An earnest request is made that each Association be represented. Reduced fare on the rail roads will be had, and the names of Delegates going must be sent to Dr. A. A. Moore, Camden.

The Celestial Symbol.

We have received from J. C. McCurdy & Co., of Philadelphia, a copy of The Celestial Symbol, by Herbert W. Morris, D. D., author of "Science and the Bible." The work is one of more than ordinary interest and attraction. The learned author reasons by anale gy from the sun of the physical universe to the Sun of Righteousness The work covers an interesting field, and is adorned throughout with the varied learning and ripe scholarship that have made the former treatises of the author justly popular.

Prosperity High School.

The annual commencement of the Prosperity High School will come off Thursday, June the 7th. The exercises will occupy the whole day, commencing in the morning with the Primary Department, under the management of Miss Steck, at the school building and winding up at night with the commencement proper, in Grace church. The exercises promise to be varied and interesting consisting in the main, of day afternoon, in the family burial essays, orations, recitations, a debate and music. Every effort is being made to make the occasion a pleasant one, and no pains will be spared to accom modate those who may attend. All who feel an interest in such matters, are specially invited to attend.

School Celebrations.

On Friday night last the Sunday school children of the colored metholist church, entertained themselves and a large audience at the Hoge school house. It was a very creditable and entertaining celebration, and the audience was well pleased with the marked signs of religious instruction on the part of the children.

On Saturday we attended Jesse Brook's school pic nic near Dr. G. W. Glenn's residence, eight miles from town, and were gratified with the admirable delivery of the many declamations by his bright pupils. After their little speeches, short addresses were made by the principal and others, all of which was appropriately followed by a splendid dinner. This school has an attendance of sixty, with a roll of ninety.

An Embargo.

Some time ago a contract was made between the County Commissioners and Mr. J. F. Oxner, by which he was to receive a stipulated sum, monthly, for putting the traveling public of Newberry, across Enoree River, till the completion of Brazelman's Bridge. That's chapter one. Last week Mr. Robt. Moorman's hands and wagon failed to cross the river, on their way home from Newberry; for the very ex-cellent reason that the flat was locked. Messrs. Oxner and Moorman do not stand in the same friendly relation into which we have brought their names in the rescue with a pronunciamento reminding Mr. O. of the terms of his contract. Chapter three. It is not necessary for us to tell Mr. O. that he is in a fair way to get no compensation. Chapter four.

The Factory. Mr. Green, mill engineer, of Providence, R. I., was in town from last Saturday until Tuesday, on business relating to the factory. We had the pleasure of seeing a drawing of the front (side) elevation of the building. The building will be 204 by 100 feet, and will be three stories high; the first and second stories 15 feet each, and the third 16½ feet high. The looms will be on the first floor; the eards, on the second; and the spindles, on the third. The side facing the railroad per vivant "Loti," atque voluptati aliwill contain three rows of large windows, fifty-two in all, and two doors. Lowman, Miss M M Nance, Miss Hanna ny (2) THE HERALD ANNEX.

On Friday morning last the proprietor of the HERALD issued gilt edged cards of invitation to his friends, of the annex to the building in which work is printed, and the response was where a chair, stool, or box, could be insinuated. The large imposing stone seated, the beautiful goblets-kindly loaned for the occasion, by Mr, W. T. guest. The object of the meeting being asked by the chairman, Mr. T. S. a financial strait, superinduced by the great expense of building the annex, and that he had adopted the idea of calling the wealthy and influential citizens together, and appealing to their sympathy for aid. The explanation had a dampening effect for a moment, involuntarily however, a large number of hands sought pockets, while a few seemed ready to render assistance to the embarrassed proprietor, with his elephantine annex. It took another moment only to show that the proprietor had perpetrated a dry joke, and as the company were pretty dry by this time, they sipped from their glasses, and then commenced a delightful season of generous sentiment, a feast of reason and a flow of soul, the proprietor and his pet, the HERALD, receiving many compliments and earnest wishes for its prosperity and continued success. Short and witty speeches were made by Messrs. T. S. Moorman, Silas Johntone, W. H. Hunt, Revs. Smart and Holland, and J. O. Peoples, L. Simkins, C. H. Suber, N. B. Mazyek, Dr. S. Pope, G. G. Sale, D. O. Herbert, J. K. Goggans, R. W. Boone, and W. T. Tarrant, even our faithful colored attache, Hart Caldwell, who for ten years has turned the wheel which grinds out the news, put a spoke in the convivial wheel. Sundry responses were made by the grati-fied proprietor. If the HERALD reali-zes one hundreth part of the kind wishes expressed on this occasion, it will spread into the proportions of the Green Bay Tree. The whole affair was

