Deaths.

Mr. William Martin died at his home in Newberry village Thursday, the 4th instant. He was born in September, 1800, and was therefore seventy-nine years of age. As a merchant he carried on a successful business in Newberry for many years; and took a leading part in all matters of public improvement. When the question of building the Greenville and Columbia Railroad was first agitated he took an active and prominent part in the enterprise, and by his influence, labors and material aid contributed largely to its successful completion. In 1856 he failed in business on account of the failure of his cotton factor in Charleston. This disaster, caused by no fault of his own, and coming upon him so suddenly and so unexpectedly, was a severe blow, and so completely discouraged him that he never again entered into active business. His sons J. N. and J. B. Martin took his place, assumed and paid off his liabilities, and have established for themselves and have enjoyed for many years a business reputation second to none in the up-country. Mr. Martin, though he continued to live in town, and in five minute's walk of the public square, had not been on the streets more than once or twice in twenty years—he came down to the Court House to vote for Hampton in 1876. He continued to attend the Thompson Street Church, of which he was a member. With the exception of rheumatism Mr. Martin enjoyed good health all his life; his family say that up to the time of his death he had not been in bed six days within their recollection; and the physician could find no other cause for his death than an entire loss of appetite. His wife is still living.

Miss Henrietta Langford, daughter of Mr. Wm. Langford, of Newberry, died Saturday morning, the 8th instant, of Consumption, after a lingering and painful illness. Attacked by this fell disease in the bloom of young womanhood, she bore her sufferings with remarkable fortitude and met death with resignation and without fear. The high estimate in which she was held was attested by the large concourse of people that gathered Sunday at the Lutheran Church to attend her funeral services.

A Bold Hawk.

Mr. B. F. Griffin says that while standing in the door of W. T. Tarrant's store early Friday morning, a hawk of large size swooped down and made a dash at the little sparrows in a tree in front of the store. He failed to get a breakfast however, and the little sparrows all commenced twittering, "he didn't get me," "he didn't get me."

Lurking About

In the folds of the HERALD this week will be found by the subscriber who is indebted, or whose term of subscription has just expired, a notice showing him just how he stands. From the first we ask a settlement immediately, from the second a renewal with the cash for whatever period of time most convenient to pay for. We have done our work faithfully, have given a good paper, and have waited patiently, and now we want the money to close up our business for the year. Pay up, reader, and save both yourself and us any further trouble. After January we will have to place unpaid accounts in the hands of a collector. Remember, too, that the additional charge of fifty cents must be added to all past due subscriptions. Look for the slip and respond promptly.

Quick Trip.

The fastest trip on record has been made by Capt. McFall, who started for New York on last Saturday and got back on Monday following. He did not go farther than Columbia.

Recovering.

Muck Boozler, the gay Lothario who was so effectually intimidated last week by Bill Williams' shot-gun, is in a fair way to recover. After his experience he will undoubtedly be a wiser, if not a better man.

Volume Three

The "Library of Universal Knowledge," recently issued, contains 864 pages, covering topics between the words Birs and Caterpillar. The publishers announce that it has already reached a sale of nearly 10,000 copies. American Book Exchange, New York.

Notice

The card of Dr. Pelham in to-days paper. He has a beautiful assortment of fancy goods for Christmas and New Year's presents, an inspection of which is invited.

Looking Ahead.

Our enterprising and far-seeing neighbor, M. E. A. Scott, is wisely taking time by the fore-lock by ingratiating himself into the good graces of the "devil"—the printer's devil of the News—to whom he presented a new hat last week.

"The Life and Works of Christ."

By Geikie, heretofore published at $6.00, is just brought out in a handy volume, good type and handsomely bound, for the price of 50 cents, by the American Book Exchange, New York. A fine edition, wide margins, half Russia binding, gilt top, is sold for $1.00.

Death from Burning.

A colored child about 6 years old living on Mr. Chandler's place, near Beth Eden Church, died from the effects of burning one day last week. The mother was out in the field and hearing screams hastened up to find her child enveloped in flames.

Large Buyers.

Messrs. Hunt & Singleton have been making things lively in the cotton market ever since the season opened. They have bought very largely giving top prices and are as eager now as in the beginning. Their shipments to Norfolk, Va., alone have been between 3,000 or 3,500 bales, the first cotton we are told ever shipped from here to that port—and that is due to the liberal policy of Gen. Connor.

