FARMERS' WANTS.

Enjoying many blessings peculiar to his calling, the farmer is also subject to many needs not felt by those in other walks of life. You need only take up the last newspaper, to find some writer (probably not a farmer) indulging in rhapsodies upon the bliss of country life. No doubt a farmer's life is enjoyable and healthful, and or other phosphate fertilizers. we hope that most farmers appreciate these facts and are contented and thankful for the blessings of of their lot, but the farmer's life is not without its peculiar wants, and to these we would call a little attention, in the hope of supplying of the farmer is his want of intercourse with his fellow men; he is by necessity a half hermit; his companions are the few hired men he can afford to employ, perhaps foreigners, certainly men of little intellect or culture; with them he them his sons must work day after day, and when the day's toil is ended and the tools cleaned and put away, there is in general little disposition left to indulge in social intercourse with the neighbors; they are too far away for an easy walk, and the horses perhaps are too tired to drive. So our farmer sits down and goes to sleep almost as soon as his tired limbs are fairly stretched in a comfortable position. Such habits are not conducive to healthy and happy state of mind. At the busy seasons of harvest they are apt to be indulged in so much as to be difficult to change in the more leisure seasons of the year. The occasions of social gatherings among farmers are much less frequent than formerly. We hear our fathers tell with glowing words of the husking bee and the house raising and the apple bee and other festive occasions of rural mirth and jollity mixed with hard work. They are not the fashion now and we need something to take their place. The farmer's club is a very useful thing in its season, and we hope most of our readers belong to one and make it useful-but at the season of long days and short nights and heavy toil, the farmer has little opportunity or time for anything in the social way except his newspaper.-Exchange.

CHEAP GATES AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR BARS .- A writer in the Rural Home says: "I have just made gates to replace some of the oldfashioned pair of bars that I am heartily tired of opening and shutting. They are cheap, durable and very easily made. Each gate is twelve feet in length by four in height. Five boards four inches wide are used, besides batten and braces. Battens should be placed on both sides, making three thicknesses to nail through. It does not take more than thirty-six feet of boards, worth perhaps sixty cents, to make each gate. Add to that ten cents for nails, and the value of one hour of your time, and you have the whole expense. A gate of this kind will outlast a framed one costing $4, and as no hinges are used, that expense is | NESS. saved also. It is held in position by means of a stake driven in the ground four or five inches from the post; not in a straight line. but a little more than the thickness of the gate toward the driveway, so when opened the gate can be turned half way around and be parallel with the driveway. It is kept a few inches from the ground by a strip, nailed to both stake and post, on which one end rests when shut, and on which it slides half its length and then swings round as on a pivot when opened. The strip is usually placed under the second board, in a space arranged for it, by cutting away two of the battens. This strip takes the place of hinges. A gate of this kind can be made in much less time and at as little expense as a pair of bars, and is certainly much more convenient."

BREAD PUDDING.—Take stale baker's bread, a good handful to a pint of milk, pour on it boiling water to just cover it; cover with a tin lid tight; when almost cold beat out all the lumps; add a small piece of butter, one pint of milk, one or two eggs, one-quarter pound of sugar, and some grated nutmeg or cinnamon, currants or raisins may be added; bake until lightly browned.

GRASS, CLOVER, TURF.

The Great and Good once told the young man, feed my sheep, and repeated it the third time. The English statesman, the third time, said to the young student, who wishes to develop eloquence,

"action, action, action." Three times, Dariel Webster said, "read the Dictionary," to the young aspirant for legal fame. So, the Maryland Farmer urges, and has urged, that the farmer who would make his land fertile, and keep it so, that he should make turf grow elever and grass; and when he has got a turf he can make grain, or any other crop; a good sod of clover or grass, or both, plowed under, makes a soil that will grow all others.

Undoubtedly, it is better to sow timothy or other grasses, with fine, narrow leaves, in the fall-September or October-as they need time to get sufficient growth to stand the winter and hot sun and an application of five to eight bushels of plaster to the acre, and 100 to 300 pounds of bone to the acre, to be harrowed in at the time of seeding, will give benefits much more than the cost; and later in the fall five to ten bushels of common salt will also pay.

