GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

Baltimore Sun

Fragmentary estimates of the pop ulation of cities and States, as furnished by the census of the present year, have been given from time to time in the Sun. They indicate a larger increase in the population of the Southern States than was expected, and it is believed that this increase will, on the whole, compare fairly well with that of the Northwestern States during the past decade. Some part of this apparent Southern increase may be due to the greater ward; if you do not forget thoroughness with which the present | courtesies which belong to your census has been taken there in com- position, you are quite sure to parison with the enumeration of 1870. THE WORLD'S FAIR IN 1883.

Meeting of the Commissioners in New York City Yesterday.

NEW YORK, August 10 .- The commission for the United States International Exhibition of 1883 assembled Y .. acted as temporary chairman. Mayor Cooper welcomed and extended the hospitalities of the city to the commissioners. Thurlow Weed was present, and his appearance was greeted with applause. On motion of Mr. Hunt, of Louisiana, a committee of five on credentials was appointed. Ex-Governor Hatten addressed the commissioners, and deprecated in the discussions all allusions to politics. Ex-Lieut. Governor Crawford, of Kansas, was the next speaker. He thought the commissioners should make the fair the greatest the world

Mr. Sperry, of Connecticut, was anxious to have the site at once decided on, as he thought the financial men of the city would then come forward with the necessary funds.

Richard Henry Lee, of Virginia, spoke of the peaceful effect that the exhibition would have upon the entire country when in the hearty grasp of the hand of fellowship all sectional helpless hands, and the sweet lips feeling would be forgotten. The Hon. Algernon Sullivan, representative of New York, addressed the commissioners at length. The report of the committee on credentials was received, and the roll called. Committees on by-laws and temporary organization were appointed. after which Samuel A. Haines, chairman of the committee on the site presented a long report, and a special committee of twelve was appointed to visit the localities mentioned in that report. A letter was read from Gen. Hancock regretting his inability to attend, but assuring the commissioners of his interest in the undertaking.
