Have a written contract with all laborers by the month or year. Pay working men promptly their wages when due. Use only the best implements on the farm, and keep them always in order and well protected from the weather.

Early planting is best nine years in ten, therefore plant early.

Early cultivation secures a good crop-always push your worknever let your work push you. An ounce of brain is worth a pound of muscle, therefore, always think well and plan before hand what is best to be done and the order in which it should be done. Order is Heaven's first law.

Never suffer that which is made to be lost or wasted, preserve it, keep it and economize. It is the saving more than the making that gathereth riches.

Never buy what you can produce at home equally as cheap. In this way you save time, expense and the profits of two merchants.

Never plant more than you can cultivate well, for all plants abhor neglect, and refuse to grow well for a lazy man.

Never borrow from a neighbor except in case of great necessity, and then return whatever you borrow as soon as possible, lest a misunderstanding arise, and good neighborship be destroyed.

your mustin or gingham dress, or Prepare well for market whatever you can spare from the farm and sell it when it is in the best state of preparation. The loss by shrinkage and refatting is more than speculation in the price to most farmers, and had best be avoided.

TESTING SEEDS .- B. Benjamin, New York, gave directions to the American farmers' club regarding the testing of seeds which have been left over from previous year's planting. He said that it is not a difficult matter to do, but that one with a supply on hand can easily determine whether to throw them away or put them into the ground. One method is to take a wide mouthed, clear glass bottle, and fill it nearly full of clear water; next mix the doubtful seed through lint cotton, and lay the cotton, after being moistened, on the water. The bottle, with its contents, should be placed in light room where there is plenty of sun. The seed kept in this uniform moisture will germinate in from twenty-four hours to ten days, if good for anything. A second plan suggested by Mr. Benjamin is to fill a saucer with white sand and then pour on enough water to wet the sand and keep it so; place the seed on the sand, pressing them down gently until imbedded in it, and set the saucer in a warm room where the sunlight can reach it.

The following simple remedy has been known to cure the most obstinate cases of dysentery when other remedies had failed. It has merit of being harmless and always effectual: Take one-fourth of a pint of hot water; vinegar, half a pint mix. Now add common salt as long as it will dissolve in the mixture, stirring it freely. Give for an adult one tablespoonful every hour, until the bloody discharges cease or until it operates freely upon the bowels. We have heard of some persons who used a galvanic battery for this complaint.

CURE FOR SORE THROAT .- One span of red root bark boiled strong; one tablespoonful of sage juice (green); one tablesponful of honey; one tablespoonful alum; three pods of red pepper. Use as a wash three or four times a day.