But we believe that it is better to sow clover early in the spring, followed up with plaster and bone, And in both cases, fall or spring sowing, there is great benefit in sowing plaster immediately after the grain is harvested, and after the first mowing.-Ex.

APPLE CUSTARD PIE .- To make apple custard pie, grate four large them in such small measures as we apples, add one quart of milk, the volks of two eggs, sweeten and Chief among the inevitable wants | spice to taste, bake with one crust. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, with a tablespoonful of white sugar, and when the custards are done spread this over the surface and set in an oven to ACUTE CONGESTION OF LARYNmust work day after day, with GITIS .- Give ammonia. Put an ounce in a gallon of water; give an ounce of the mixture to each pig, in food, three times a day. f pigs will not take food give it in the mouth of each.

A mixture of equal parts of glycerine and carbolic acid, applied with a small brush, is recommended as an excellent remedy for corns.

Is the most genial balsam ever used by sufferers from pulmonary diseases.

It is composed of herbal products, which have a specific effect on the throat and lungs; detaches from the air cells all irritating matter; causes it to be expectorated, and atonce checks the inflammation which produces the cough. A single dose relieves the most distressing paroxysm, soothes nervousness, and enables the sufferer to enjoy quiet rest at night. Being a pleasant cordial, it tones the weak stomach, and is specially recommended for children.

BEER.

The Commissioner of Agriculture, in his report for the year 1875, speaks as follows: There can be no doubt of the general adulteration of all malt liquors. In England and other countries, where heavy penalties are imposed, and an increasing vigilance practiced to detect and punish such frauds, by a system of inspection of all mult liquors manufactured before exposed to sale, the practice is very common. How much more in this country, where there are no laws on the subject, and no officer to carefully analyze the products of the brewery? Some years ago, Professor Mapes, of New York, analyzed the beer from a dozen different breweries, and all were found adulterated with noxious substances. It is said that the sale of drugs to brewers is a profitable part of the trade. This is perfectly infamous. Cocculus indicus, (fish-berry,) nux vomica, (dog-button, from which strychnine is obtained,) are some of the delectabe substances found in beer! These are potent poisons, and the brewer found using them should be drowned at once in one of his own vats. The British Parliament passed a law to prevent this nefarious business. The following is an extract: 'No druggist, vender of or dealer in drugs, or chemist, or any other person, shall sell or deliver to any licensed brewer, dealer in or retailer of beer, knowing them to be such, or shall sell or deliver to any person on account of, or in trust for, any brewer, dealer or retailer, any liquor called by the name of or sold for coloring, from whatever material the same may be made; or any material or preparation other than unground brown mult, for the darkening the color of worts beer, or any molasses, vitriol, honey, quassia, coccolus indicus, graius of paradise, Guinea pepper, or opium, or any extract or preparation of molasses, or any article or preparation to be used in worts beer for or as a substitute for malt or hops; and if any druggist shall offend in any of these particulars, such preparation, &c., shall be forfeited, and may be seized by any officer of excise, and the person so offending shall forfeit five hundred pounds.' "Under this law, very many druggists and brewers were brought to grief, and yet the practice continues. Unless the American public are ready to admit the immaculate purity and innocence of American brewers, they must be content, while drinking their beer, to cherish the belief that they are at the same time guzzling some narcotic poison or damaging medicine. In view of the unpre-cedented growth of the barley crop; of the great increase of the number of malsters and brewers; of the vast unknown quantities of beer that are drunk in every city and almost every town on the continent, it is the dietate of sound wisdom that the attention of legislators should be called to the subject of the adulteration of our mult liquors, and severe penalties should be inflicted as a preventive." Know all men by these presents, That, on this, the Iwentieth day of June, in the year of Our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and S'xtysix, personally came Joseph Haydock to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Hollo-way's Pills and Ointment, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief. JAMES SMEITRE,

Notary l'uolic, 14 Wall Street, New York.

DR. Holloway:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your Pills. Oh. Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.
