OVER-WORK AMONG WO-MEN.

One way in which women are over worked by their own fault-a sin of ignorance frequently-is in the use of foolish clothing. We are all more or less in bondage here. for woman's dress is radically wrong. It is a weight and a hindrance everywhere. Clothing devised to suit the needs of the human body would be much more easily made and taken care of, and it would give a woman freer movement, greater ease and comfort about her work and play, and would be an aid to good health rather than, as now, a drag upon her strength. But a genuine reform cannot be made by any one woman, for it awaits the development of public opinion. But cannot we all lend a hand here, and say on all proper occasions, that woman's dress is absurd, and inconvenient, and unhealthful, and that we wish for something better? Most of us can put less work and care upon our trimmings, and none of us need wear a trained skirt, or one that touches the floor. We may all wear loose and warm clothing, and bear the weight upon our shoulders rather than over the hips. Various female weaknesses are supposed to be caused by active labor by much standing upon the feet, by much climbing of stairs in the pursuit of one's daily industry. They may be aggravated by these causes after they have been once induced, but I have serious doubts whether these weaknesses are often really attributable to the causes above named. Corsets and heavy skirts are the real offenders. It is usually the case that the same work might have been done-the standing and the climbing—had the muscles of thebody, both external and internal, been left free and unweighted by the clothing. How many feathersweight are added to her burden of toil and worry by a woman's long skirts, as she goes about her work in-doors and out, upstairs and down, around the kitchen fire, or cleaning the floors in an unsuitable dress ?- American Agriculturist for March.

REMEDY FOR THE MAGGOT OF THE CABBAGE FLY.-Mr. H. M. Cowles, Hartford Co., Ct., writes: 'I see by an article in the Dec. number of the American Agriculturist that Biselphide of Carbon is recommended for the Cabbage Fly. How is it applied?' The use of Bisulphide of Carbon is not only to be recommended for the cabbagemaggot, but also for the squashborer, and other subterranean insects. It would serve admirably to destroy ants when we can find their hills. To apply the liquid, we have only to make a small hole, by use of a cane or other small rod, close beside the plant to a depth of two or three inches, then pour into the hole a half teaspoonful of the fluid, and quickly cover the same by fill- be the best for many years. ing the hole with earth, and pressing it down with the foot. The same operation in the middle of an ant hill will quickly destroy the ants if they are in the galleries of $5 to buy beer. They were conthe hill. All should remember that Bisulphide of Carbon and also its they had supposed him to be. vapor, are very inflammable, and should always be used with great care.-American Agriculturist for

Atlanta, Ga. shows that careful observation of the sick is the only clew to the best dietary. Chemistry has, as yet, afforded little insight into the dieting of the sick. All that chemistry can tell us is the amount of 'carboniferous' or 'nitrogenous' elements discoverable in different dietetic articles. In the great majority of cases, the stomach of the patient is guided by other principles of selection than merely the amount of carbon or nitrogen in the diet. No doubt in this, as in othes things, nature has very definite rules for her guidance, but these rules can only be ascertained
