A Pair of Tillmans.

In his campaign speech at Kershaw Col. Jim Tillman told the voters that he was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church.

When the campaigners reached Gaffney several of them got together on a hotel piazza and entered into a social conversation. An acquaintance turned to Col. Jim and twitted him about his claims to church membership.

"That is a fact," insisted Col. Jim. "I am a consistent member of the Presbyterian church."

Senator Tillman, who was sitting a few feet away, heard the remark, and, turning to his nephew, he asked:

"What makes you tell such a G—d—d—d—d as that, Jim?"—Yorkville Enquirer.

What is Militarism.

Defenders of the administration want to know what is militarism?

The answer is easy to find. Every time you stamp a telegram, a bank check or any other paper of value militarism sticks to the tongue. In one item we have a burden of hundreds of millions placed upon the public.

And that is only the beginning.

Poisonous toadstools resembling mushrooms have caused frequent deaths this year. Be sure to use only the genuine. Observe the same care when you ask for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. There are poisonous counterfeits. DeWitt's is the only original Witch Hazel Salve. It is a safe and certain cure for piles and all skin diseases. J. W. Bell.

Cotton Advancing.

Cotton is already selling for 10 cents in this market and there are good reasons to believe that there will be a still further advance in price. The single fact that there is in England than at any time since the civil war is sufficient to cause the price to advance, but when in addition to the abnormally small supply of old cotton in England, there is a short crop in this country and an increasing demand to supply home mills, the price cannot fail to remain high throughout the season. Cotton is to-day more valuable than it has been within 10 years and the market is advancing instead of declining as it was in 1890. There will be, of course, sharp fluctuations from time to time, throughout the season due to speculative influences, but the needs of the consumers will be the controlling factor in the determination of prices, and no permanent decline is possible until another and larger crop of cotton is made and marketed.—Sumter Watchman.

Three Wives and Thirty-Four Children.

RUTHERFORDTON, N. C., September 12.—Ari Carrier, a negro who resides in this town, is the father of 31 children, all but three of whom are living. He has been married four times and three of his wives are living. His last wife, who is living in this town, has 11 children; one wife was sold during slavery and taken to Georgia, and is now in Atlanta, another died and another is in South Carolina. Carrier is 89 years of age.

When to Stop Advertising.

An English journal requested a number of its largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the right time to stop advertising, and the following replies were received:

When the population ceases to multiply, and the generations that crowd on after you and never heard of you stop coming on.

When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than they can get anywhere else.

When others stop making fortunes right in your sight solely through the direct use of the mighty agent.

When you forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful men concerning the main causes of their prosperity.

When younger and fresher houses in your line cease starting up and using the newspapers in telling the people how each better they can do for them than you can.

When you would rather have your own way and fail than take advice and win.

An additional hint might be given in these words:

When you have decided to shut up shop for good.

The sweet potato crop is said to be exceedingly short this year in all sections of the South, and those who succeed in making a surplus above their own needs should be able to dispose of them at remunerative prices.

The most dainty and effective pills made are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are unequalled for all liver and bowel troubles. Never gripe. J. W. Bell.

The Up-Country and the Offices.

The State officers for the next two years commencing with January will come from the following counties:

The Governor from Hampton; the Lieutenant Governor from Edgefield; State Treasurer from Fairfield; Comptroller General from Horry; Superintendent of Education from Richland; Secretary of State from Colleton; Attorney General from Barnwell; Adjutant General from Kershaw; one Railroad Commissioner from Laurens.

The Piedmont section is rather conspicuous by its absence from the list. Perhaps the pendulum will swing back our way by the time of the next election.—Greenville News, September 14th.

The appointments to the scholarships to the Medical College in Charleston were announced last week. Gov. McWeney has made a departure in the matter of the appointments. One of his appointments is a young woman from Charleston, the first of her sex to be given an appointment to the Medical College of the State by any Governor. Her name is Miss Annabella K. Prentiss.

The Carnival to be held in Spartanburg seems to be on a fair road to success. The subscriptions for that purpose have already amounted to about $1,200 and they continue to come in.

Maps—South Carolina map—Rand, McNally Series of Maps.

The Governor and Superintendent of Education have been empowered and directed to fix the bonds of the companies.

