor's Reasons for Signing the Consolidation Bill.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COLUMBIA, March 7, 1871.

The Act before me proposes simply to allow them, upon fair and equal terms, to combine their resources.

In postponing the statutory lien of the State, for the endorsed bonds of the Greenville Railroad, I cannot feel that I am consenting to abandon any real security on the part of the State...

By its first mortgage on the property of the road, while the act authorizing the endorsement gave the State a first lien.

The 8th regiment of Infantry, which has been recruited to 1,000 strong, report says has been ordered to this State, and to have their headquarters at Columbia.

A Blast From John Bull. Mr. Disraeli, the English Conservative leader, made a speech in the House of Commons on the 9th, in which, the London Telegraph says, "he sinned most deeply by his remark that the subject of American diplomacy, Mr. Disraeli calls upon us to make known, once for all, that we will not endure such treatment."

Mr. Disraeli, in the course of his remarks on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, said: There is one point connected with America which I cannot refrain from bringing before the consideration of this House...

nothing to be feared from a man whose presence was to be desired, and whose fidelity was assured. No higher compliment could be paid to his memory than those parting words of Lee and Jackson.

THE SUBSISTENCE OF ARMIES.—It is stated that during every twenty-four hours each army corps of the German forces consumes 54,000 pounds of bread, 13,440 pounds of rice or barley, 70 oxen or 13,440 pounds of bacon, 2,016 pounds of salt, 3,300 pounds of coffee, 1,344 pounds of oats, 330 pounds of hay, 3,500 quarts of ardent spirits, and 3,500 fluid ounces of orange bitters, or some similar tincture, to be taken with the spirits.

AN IMMORTAL COMPLIMENT.—The New York World has this happily-conceived and admirable paragraph: "If the wandering death-bed utterances of the two great Confederate chieftains, Stonewall Jackson and Robert E. Lee, may be considered as final upon the matter, then the late Confederate General A. P. Hill, who lost his life at the closing battle of the war, must be accepted by history as the most trusted confidant of these eminent commanders."

Important. FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS SIXTY YEARS AT INTEREST IN A NEW YORK BANK WITHOUT A CLAIMANT.—MASSACHUSETTS HEIRS CLAIMING A SLAVE TRADER'S FORTUNE.

Some fifty years ago, a man named Isaac Phillips went from North Bridgewater to the Southern States, and engaged in the business of buying and selling slaves. He amassed a fortune in this nefarious business. It is said that he deposited some $40,000 in some bank in New York city, where it has been on interest ever since, and for which the bank officers are now trying to find an owner.

Message of the Governor Vetoing the Per Diem and Mileage Resolution.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COLUMBIA, March 7, 1871.

GENTLEMEN: I return, to your honorable body, without my approval, an Act, appropriating $265,000 for Legislative expenses, for the following reasons, to-wit: First—I regard the expenditure of the money already appropriated during this session, and the sum included in this bill—amounting in the aggregate to four hundred thousand ($400,000) dollars, as simply enormous for one session of the Legislature.

New Enforcement Bill.

Whatever may be thought or said to the contrary, it will appear plain enough when an impartial historian shall have written of the origin of the war of 1861-65, that hostilities were premeditated and forced by the Radical leaders.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette says: Those who have watched closely the stealthy movements of the Radicals, need not be told that a civil war will be risked rather than power surrendered at the behest of the ballot-box.

An ordinance was recently passed in San Francisco prohibiting the carrying of baskets upon any street or alley suspended from a pole.

Bourbaki's Defeat—Horrible Suffering of French Soldiers. The following are extracts from a private letter received from Montreux, and published in the London Standard.

We are all greatly interested about the poor French soldiers who fled for refuge across the Swiss frontier when surrounded by the Prussians. They are the remains of Bourbaki's army, and are pouring by thousands along the different routes through the Jura into Switzerland.

The Sarannah News, has the following concerning the Staley-Hungerford affair, which has been previously noticed in the Courier: Monday evening Mrs. Fogarty, the keeper of the house in which Sue Hungerford had been well-nigh cut to pieces, appeared at the Police Barracks in great trepidation, dressed in male costume, and demanded protection for her household.

The Charleston "Vigilants" are offering their hand engine for sale. Here is a chance for some country company to get a good machine.

Judge R. B. Carpenter has commenced the practice of law in Charleston. How to spoil a child—send him to fill a lighted kerosene lamp.

Let ends on the 9th of April.

Acting on a crossroad leading from Dickerman's corner in this town to North Bridgewater an old lady, by the name of Susie Phillips, she obtained her livelihood by braiding straw and filling boots.