The Railroad Bridge

Has been completed, the track finished and iron laid to the old Depot. The work of building a large platform at east end of the Depot, is nearly finished. The Depot will be next work in order, and will be completed at an early day. It begins to look like business about the old Depot now. Mr. Burchhalter, the Contractor, has done his work thoroughly, and with the best of material.

What is the Matter?

Why so pale, so languid? Are you sick? Evidently, your liver is not doing its duty. You cannot live in comfort or peace until you are relieved. Go to the nearest drug store and buy a box of Dr. Gilder's Liver Pills. A few doses will restore you to perfect health, and give a rosy tint to your cheek. 44-2a.

He Said He Didn't.

A good old citizen came to town last Wednesday on business—three bags of cotton—and like a sensible man brought his wife along to keep off evil spirits. On the way he said, "old lady, I don't owe a single man in Newberry," and the wife smiled sweetly at so fair a record. Shortly after reaching town he found that there was just one little account, $2 for the HERALD, which we are pleased to say was paid immediately. Are you free from debt, reader?

Santa Claus at H. A. Burns.

It is my pleasure to offer to the trade for the Holidays the largest and best selected stock of Confectionaries, Candies, Canned Goods, Crackers, Nuts, Figs, Raisins, Citron, Currants, Apples, Oranges, Bananas, Lemons, Peas, Mergans Grapes, Cocoanuts, Jellies, Sauces, Spices, Flavoring Extracts, Pulverized Sugar for Icing, Tea, Toys of all kinds, Vases, Toilet Sets, Cups and Mugs with Mottos, Fireworks, Cigars, Tobacco, Pipes, &c., that I have ever offered, at low prices. Store next door to Post Office. 49-4f.

Smoking Town.

We are pleased to learn that Smoking Town is all right and preparing for a good Christmas season. Turkeys are abundant.

The party of ladies and gentlemen who went from there to Columbia, had a nice trip and speak glowingly of the pleasure afforded them by Col. Lipscomb and Dr. Pope, who showed them through the Penitentiary.

Some of the LONG headed citizens are talking about getting a city charter for Smoking Town, a rail road, opera hall, and other improvements.

We were pained to hear of the accident to the bridal party on last Tuesday evening. The horses in the carriage containing the bride and groom took fright near corner of Banks and Lee streets, precipitating Mr. John Lowe and his lovely bride, Miss Annie May, on the stone curbing, spraining his ankle, and inflicting a severe bruise on her right cheek, all of which were relieved by Couens' Lightning Liniment, a cure for Rheumatism, Lamé Back, Sprains, Bruises, etc. Price 50 cts. For sale by W. E. Pelham. e.o.w.

Ready for the Holidays.

At this season of the year everybody wants to know where they can see the largest and best variety with the least inconvenience, and, too, where they can make their money go the farthest. It is pleasant then to be able to direct them to Messrs. Kingland & Heath, of Columbia, deservedly the most popular house in the State, first because of its endless variety of goods, and, second, because of the reasonable prices which rule there. For all articles in china, glass or other ware this is the place to go or send to. Just now the display of Christmas goods is beautiful in the extreme. 50-4f.

Weather pleasant.

Fourteen days till Christmas.

Wide awake merchants now advertise their Christmas goods—look for their announcements.

A hod carrier on the Mower building

last week had on a uniform of the Newberry Rifles.

Newspaper men from abroad find Newberry a profitable field. Senator Lipscomb is in his seat. Do not put off buying your Christmas presents until the last moment. Make selections before stocks are broken, and as you have the time.

If you would make your business known use printer's ink—use it freely. Front gates have a rest now that the nights are cold.

No wonder that debt makes men criminals. It hardens the heart. The prospect that the tower of the hotel will be graced by a clock is quite flattering.

Parties indebted will do well to give heed to the notice of M. Foot & Son in another column. For the past ten days Newberry has had a flood of apple wagons from North Carolina.

Mr. Foot has met with such a good trade at his new stand that he finds his two stores insufficient, and therefore intends in a short time to enlarge his building by adding another.

The editor of the Greenville Advertiser was recently presented with a whole quarter of beef. He should have called the Press Association together to discuss the beef.

The speech of Senator Lipscomb,

Master of the State Grange, delivered at the session of the National Grange at Canandaigua, N. Y., will be published next week. We have just succeeded in obtaining a copy.

Duplex Pantoscopic Spect.