Mr. McMahan has furnished the following information, which will be of special interest:

1. The adoption to expire July 1, 1906, after all schools are closed and just before they are opened. The present date of expiration is November 1, after most or all of the schools have begun and when, therefore, a change cannot be generally effected.
- (a). A change in the new books will not be forced until July 1, 1901. Hence the present school sessions may continue with the old books.
- (b). Exchange (reduced) prices for new books sold to pupils that have the old books will continue until November 15, 1901, after which time all the schools having opened and every pupil having had a chance to get rid of his old book, entire uniformity will prevail in the schools. (Section 3.)
2. Price to dealer is to be printed on each book. The county superintendent in the counties where there are county depositories (nearly all the counties) will retail the books at this price. The private dealer will add his profit. (Sections 4 and 5.)
3. During the period of adoption if an adopted book is sold or even offered for sale at a lower price anywhere in the world, that lowest price is to become the contract price in South Carolina. This is written in the old contract, but is required in most States that have recently made adoptions. Many of the books adopted in this State in 1893 for seven years are now sold elsewhere at lower prices, though we have been held to our contract price. By this clause in the new contract this State is at once assured of as low a rate as now prevails anywhere else. For instance, we are offered the prices lately accepted by Tennessee and Washington in their State adoptions. (Section 6.)

4. Books in the county depositories (sold at actual cost by the county superintendents) are to be taken up at cost by the publishers whose books are substituted. This is a protection of the school fund which by Act of the Legislature has been invested in books for sale at cost. (Section 3.)
5. Publishers pay freight and drayage on all books where as much as $25 worth is ordered at a time, and pay such transportation charges where the orders are as small as $10 worth, if ordered by county superintendents. This small limit was put because if the only books used from one publisher should be copy-books or algebras, dealers might have to order a small quantity and should not be required to pay the freight. It would not be just to the publisher, however, to allow a dealer to harass him with a $5 order on which the freight might more than equal the profit.

The limit in the old contract was $100 and many county superintendents have been compelled to pay the freight and add a few cents to the price of each book. (Sections 1 and 2.)

While some changes in histories have been demanded the patrons of the schools hardly expected that any other changes were necessary. The board, however, thought different, and every text book has been changed. Patrons will foot the bills, but will doubtless congratulate themselves that another change will not be made in several years.—Columbia Record, September 14th.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then either take the "ONYX" remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Bochee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but always inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try ONYX bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by J. H. Darby, Walhalla.

A Big Doctor Bill.

One of the handsomest fees ever paid a general practitioner in this country for services in a single case will be received by Dr. J. N. McCormack, of Bowling Green, for his attendance upon William Goebel after he was shot at Frankfort. Arthur Goebel, brother of the dead Governor, and his devisee under the will, has placed a claim against the estate of the late Governor Goebel for $10,000 for Dr. McCormack's services. William Goebel's great ambition was to be Governor of Kentucky. He and Dr. McCormack had long been close friends and when Goebel was shot Dr. McCormack was one of the first physicians to come to his assistance. The wound was a mortal one, but, realizing Goebel's ambition and knowing that if life could be prolonged a few days the Legislature would decide the contest, and that Goebel would probably be declared Governor, Dr. McCormack took every step known to science to stem the bleeding tide. Dr. McCormack used a salt solution to stay the flow of blood lost by hemorrhage. When Arthur Goebel arrived he requested Dr. McCormack to remain in Frankfort with his brother and not return to his practice in Bowling Green. The doctor willingly consented to do so and, until Goebel died he worked with him night and day.

DEATH OF JACKSON'S SURGEON.

Dr. Hunter McGuire Died in Richmond, Va., After a Long and Painful Illness.

RICHMOND, VA., September 19.—Dr. Hunter McGuire, the chief surgeon on Stonewall Jackson's staff, and one of the best known surgeons in the country, died here this morning at 10 o'clock. This eminent surgeon was stricken with paralysis about six months ago and never recovered.

Dr. McGuire entered the Confederate army as a private soldier, entering in a regiment in Jackson's brigade. He was assigned a place on the medical staff. A short time later he was made the head of the medical department of General Jackson's army and was present with that officer when he received his fatal wound near Guinea Station. He performed the operation made necessary thereby. Just before the outbreak of the war he was a student at the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, but as soon as it was recognized there was to be war he left for Virginia. Upon his arrival here, with a number of other students, McGuire was given a cordial reception by the local authorities.

Dr. Hunter McGuire was one of the most eminent surgeons in the South. He headed the movement which brought from Philadelphia to Richmond some 300 Southern medical students during the excitement incident to the John Brown raid; had filled the chair of surgery in the Medical College of Virginia and founded the University College of Medicine here. He was the author of several important medical works, had served in leading positions in medical and surgical organizations of the country and was chairman of the history committee of the Grand Camp of Virginia, Confederate Veterans.

The emergency bags sent by a church society to Kansas soldiers in the Philippines contained among the necessities a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, a well known cure for piles, injuries and skin diseases. The ladies took care to obtain the original DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve knowing that all the counterfeits are worthless. J. W. Bell.

Let Us Agree to Disagree.

