INSECTS ON GURDEN VEG-ETABLES.

In some localities one or more of the Cabbage Worms is still troublesome. The most common of these are the caterpillars of medium sized butterflies, the wings of which are white, with a few black spots; there are three distinct species, but all are similar in their habits. Wherever these butterflies are seen flitting about over the cabbage and cauliflower plants, trouble from 'worms' may soon be expected. Safety consists in attacking them early. Some worms eat into the forming head, and when they have thus hidden, nothing can be done. In small gardens, handpicking will answer, but where there are many cabbages, this is not practicable. The Persian Insect Powder, the Pyrethrum, is the best, and a safe application (see article on its use on page 252.) In former volumes we have given the experience of those who have successfully used hot water, to reach the plant at the temperature of 160°. There are in some localities cabbage worms which come from other butterflies, but they are to be treated in the same manner. The large green caterpillar, of the 5spotted Sphinx, known as the 'Tomato Worm,' is most destructive ; it will soon leave nothing but bare stems upon a tomato plant, eating the green fruit as well as the leaves. When the tomatoes are supported by some kind of a trellis, an they always should be in a garden, worms may be detected by the quanfound upon the ground. Where these are seen, the worm should be sought for. Stems without leaves also indicate its presence. When type. not eating, it will be found close to may escape notice. The 'worms' with them. In spite of the horn at the tail-end, they can neither sting nor bite. Frequently one of these will be found with its body nearly covered with small egg shaped white cocoons, often mistaken for eggs. Worms with these should not be destroyed, as they are too weak to do much damage, and the parasitic insects should have time to leave these cocoons, as they are our friends, and should be en-

Having Taught this Method in the North with Unparalleled Success; also in Greenville, S. C., now Offers her Services and the Method to the CITIZENS OF NEWBEER'S AND VICINITY.

AS It is impossible to set forth ALL THE ADVANTAGES this Method has over the Old System, in an Advertisement, but invite all interested to Call at the Studio, or Send IT SAVES TIME AND MONEY. It is so Simple that even a Child of Five Years ca understand it.

It does away with years of drudgery.

It takes the Pupil almost immediately into the Science of Musical Compositions, and continues the same throughout the whole Course of Instruction.

It is not a superficial method, but applies to all Music precisely as it is written, without any change whatever.

It commends itself at once to the educated class of the community.

This Method is entirely different from the Old System.

An opportunity is offered to all to gain a Musical Education in a short time and for Less Expense than ever before.

Many of my Pupils in the South are now successfully Teaching this Method, which was gained at a nominal expense, while my expense for Tuition alone was FOUR DOLLARS per Lesson.

This Method fulfils the maxim that "Whatever shortens the road to learning, lengthens life and increases usefulness." Terms. 50 cts. Per Lesson.

Election is Over. Now go and hear the votes counted at CLARK'S GALLERY, where the finest Art Works that have ever been exhibited in Newberry, are on exhibition. And while there sit for your picture, and take to your homes some of their superior photographs. We warn you that delays are dangerous: go ere it is too late. Mr. W. H. Clark feels confident, after an experience of fifteen years, that he can produce a class of work that will please and give perfect satisfaction.

Copying old pictures and enlarging to any desired side, also reducing to the smallest, a specialty.

For style and quality of work, refers to the editor of this paper. CLARK BRO'S.

How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of Dr. Colverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of Stermatorres or Seminal Westness, Involuntary Seffinal Losses, Introduction and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Con-SUMPTION, EPILERSY and FITS, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c. The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarm years successful practice, that the angle ing consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which, every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself-abuse and condition may be may cure himself-abuse may be radically abuse and condition may be may cure himself-abuse may be radically abuse may be rad what his condition may be, may care made all self cheapity, privately, and radically.
