THE FIRST CALF.

It is often the case, when a heifer has her first calf, that the farmer thinks she will not give more milk the Army of Northern Virginia." than will keep her calf in good condition, and lets them run together to teach her the mystery of being milked when she has her next calf. In this decision there are two mis- cuting the murderers. takes that go far to spoil the cow for future usefulness. Cows are is new and strange to them, and preach the dedication sermon. they readily submit to be milked, and think it all right; but suffer them to run with the calf the first season, and a vicious habit is established that they will hardly forget in a lifetime. If they ever submit to be milked quietly, it is evidently under protest. But there is a greater objection than this. The calf running with the cows draws the milk every hour or two, so that the milk vessels are at no time distended with milk, though the quantity secreted in a given time may be large. But this is the natural time to distend the milk ducts and expand the udder to a good capacity for holding milk. When, with her next calf, you require the milk to be retained twelve hours, the udder becomes hard and painful, and the milk leaks from the teats, or more likely, nature accommodates the quantity of the milk secreted to the capacity to retain it, and the cow becomes permanently a small milker. Much of the future character of a cow, therefore depends on her treatment with her $5,000 or upward. first calf.

To MAKE POSTS DURABLE .- J. C. Johnson, Ohio. The "kyanizing" process you inquire about, is not practicable on the ordinary farm. The following is simple and effective: Burn the part of the posts to be set in the ground including the bottom end, just enough to leave a thin layer of charcoal all over the surface, and then dip them in hot tar or asphalt. 'i'e charcoal is indestructible by air and moisture; the tar or the asphalt fills the cracks and interstices, and thoroughly protects the interior wood. obtainable in any large city, costs A barrel of tar of asphalt is readily but little, and will furnish a dip for several hundred posts. The heating can be done in any large ring can be done by building a large fire of waste brushwood and putting on the posts, turning them to prevent too deep burning in one place. Ordinarily the cost of labor and material need not be over 2 to 4 cents a post, while such preparation will three or fourfold their real value. As posts decay soonest just at the ground surface, 'between wind and water,' as the sailors say, it is best to have the costing extend half a foot it. above ground, and where looks are of no account, the whole post may be similarly treated, which will make them almost indestructible by decay .- American Agriculturist for May.

KEEPING CREAM-MIXING MILE .-If it should be necessary to hold cream longer than desirable to accumulate a churning, Prof. Arnold says a common teaspoonful of borax during his period of bachelorhood, and saltpeter, in equal parts, pulverized and dissolved, and well stirred into a gallon of cream, will very much prolong its keeping and the churning easier.

It takes longer to churn the cream from a cow when farrow that most of it will be left with the he fired and killed her. buttermilk. When the milking season is well advanced the differwith better advantage.

SIMPLE PROTECTIVE AGAINST EPIDEMICS .- Those who are at all afraid of epidemic diseases may feel comforted on hearing that one of the best protective measures they can resort to is a very simple one-the use of soap and water: An eminent physician

It is worth while for common people to learn that 50,000 typhus germs will thrive in the circumference of a pin head or a visible plobule. It is worth while for them to note that these germs may be dessicated and be borne like thistle seeds everywhere, and like demoniacal possessions, may jump noiselessly down any throat. But there are certain things spores cannot stand, according to the latest ascertained results of science. A water temperature of 120 degrees boils them to death, and soap chemically poisons them. # MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored! Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of Spermatorreach or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotences, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotences, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotences, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Firs, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c. The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming copisequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culof every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, a any address post-paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps.
