RUST IN WHEAT.

From the Monthly Report of the S. C. De partment of Agriculture.

The annual loss to our planters from this cause amounts to thousands of dollars, and any remedy for its prevention will be a great blessing to our State. The only preventive, so far found effective, seems to be in the drainage of the soil. The Commissioner of Agriculture for the United States says:

"Many preventives for rust in wheat have been, with more or less confidence, presented to the public but so far as we know, no sure and affective remedy has yet been found."

The Tennessee Commissioner

the only efficient preventive. Ap- farmers who have fruit houses dement in the cellular tissues. Rethan all the remedial agents."

Commissioner of Georgia says: no remedy that has proven effective. rich in humus, but well fertilized, turing varieties. The Bill Dallas' wheat has considerable reputation in this State as a hardy variety, resisting rust in ordinary seasons."

Prof. Shepard, Chemist for the South Carolina Department of Agriculture, enclosing the following from Morton's Cyclopedia of Agriculture says, "My own opinion is that there is a great choice in varieties of wheat for different climates, some doing well where others are liable to sicken; a high state of cultivation, producing very healthy plants, would seem to be the best preventive.

"Most cereals, and many pasture grasses, are subject to a disease which is known by the name rust, red gum, red rag, red robin, etc. It is more common on the leaves, on which it is visible in the form of orange colored, mealy spots, but it is by no means confined to them. As long as the leaves only are attacked, it is in general of little consequence to the farmer, but when it attacks the glumes and other parts of the inflorescent, as is the case more especially, in many fine wheats, it often becomes a serious evil. It is perhaps a consequence of the varieties of wheat cultivated on the Continent being more subject to be injured by rust that it is so much more dreaded abroad than with ourselves. We have, however, seen corn in gardens rendered entirely unproductive by it.

cies of fungus, known to botanists by the name of uredo rubiga vera, consisting of the fine myceloid threads running amongst the tissues, and giving rise to ovate, slightly echinulate spores. It has been questioned whether it is not in fact an early stage of the common wheat mildew, Puccinia graminis, but it seems now pretty well ascertained that this is not the case, though it is certain that uredo lineari is really the infant state of that fungus. Spores of rust may occasionally occur in the same spot with those of the puccinia, but it is well known that two species of uredo or two of puccinia sometimes grow together; and the case of the mildew of brambles and burnet in which parasites of considerable size belonging to the genera aregma and xenonochus grow intermixed edy is known against the attacks of rust. Like the wheat-mildew, it has at present at least, baffled eve- whites of eggs quickly put in a ry attempt. Rank manures cer- pinch of salt. The cooler the eggs

Dr. St. Julien Ravenel says: "In reply to your enquiry about rust in wheat, I can only say, that on the sandy soil near Charleston, prepared for the grain by cow-peas and ash element, we have sown several varieties, and all have escaped rust for four years. How it may be on clay land, I cannot say."

We will be glad to obtain any information upon this important subject, as to remedies used successfully, or with partial success, also in regard to the preparation of the soil, fertilizers used, or any information that will aid in finding a preventive of rust.

HARVESTING APPLES .- Hand-picking should always be the rule with winter apples. Varieties that ripen irregularly ought to be gathered accordingly. Generally speaking, the later sorts should be left on the tree until late, so as to give them opportunity to fully color up.

Before picking is begun it is well to have a suitable place prepared in the orchard or near at hand for the temporary storing of the apples, unless there be two sets of hands for sorting and packing as fast as the fruit is gathered. Apples keep longest if free from atmospheric moisture when taken from the tree. Small baskets holding half a bushel each and suspended from a hook on the ladder are more convenient and less liable to bruise the fruit than bags.

Once gathered, the apples should be securely protected from sun and "Thorough drainage of the soil is storms until they are sorted. freeze. Salting should be deferred till the meat is ripe. The fat of pork only should be salted, the lean should be used for sausage meat. Pack pork in clean barrels on the edge, first scattering on the bottom a few handfuls of salt, then again upon every layer, packing very close, and when all is packed in pour on a brine made by dissolving salt in hot water. Be sure to cover the pork and place a board upon it, and a weight upon the board, to keep all in place. When a piece is removed, be sure that the remainder tightly pressed down. For curing hams use six gallons of water, nine pounds of salt, two pounds of sugar, one quart of molasses, four ounces of saltpeter, two ounces of saleratus, for 100 pounds of meat. First cover the hams with salt and let them lie a couple of days, flesh side up, then pack them close in barrels and pour upon them the brine above described. For small hams three weeks would be long enough to "The rust is produced by a spe stay in the brine, but if large ones let them remain six weeks. Then take them out, dry them, but do not allow them to freeze. When properly drained smoke them. The brine must not of course be applied to the meat until it is per-

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW. FROM REV. P. N. GRANGER, Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.
Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents: In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I nut him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming. I thim on the rolad he grew worst, which is not that a ringbone was forming. I beured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure d with less than a bottle cured him so at he is not lame, neither can the bunch found. Respectfully yours,

P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 18th.

B. J. Kendall & Co., Genrs: In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spayins with 'Kendall's Spayin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spayin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Acme, Michigan, December 28th, 1879. B. J. KENDALL & Co., GENTS: I sent you one dellar for your "Kendall's Spavin Cure" last summer which cured a bone spavir with half a bottle. The best liniment I ever used. Yours respectfully, HOMER HOME.

STATEMENT MADE UNDER OATH. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.-In the year To Whom It May Concern.—In the year 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure, a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendall's Spavin Care.