It was in the delicious month of April, 1862, that the old 13th Regt., S. C. V., under command of the gallant Edwards was stationed at Green Pond in this State. The boys were hungry to be led into the deadly breech-and for Soldiers are proverbially hunrations. gry. Co. Hunt hearing of a comstore houses were running over, and who was reputed, strange to say, to be erate with money in his pocket, detailed Private Sparks and myself, with a two horse wagon to go for him, and we went. S. drove. An early start was made, the morning air delicious, and freighted with the scent of the vellow jessamine which clambered in profusion over tree and shrub in every lirection. We two became confidential, we spoke of love's young dream, a subject as dear to a Confederate heart as rations to his stomach. In this way we journeyed, filled with past bliss, and the hope of something to eat, before night spread her sable mantle over nature's loveliness, and enveloped two weary, hungry soldiers in gloom. length but long before it was looked or, the house, of which a description had been furnished us, appeared in sight. The approach to the house was brough a long avenue, deeply shaded, t was a restful, hopeful place, visions of cookeries floated before our mental vision, we felt the generous biscuit to have this distinguished artist paint and the savory roast, and the soul subduing pie, following each other down our throats, and meandering about seeking appropriate space in the spa-cious void below. I suggested to my companion, as my coat had less grease spots than his own, and furthermore and more buttons, and I could better hide the soiled linen, which was displayed by both, that he remain to mind the team while I went in to reconnoiter. With elastic step I neared the house, ascended the steps, and saw a charming woman tripping lightly thro the spacious passage. There has ever een an affinity between me and woman, we therefore lessened the space between us, we drew closer, her bright, penetrating eye quickly discovered in the greasy soldier, the immortal, long lost Sniffles, who though lost to sight, to memory was still dear. I pass over the exstatic joy of that meeting. The last time I saw her she was a little ten year old girl, in the rose bud period, and now a charmingly developed, full blown rose of a woman. The thought of that meeting comes over me now with a deliciousness which requires too many words to express, is it any wonder then, that as she led me gracefully into the parlor, I forgot Sparks and the wagon. In the parlor were other girls, and it being spring time, they were lovely in muslin and ribbon. My heart melted, my eyes suffused, my stomach had long since collapsed. asked for music, and got "Polly put the kettle on," and "Uncle Ned," and when they came to "he had to let the corn cake be," the girls saw that I was overcome with emotion, not knowing hat it was produced from hunger, and their allusions to tea and corn cake. The character of the music was changed. I revived, minutes flew on golden wings, they grew into hours. The un-nistakable sounds which precede the approach of dinner, struck my tympanum, made by the rattle of knives and forks, the clatter of plates, followed y savory smells of roast, boil and fry felt transported, I floated through the seventh heaven. I thought of woman as a ministering angel, and all this time Sparks was out in the sun, the vital spark may have fled, while I was sparking inside, under the combined nfluence of woman, muslin, and sweet it seemed like the soft peals of a convent chime, I could not resist it, I was again. always susceptible, and easily led-to dinner. The office, in fact, was filled, seats being arranged down the main aisle, between the compositors' stands, around the imposing stones, and in every nook and corner served appropriately as the table upon which were spread the refreshments. All being comfortably and quietly Tarrant-were filled and passed to each Moorman, the proprietor arose, and in tremulous tones, stated that he was in

BRANDRETH'S PILLS. They are compounded of Roots, Herbs and the blood of all impurities—acting on the Liver, Kidneys and other important organs,

A Perfect Remedy in 20 Diseases. I am verging on eighty years, and deem it my duty to suffering humanity to say that my long life is due to Brandreth's Pills which have been my sole medicine for half a century. I know the last forty-three years of my life is owing solely to their use. Your PILLS saved me many times after the best medical skill in several States had given me up as hopeless. I have had many converts to purgation with BRANDRETH'S PILLS, and here seen them perform almost miracles of have seen them perform almost miracles of cure. For children, a few doses have cured measles, scarlet fever, and whooping cough. In all female troubles and weakness I have never known them to fail. In adult males I have known them to cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney diseases, dys-

The members of the Lotus Club appreciate the importance of social pleas ures, and understand the art of pleasing, as well; studying for the pleastures of a picnic, but it must be admitted that it did not suffer by being peculiar to itself-a picnic of its own kind. The lawn was beautifully illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and refreshments consisting of cake and ice cream, were served out of doors. Within, however, were gladness and gayey-and the soul drank in sweet delights. The Loti were as attentive as Gallantry's own self, the ladies radiant the down that swells the cygnet's nest," "looked love to eyes that spoke again."
