LET US HAVE SLEEP.

How to Rid Your Sleeping Apartments (f Mosquitoes.

A writer in Harper's Bazar speaks

as follows of the value of "Persian Camomile" in exterminating flies, mosquitoes and other wandering wayfarers that interfere with the peace and comfort of humanity: The Pyrethrum roseum, of "Persian Camomile," is the powdered leaf of a harmless flower growing in Caucassian Asia in great profusion, where for centuries it has been used to rid the natives of unwelcome guests from the insect world. It can be purchased of almost any druggist, at about seventy cents per pound, already prepared for With a finely powdered dust made from these flowers, the mosquito, the house fly, the wicked flea, and the disgusting Cimex lectularius may all be promptly put to flight or calmly murdered-a murder conferring on the human heart a joy too deep for words ; for certainly it is a joy to sit, as I do now, at my writing table this hot night, watching the expiring agonies of sting to warn one of their presence. In order to enjoy this vengeful, delicious sport, it is only necessary to heap up in a little cone, one teaspoonful of the blessed drug pyrethrum, touch it with a lighted match, and watch the thin, blue line of smoke as it rises to the ceiling and is wafted through the air, changing the busy drone of insect life into a weak wail of insect woe. Pretty soon down they come plump on to the table, and over your paper, spin on their tiny backs, and then sheath their lancets, curl up their hair-like legs, and interest one no more.

insects, and rarely feel a retributive

Up-stairs our little ones sleep unmolested, though there are thousands of mosquitoes in the room the pests are sick unto death, and cling sadly to the walls, too feeble to think of tapping the rich, warm blood that glows in ruddy little limbs just below; the fume of the pyrethrum has settled their business, and while it lingers in the room, outsiders are unwilling to make an entry, though the windows are raised and the lattices only half

Gauze bars were long since ban ished from our beds; indeed, we have not used them for nearly seven years. They are hot, stuffy things at best, and one must be sadly driven to attempt to sleep under such a cover; then, as we know, the mosquito always finds his way through, no matter how carefully one may tuck up his folds about

Smoke from the Persian Camo mile, or its dusty powder, we have found most efficacious, and your readers will bless me when once they try it. The purity of the drug must be assured. This can readily be tested: It must have a bright buff color, be light, readily burned, and give pleasant tea-like fragrance; one pinch should kill a inflamed and conjested, and the dozen flies, confined in a bottle, at nervous system prostrated. rooms, where from great dilution it head about violently. Mild cases fails to kill, it nevertheless produces on insect life, through its volatilized essential oil or resin, undoubted nausea, vertigo, respiratory spasm, and paralysis. It acts upon them through the minute spiracles, the breathing tubes, that stud the surface of their little bodies, and form the delicate net-work of veins in their tiny wings.

To human beings it is, so far as I can ascertain, entirely innoxious and not disagreeable. That we-a family of eight persons, infants and adults—have lived in an atmosphere of pyrethrum dust and smoke combined, during this present summer, is sufficient proof of my statement.

To the skeptic I recommend an interesting experiment: Pull the pyrethrum into a close, warm room, and the bottom of laying nests where flies most love to swarm just once a month in winter, once a after dark, shut the door, and make 'week in summer, with kerosene.

nother visit in thirty minutes. The sight of seeming millions of dead and squirming vermin on the floor will do his heart good-that is, if he is human and not an angel.

Having drafted our plan of battle against these little foes, it becomes proper to speak of the care of the wounded. To cure mosquito stings, I know of nothing better than a twenty per cent. solution, in ither oil or water, of pure carbolic acid. This is to be rubbed well on the painful spot. To bathe one's tingling hands and smarting limbs with this solution, gives a cooling, grateful sensation that is hard to describe. Carbolic soap will do almost as well, or an ointment compounded of carbol, camphor and cosmoline.

Whatever preparation may be selected-and perhaps the simplest is the best-in the carbol lies all the virtue, because of its localizing anæsthetic action on terminal nerves, loops and fibres. Carbol. however, has no power, that I am aware of, to drive mosquitoes away, and its careless use in large quantities might be dangerous.

Brisket of Beef .- The joint should never exceed more than seven pounds to eight pounds. For small party it should be nicely trimmed and made a bright brown either by half roasting before the fire or placing a sufficient time in a proper oven. The stewing process should be very gradual. Use filtered water and fresh vegetables-carrots, button onions, turnips, celery leaves or, failing these, celery seeds. And do not forget one tablespoonful of brown sugar, and salt of course; but the sugar improves the general flavor wonderfully. For the gravy thicken and brown a little of the stock the meat has been stewed in Add one teaspoonful of Indian soy ; pour round the dish with the vegetables cut in tidy shapes. CURE FOR A KICKING COW .- A COT respondent of the Western Stock Tournal says he once had a valuable heifer which was an exceedingly vicious kicker. To cure her of the habit he took a common garden hoe and passed the hoe end in front of her off hind leg and behind and above the gambrel joint of the nigh hind leg. Then sitting down on the right to milk, he put the handle of the hoe well up under his arm and began milking. The heifer could not stir either hind leg, and after one week she could be milked safely without fettering, and proved to be a valuable and

PLOUGHING CORN STUBBLE.—All ploughing under or otherwise disposing of rubbish from gathered crops should be done during September and October. If roots are order. The more that will take pictures to be grown next season where corn stubble is to be ploughed under let it be done deeply and all the stubble well covered. Root culture requires good farming, and rough, uneven ploughing, with loose corn stubs on the surface, is not good farming. A well ploughed corn stubble may be worked with the disk harrow in the spring and well fitted for roots, which are preferable to oats to fol-

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

FROM REV. P. N. GRANGER, Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District. St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880. DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents: In reply with Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch

Respectfully yours.
P. N. GRANGER. PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 16th, 1880. B. J. Kennall & Co., Gents: In justice to you and myself. I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very arge one, don't know how long the spavin and been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch be seen or felt. This is a wonderful med icine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its sale will be very great. Respectfully yours, Chas. E. Parker.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE, Acme, Michigan, December 28th, 1879. B. J. KENDALL & Co., GENTS: I sent you one dollar for your "Kendall's Spavin Cure" last summer which cured a bone spavin with half a bottle. The best liniment I ever f a bottle. The best Yours respectfully, HOMER HOME.

STATEMENT MADE UNDER GATH. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.-In the year oone spavin of several months' growth detely stopped the lameness and removed he enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendall's Spavin Cure. Enosburgh Falls, Vt., Feb. 25, 1879.

Patten's Mills, Washington Co., N. Y., Feb. 21, 1878. B. J. KENDALL, M. D.: Dear Sir-The par-Cure" was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months' standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your "Spavin Cure" put the foot to the ground again, and, for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excels anything we ever used.

Yours truly, REV. M. P. BELL, Pastor M. E. Church, Patten's Mills, N. Y. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its etfects, mild in its action as it does not blister. yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and vet certain in its effects. Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues.
