A Fine Dwelling House.

Mr. S. N. Hughs has recently completed a handsome and modern two story dwell-ing house on the site of the old home-stead at Richland. The house contains eight elegant rooms and an abundance of halls and porches. It is both convenient and elegant in its appointments. And, then, just to think of it, Stiles is still a "bach," and the rise of thirty! But there is no use of the belies casting envious eyes toward the eaves, for Stiles is engaged—to his mother, as house-keeper, and they are moving in this week. It was in the old house formerly standing on this spot that as a wee to of six summers we went to our first school, and Mrs. Hughs was the teacher. Those were the drys of Webster's blue back spelling book, and happy days they were. But times and seasons change, and great are the vicissitudes of fortune. We unite with the many friends of Mrs. Hughs and her worthy youngest son, in congratulating them on this comfortable home. Regular Meeting County Commissioners. The County Commissioners of Ocon county met on Monday, the 13th of No-vember, 1'99, pursuant to the order of diournment on the 7th instant.

The accounts presented for the months of October and November, up to the time of meeting, were audited.

The only other business of importance ransacted was the letting of the con-ract for the building of a dwelling at the poor house, which was awarded to C. A. Burton for the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars.

This improvement has, for some time, been a necessity, and if the complaints of many of the best and most prominent adies of Walhalla are worthy of cre dence, then there are other improveme reeded. Cleanliness is cheap and is due to those unfortunate persons whose lots have placed them upon the charity of have placed them upon the charity of the county. They are poor and power-less to make their complaints heard, but they are entitled to clean, fair and just treatment at the hands of the county, and this the ladies of Walhaila say they have not had. On the contrery, their homes are dirty and uncomfortable.

No Black Bass for Chattooga.

Mr. W. G. Russell, who some time ago Mr. W. G. Russell, who some time ago obtained the contract to stock Chattooga river with black bass, has countermanded his order on the fish department on account of the use of dynamite in the river by parties who use this method of securing fish. There is no justification for this method of fishing, and it is sure to deplote the river supply of fish if not discontinued. Mr. Russell was very anxious, to stock the river with of fish if not discontinued. Mr. Russell was very anxious to stock the river with black bass and regrets very much that he has to abandon his plan, but he prefers the river unstocked rather than have the fish killed indiscriminately as soon as in the water. The stocking of Chattooga would have been a splendid thing, and we hope the use of dynamite will cease, so that it may yet be done.

Death of Mrs. Katura E. Keith. One by one we pass away, sometimes the young and then the aged, sometimes the vigorous, sometimes the old and deof the r. Sam-Religition and we shrink with terror from its folds. But in the case of one who has lived and labored for the good of others we find labored for the good of others we find consolation in the fact that they are not dead but sleepeth. On last Thursday, the 9th day of November, 1899, the soul of Mrs. Katura E. Keith, reliet of the late James M. Keith, took its flight to the realms of eternal light and peace. On Friday her bedy was laid to rest beside that of her deceased husband in the Walhalla Baptist cemetery. Mrs. Keith had lived near her four score years, the had lived near her four score years, the had lived near her four score years, the whole of which time was spent in usofulness doing good. With her husband she removed here from the County of Fairfield about the year 1870 and has since that time resided near Walhalla, where she died, leaving as many friends and as few enemies as usually falls to th lot of any one. She leaves two sons John J. Keith and Wm. O. Keith, and two daughters, Mrs. N. A. Burley and Mrs. W. W. Burley, and many grand-children, to mourn their sad loss. To her bereaved children, grand-children and neighbors and friends many hearts go out in sympathy.

"Jerry, the Tramp." The Walhalla Comedy Company appeared at its best last Wednesday night in the presentation of "Jerry, the Trace," It was undoubtedly one of the Trace," It was undoubtedly one of the best plays they have undertaken, and it was well presented. The Comedy Company's two "stars," Mr. R. Q. Morrick, as "Jerry," and Miss Nottie Gibson is "Miss France Lee," appeared in their respective roles as natural as reality iself, and carried out their parts with exceptional case and grace. The other members of the company, Misses Kete Bell and Julia ne company, Misses Kate Bell and Julia C. Maxwell, and Messrs. James F. Ansel and M. C. Scaborn, were at their best, and acquitted themselves admirably, showing a degree of ability of which they may well be proud. That the entertainment was heartily enjoyed by the large audience was demonstrated by the frequent encores with which the members of the company were greeted.
Misses Gibson and Bell and Messrs. Mer-Missos Gibson and Bell and Mossrs, Merrick and Ansel delighted the audience with vocal duets and solos. Taken as a whole, the play from beginning to end was without a flaw and was highly appreciated by those whose pleasure it was to witness it. The company has every reason to feel gratified with the result of its last appearance before the footlights. They were graciously received by a large audience, and will, beyond doubt, be welcomed with more than usual interest in their next appearance.

On last Friday morning, 10th instant, between one and three o'clock, eleven of the new street lamps in Walhaila were sinashed by licks struck with a stick and utterly destroyed. The private lamps of Dr. J. W. Bell and C. W. Pitchford Co. were also destroyed, thus making thirteen in all, an unlucky number for the offender or offenders. The work of destruction began at the West end of Main street, and one lamp after another was knocked out. It was not long, however, until Marshal W. J. Beck and posse were on the lookout for the offenders. Finally the lamp at the intersection of Tugaloo and Short streets, near the Episcopal church, was smashed, and the posse closed in upon the party from different directions, and came near laying hands on him before he got more than lifty yards away. He was recognized and by seven o'clock Friday morning warrants were sworn out before Mayor F. S. Holleman charging Tench C. Hunsinger with disorderly conduct, also before W. O. White, Magistrate, for malicious trespass in breaking lamps. On Monday morning warrants for the same offenses were taken for Bob Williams, a young negro man, who works for Hunsinger. The cases against them were called for trial Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock before Mayor Holleman. The defendant Hunsinger moved for a continuance on the ground of the absence of a matorial witness. The motion was granted and the trial of both cases before the Town Council was fixed for Saturday morning next at 16 o'clock. A warrant was also sworn out for T. An unoccupied tenant house on the farm of Mr. R. H. Dilworth, used to put cotton in as picked ft the field, was burned last Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock. About two bales of cotton, in the seed, belonging to Mr. Dilworth, were licked up by the flames.

Mrs. Mary Mason, the mother of Col. R. E. Mason, died at Homer, Ga., last Saturday, night, November 11th, at 9 o'clock, aged seventy-one years. Col. Mason was summoned to her bedside on Saturday, and reached there a few hours before her spirit took its llight. Mrs. Mason was a most estimable lady. She was known and exteemed by many people in Westminster, as she made her home here with her son for a number of years. She went to her old home in Goorgia in 1891 and sickness prevented her from ever returning. For the past four years she had been bed-ridden. Being a member of the Baptist church a long time and exemplifying her Christiau faith by her walk and conversation in 11fo, she was ripe for the kingdom of God. She leaves eight children and several grand and great grand children.