It is an admitted fact with the spectacles now in use, the line of vision while reading goes diagonally through the lower part of the lens, thereby causing a deceptive prismatic effect, painful when reading for a length of time and necessarily injurious to the eyes. In the

DUPLIX PANTOSCOPIC SPECTS

these evils are entirely remedied by means of an Extra Joint on each side of the frame which enables the wearer when reading, to so turn the specs as to throw the line of vision through the centre of the glass, thereby giving him an unobstructed view and the full benefit of the lenses.

This improvement has been highly commended by some of our most prominent physicians and its many advantages will be at once apparent to anyone wearing spectacles.

EDUARD SCHOLTZ,

Jeweler, Newberry, S. C.

A Dream

Which may not be a dream, is thus related. The dreamer saw two of his friends die, and afterwards saw their seeking admission into Paradise. Knocking at the gate the first was asked his name, his occupation in life, and what good he had done, all these were answered satisfactorily. To the question "had he been a subscriber to the HERALD or the News?" "Alas, no," said he, "I sponged my reading." "Did you ever help the editor by giving him an advertisement?" "Never," "what, never?" "No, never, never." "Alas then, thou miserable sinner you cannot enter," was the solemn reply. The other was put through the same interrogatories, had lived in peace and quiet, belonged to the church, never robbed any one, or committed arson, and had been a subscriber to his County paper but never paid for it, and had once advertised for a small amount. He too rightly was refused admission, and the two were sent howling where the lion roars and the whang-doodle mourns. Sad fate, and conclusive proof that the printer must be nourished and cherished in this life. Take warning, oh ye thoughtless ones.

He Didn't Say a Word.

The crowd around the Court House on Saturday was of a mixed character, bipeds and quadrupeds of all colors and kinds, and among the latter a short thick-set, sleepy looking mule with his kicking end set towards McWhirter's store. We have always entertained a high opinion of the mule, especially the sleepy kind; he is an animal of uncommon intelligence and quick perception—about the hind legs,—and this one heightened our admiration wonderfully in the few minutes spent in pleased contemplation. Siding up to the mule came a big feeling chap who knew all about this kind of animal. A smart slap on the rump with a yell had no seeming effect on the mule which sleg on until his shaved tail was taken hold of and twisted, when we noticed him bat his eyes, and without saying a word to the fellow shot out his right hind leg into his stomach with beautiful precision and decided effect. Slowly and sadly the victim slipped into the crowd where he might nurse and rub the wounded part free from the vulgar gaze of those who witnessed the affair. If the unfortunate chap had been a subscriber to the HERALD he would never have played with that mule's tail.

M. L. Bonham, Jr., Esq. of the News,

spent several days of last week in Columbia.

Mr. R. H. Anderson has rented the

Maj. C. H. Suber came up Saturday

Mrs. J. P. Pool went to Spartanburg on Saturday last on a summons from her daughter, Mrs. Blodgett, who, we regret to learn is seriously ill.

We acknowledge the pleasure of a heartly shake of the hand from Mr. T. H. Dick, the genial traveling agent of the popular clothing house of I. L. Falk, of New York.

We like to be right on the record and therefore state that Col. Crews of the Laurens Herald did not go to Charleston last week. He passed through yesterday. Col. Watts of the same excellent paper has also gone down.

Mr. J. B. Campbell, of Jalapa, whose new store is ready for a new stock of goods, went down to Charleston Friday to make his purchases. Messrs. T. Connor, J. J. Reeder, Dr. R. P. Clark, D. Slight and Geo. Whitman also went down. We have no doubt they will have a good time.

A Mammoth Weekly.

Messrs. Riordan & Dawson, the proprietors of The News and Courier of Charleston, are nothing if not enterprising. Not satisfied with the great success which The Weekly News has had this year, they are determined to increase its circulation the coming year by making it still more worthy of patronage.

One of the great attractions of The Weekly

News in 1880, will be a sequel to Mrs. Clara Dargan McLean's beautiful story, "The Bloom of the Peach." This new story will be called "Honor and Arms," and will doubtless be received with the general approval and commendation that greeted "The Bloom of the Peach."

The Weekly News has heretofore consisted of four pages of nine columns each, each column being twenty-five and three-quarter inches in length, so that all along it has been of imposing size; but two pages are to be added on New Year's Day, making The Weekly News thereafter a paper of six pages of nine columns each—each column twenty-five and three-quarter inches in length. This is truly a mammoth paper, and it is as excellent in quality as it is immense in size, so that any of our readers who desire and can afford a paper published beyond the limits of the County, could not do better than to take The Weekly News, the price of which has not been increased, but is still $2 a year.
