THE FAMILY RECORD.

Ay, write it down in black and white-The date, the age, the name; For home has never seemed so dear As since our baby came. No child before was half so sweet, And never babe so wise;

And John, the neighbors say, indeed, It has its father's eyes." "Nay, wife, I'm sure they're like your own; The rogue's his mother's boy. How strange that such a tiny form

Can cause such boundless joy! And you will have him named for me? Come, think it o'er again; For 'John' is but a homely name-" "Nay, do not drop your pen,

"For 'John' shall be his name, my dear, It is his father's own; And though a hundred more were given I'll call him that alone. His father's eyes, his father's face, His father's form, I'm sure; God grant he have his father's heart,

Life's hardships to endure!" 'Well, there, 'tis written down at last; The record is complete, Henceforth we'll lay our loving hearts Beneath our baby's feet. Ah, wife our home's a humble place-We're humble folks-that's true; But I'm a king with boundless wealth

"So baby, wink and blink, my boy, Your mother's eyes"- "Nay, John, They are his father's eyes indeed; That I insist upon!" Well, be that as it may, his mouth Is waiting for a kiss. He's like you there, at least, my dear. Say, do I judge amiss?"
