It was something indeed to give us an elevation from the mud-a purpose that the platform, or rather passenger depot. has subserved, and for which everybody interested is grateful, but small favors however thankfully received, are sometimes forgotten, and it is but reasonable that men, and women, too, should grumble, even while their feet are out of the mud, if their whole persons are exposed to the peltings of a rain storm, or a long drizzle. If the intention was to stop the building just as it is, it was unkind; we cannot believe that, however, but rather that it was the fault of the architect, who forgot the roof. This is the most charitable construction that can be put upon it. Ever since its erection, or more properly since it was laid down, for there has been no erection, the people of Newberry have indulged the hope that either the General Supermight travel this way and be caught in a rain and get wet to the skin, and in -the leaky condition, and perhaps have