ATLANTA, GA., September 19.—Atlanta Camp, No. 159, United Confederate Veterans, at its last meeting adopted a resolution, couched in strong language, taking exception to a resolution passed at the recent encampment at Chicago of the G. A. R. relative to Southern school histories. It was held by the G. A. R. resolution that many of the histories used by Southern school children gave a partisan view of the historical facts of the civil war.

After giving briefly several incidents in the war the resolution adopted by the Atlanta Camp concludes:

"In the language of the resolutions of the Grand Army we, of the South, also call upon all patriotic citizens to aid in banishing from our schools all books and teachings of a partisan, sectional or disloyal character, but we remind our fellow citizens of the Grand Army of the Republic that so long as the Northern schools are supplied with books that teach that the war between the States was organized rebellion, designed to destroy the Union; that Jefferson Davis was the arch traitor, (while John Brown was a hero and martyr); that Robert E. Lee, Aldert Sidney Johnston and Stonewall Jackson were guilty of treason; that Semmes, Tattnell, Buchanan and Waddell were wicked pirates, and the Southern armies were bands of rebels, the adoption of these resolutions by the Grand Army of the Republic is but a hollow farce.

"The resolutions themselves teem with partisan anger and misrepresentation. Whenever the unfair partisan books of the North are corrected and all evidences of hatred of the South eliminated therefrom it will then be time enough for our Grand Army friends to call for reform in the matter of Southern histories."

There is more cattiness in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and it therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75 cents. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

THE OLD MEN NOT FORGOTTEN.

The Legislative Halls Still to Have the Benefit of Their Wisdom.

A few days ago The Journal published an article showing that the young men had come to the front in a marked degree in the last election. It was shown that in several counties young men, many of them novices in politics, had won positions over old and experienced politicians. Especially for the Legislature was it the case that the new talent proved the most potent in the campaign. Particularly noticeable were the triumphs of E. L. Herndon, nominee for Senator in Oconee county, and Lewis Dorroh, nominee for the House in Greenville.

But the old men were not forgotten in the last election. Elderly men who were in politics before the war have been sent to the Legislature by handsome majorities. This is a most gratifying sign, because it is a recognition of approved worth, while no abiding backset to youthful ambition. As an instance, Capt. A. H. Dean was nominated for the House in Spartanburg.

Greenwood sends to the House, over his own protest, Capt. J. Hampton Brooks, one of the gentlemen of the old school, who still runs a plantation in the good old way. He is a brother of the noted Preston Brooks, a Congressman from this State, famous before the war and for whom hundreds of South Carolinians have been named. Col. Robert A. Thompson is a nominee from Oconee county. He was a legislator, Ordinary of Pickens District, and editor before the war and an almost constant participant in politics since. Hon. Wm. H. Parker, of Abbeville, is another member of the next House who was prominent in the old days. He was a Commissioner in Equity in the '50s and a member of the House in the '70s. In the politics of later years Capt. Brooks and Mr. Parker were Conservatives and Col. Thompson a Reformer. Mr. Parker is a prominent dispensary man.

It is a good sign to see the patriarchy conscripted to serve the people with the ripened experience of many years. They add dignity to the legislative councils and show that worth and faithfulness are appreciated by the people, and that factionalism is no more.—Spartanburg Journal.

What Governor Sayers Says.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, September 19.—Governor Sayers to-night wired the following statement to the Associated Press:

"The situation to-night in all parts of the stricken district, so far as known to me, is improved and will I believe, should we have fair weather, continue to improve. The method of distributing the benefactions of the people has become systematized and has been reduced to the lowest expense possible, and in this I have had the hearty and voluntary assistance of the railway, express, telegraph and telephone companies, all of whom have promptly and without charge transmitted supplies and messages, besides contributing to the relief of the sufferers. Galveston is being managed by its own municipal authorities, supplied by the assistance of committees composed of its best citizens and also by the aid of General Seoury. I am also informed that the United States Marshal, Dr. Grant, has rendered and is rendering most valuable aid.

The loss of life occasioned by the storm in Galveston and elsewhere on the Southern coast cannot be less than 12,000 lives, while the loss of property will probably aggregate $20,000,000. Notwithstanding this severe affliction, I have every confidence that the stricken districts will rapidly revive, and that Galveston will, from her present desolation and sorrow arise with renewed strength and vigor.

A Coal Panic in New York.

NEW YORK, September 19.—The coal merchants of this city and Brooklyn have decided that the price of stove coal of all grades from to-day on will be 87 per ton. This is an advance of $2 a ton with-in a week. Steam coal has advanced from $2.95 to $4.65 since Saturday. The object of the dealers in raising the price to $7 is to stop the people, who seem to have been seized with panic on account of the great strike, from buying. The coal men say they do not wish to become tied up with orders without knowing whether it will be possible to make a delivery. They now have a normal supply, which at the present time they cannot increase on account of the strike.
