CHAPPED HANDS .- The raw winds of late autumn often produce in the hands of those who are much exposed to them that roughness and cracking of the skin known as chapping. If nothing is done to prevent, and the person is obliged to have his hands frequently wet and dried, the cracks will often get deep and be painful. Corn husking is frequently accompanied by sore hands from this cause. As both a precaution and cure for chapped hands we have used the following with bene-it: Wash the hands, and the face this mixture can be best applied at night, using it freely, and warming it in by the fire, after which an old

ABOUT BREEDS OF SHEEP.

The principal breeds of long wools are the Cotswolds, Leicesters, and Lincolns. These are all known, distinct and hardy breeds, prized for superiority and distinctive merits, but combining some good qualities in common. We give the following description of each, brief, plain and to the point, omitting cumbersome details and minutis.

The Cotswolds are a hornless white face, white legged, long slightly crisped or wavey wooled breed.
