

THE KEOWEE COURIER.

HOW TO RAISE ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEEN BUSHELS OF CORN TO THE ACRE.—A correspondent of the Michigan Farmer says: "Through the medium of your valuable monthly visitor, I will give the readers of the Farmer the method by which I raise one hundred and nineteen bushels of corn on one acre of ground. The piece of land under consideration had lain in meadow some twenty years; it was ploughed in the fall, and planted to corn the next spring; after the crop was harvested, one acre was measured off from one corner, and some forty loads of manure drawn on. The following spring this was spread and ploughed in after the same method. Just before seed time, it was furrowed five feet between the furrows. These furrows were then filled with manure, and a furrow turned from each side, on the manure forming a ridge. On this ridge the corn was planted in drills, two rows on each ridge, about ten inches apart and the drills (one kernel in each) about the same distance. This was the small eight rowed variety of corn and five feet between the rows gave a fine chance for light and solar heat; every stock set for two ears, but a severe drought came on just before the ear began to form, and a great majority of the stocks only produced one ear. The drought, doubtless, was more severe upon it by reason of the great amount of manure. It was the opinion of many good judges that examined it before harvesting, that, had it not been for the injury sustained by the drought, it would have yielded one hundred and fifty bushels to the acre; as it was, I obtained one hundred and nineteen bushels and some quarts. The labor of planting, (with the hoe,) hoeing and harvesting, was about the same as three acres raised in the ordinary way; but then I had the crop of three acres, and the other two left for some other use.

Should any object to this method as being too tedious, let him remember that one hundred and nineteen bushels of corn cannot be raised without some labor and expense.—Farmer and mechanic.

Mount Vernon.—Rev. Mr. Pyne, in his address at the funeral of Gen. Taylor, suggested that Mount Vernon should be purchased by the Nation; and made the burial place of all the Presidents of the United States.

The Siamese Twins.—The report that the Siamese twins are dead, is contradicted. A letter from them has been received in this city, dated June 15th, at their residence in North Carolina, which said that they were both in good health and spirits, each having received an addition to his family.—Making Chang the father of five children, and Eng four.—Journal of Com.

Anecdote of Daniel Webster.—The Louisville Journal tells the following capital anecdote of Webster, in a letter from Washington: The best sport that has lately occurred here is the great Dan's. Nobody, indeed, unless sometimes Crittenden, is brighter more festive than grand Dan, when you get him into a hilarious mood. He was in an excellent humor, not long since, at a party at Secretary Ewing's and so, in sooth, were many others. Well, you remember the decisive name of "Solitude" which Ewing got, in former days, by one of his speeches; when the company was all in high glee, in the large saloon, black Dan came slowly and solemnly up to Ewing, where he stood, conspicuous to every body, and addressed him most earnestly in these lines, which Cowper puts into the mouth of Alexander Selkirk: "Oh, Solitude! where the charms That sages have seen in thy face!"

A Beautiful Incident.—It is stated that during the first days of the reign of Queen Victoria, then a girl between 19 and 20 years of age, some sentences for court-martial were presented for signature. One was death for desertion; and a soldier condemned to be shot, and his death warrant was presented to the Queen for her signature. She read it, paused, and looked up to the officer who had laid it before her, and said, "Have you nothing to say in behalf of this man?" "Nothing; he has deserted three times," said the officer. "Think again, my lord," was her reply. "And," said the gallant veteran, as he related the circumstances to his friends (for it was none other than the Duke of Wellington) seeing her Majesty so earnest about it, I said, he is certainly a bad soldier, but there was somebody who spoke to his good character, and he may be a good man for aught I know to the contrary." "Oh thank you a thousand times," with pardon in large characters on the fatal page, she sent it across the table, her hand trembling with eagerness and beautiful emotion.

Think well before you speak,—it will save much trouble.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK
FOR 1850.
'THE BOOK OF THE NATION'
The Oldest Magazine in America.
EDITED BY MRS. SARAH J. HALE.
COMPARISON BETWEEN GODEY AND THE OTHER PHILADELPHIA MONTHLIES.

In 1848, the Lady's Book gave 916 pages— which is 116 more than one, and 148 more than the other Philadelphia monthly. He gave 281 engravings—among which were 20 colored, and 93 full pages—which is 156 more than one, and 180 more than the other.

We give, in each number, a piece of music, printed separately on tinted paper, 24 pages, or twelve pieces in a year. To show the cheapness of the Lady's Book, this music, if bought separately at the music stores, would cost exactly the price of the whole year's subscription—$3.

Songs or other Peculiar Embellishments.—Ladies work table— which comprises every kind of needle-work, embroidery, knitting, netting, crochets, patterns for capes, chemisettes, children's clothes, wedding-dresses, in-door and out-door costumes; birds of America; colored flower plates; model cottages and furniture; fashionable do; lace-work; Vignette plates at the head of articles &c., &c. All the above are illustrated by engravings.

And, in 1850, will also be given a set of engravings, illustrative of the costumes, of all nations, with descriptions by Mrs. Hale. Most of the old features of the Book that were so popular last year, will be retained, and new ones added as they may suggest themselves to the publisher.

A NEW NOVEL BY W. GILLMORE SIMMS, Will be one of the features for 1850.

We have long stood at the head of the Magazine world for our contributions; they are always moral and instructive, and such as may be placed before a family without hesitation. This department is under the control of Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, whose name alone is a sufficient guarantee for the propriety of the Lady's Book. We may say the same of our engravings. We will never, as is done by a cotemporary, publish indecent model-art pictures, such as no parent would allow a child to look at.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for 1850 shall surpass that of 1849, and exceed all magazines, past, present, and to come.

TERMS: $3 a year in advance, postage paid.

The paper will not be exclusively political—but will embrace on its broad sheet the general news of the day, domestic and foreign, by mail and telegraph; commercial and agricultural news; literary and miscellaneous; original essays, literary and general interest, the collected aggregate of which constitutes the interesting and valuable Newspaper. Great care will be taken to give full and correct Report of the Proceedings and Debates in both Houses of Congress; as well as the action of the local Legislatures on the Southern question.

A limited number only of Advertisements will be received—the main object being to furnish a large amount of reading matter.

The paper will be printed on a sheet equal in size to those of the other Washington papers and the material will be procured especially for the purpose.

It is confidently hoped that every true friend to the South will aid in procuring subscribers, and forward the names, with the amount subscribed, to some Southern Representative at Washington, forthwith.
