SELECTED POETRY.

From the Southern Enterprise.
Last Request of a South Carolina Volunteer.
To my loved Carolina shore,
When I fall, take me home once more.

POLITICAL.

Deliverance to the South.
We find the following article in the last number of the Southern Recorder, Milledgeville:
The dealings of Providence with nations...

Above all, we believe that Heaven will deliver the South for the justice of our cause, and in answer to the many sincere petitions which have been offered by Southern Christians...

ELLSWORTH'S FIRE ZOUAVES.

The Richmond Examiner, speaking of the arrival of the wounded in this city, says:
Two cars in this train were appropriated to the transportation of wounded Yankees...

FROM THE KANAWHA VALLEY.

General Wise's Aids, Colonel S. D. McDevon, has just returned from Charleston, Kanawha. He reports that, on Tuesday, Captain Brock, of the Rookingham Co., together with Colonel Clarkson, and about three hundred of the enemy...

Hampton's Legion in the Fight.

We extract the following graphic account of the heroic conduct of Hampton's Legion in the great battle of Sunday, from the Richmond Examiner of Thursday. The statement is made by an officer who was in the thickest of the fight:
The infantry companies of the Legion joined the line of battle about 9 o'clock in the morning, having marched seven miles, after a hastily-scheduled breakfast...

Telegraphic News from all Quarters.

Richmond, July 26.—Hon. Robt. Toombs, having accepted President Davis' appointment of brigadier general, has resigned the office of Secretary of State, to be succeeded by Hon. R. M. Hunter.
Richmond, July 26.—The Bank Convention has adjourned, expressing an opinion in favor of the Government issuing $100,000,000 of treasury notes...

American Affairs Abroad.

The following collections are from late European papers:
THE ENGLISH PREMIER ON THE BATTLE OF BETHEL.—It is, however, believed that the Northern army, under command of Gen. Scott, amounts to sixty thousand men, and that the enemy has in the field a force which is supposed to range from seventy to ninety thousand men...

What Georgia Has Done and is Doing.

summing up the outpouring of troops from the State of Georgia, and the spirit still pervading that State to organize and send forth volunteers, the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle says:
Besides the Regiment of regulars, at Savannah, under command of Col. Charles J. Williams, Georgia has sent to the field ten regiments of volunteers under Col. Ramsey, Semmes, Wright, Doles, Jackson, Colquhoun, Gartrell, Brumby, Goulding, Anderson, three regiments independent volunteers (held officers appointed by the President) under Col. Farrow, Molans and Johnson of Kentucky...

Slavery to be Abolished in the Seceded States.

Senator Pomero's "bill to suppress the slaveholders' rebellion," after setting forth in a preamble, that slavery had culminated in a rebellion, and that the present war is being carried on to determine the question whether slavery shall be extinguished or not, adds, therefore, as a great military necessity:
Enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled, That from and after the passage of this act, there shall be no slavery or involuntary servitude in any of the States of this Union that claim to have seceded from the Government, and are in open armed resistance to the execution of the laws and the provisions of the constitution of the United States...
