Warren Smith Shot.

On Monday evening, about 8.30 o'clock, Messrs. Warren Smith and J. E. Dodson became involved in a row. During the evening Smith, who is a brother of the night watchman at the Walhalla Cotton Mills, went into the mill in order to get permission to take his brother's place for the night, and, it is claimed, interfered with the operatives by talking to various ones. He was ordered to leave by Dodson, who is overseer of the weave room, and on Smith's refusal to leave, forcibly ejected him. Dodson was in the store of Mr. J. I. Smith Monday night. Warren Smith walked in and cut at Dodson with a knife, making several rents in his clothing. Dodson drew a pistol and fired, the shot taking effect in Smith's face, to the left of the nose, and coming out at the back of the head. It was merely a flesh wound, however, the bullet striking a bone and traveling only a short distance under the skin. Smith was attended by Drs. Crawford and Sloan, and his wound is pronounced not serious. Warren Smith is not related to Jas. I. Smith, in whose store the shooting occurred.

A Beautiful Home Wedding.

Dr. C. T. J. Giles, of Piedmont, and Miss Nelle Walters, of Greenville, were married on the 6th instant. Dr. Giles is a native of Oconee, and his many friends in this county join The Courier in extending warmest congratulations. The Greenville News of the 7th instant gives the following account of the wedding:

"The residence of Mrs. A. M. Walters, in St. John's street, yesterday afternoon was the scene of a quiet, but unique and beautiful home wedding when her daughter, Miss Nelle Walters, was wedded to Dr. Chesley T. J. Giles, of Piedmont. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. G. Kendrick, pastor of the Baptist church of Piedmont.

"The parlor was decorated in the most tasteful manner with ivy, palms and chrysanthemums. In the corner where the wedding vows were pronounced was placed a bank of palms, intertwined with autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums, presenting a lovely background. Promptly at 4.40 o'clock the minister entered the parlor, followed by Miss Lyde Walters, sister of the bride, and Miss Emmie McGee. Then came the bride leaning on the arm of the groom, the party forming a semi-circle around the altar.

"There were only a few near friends and relatives present. Directly after the ceremony light refreshments were served. At 5.18 Mr. and Mrs. Giles left for Washington and other Eastern cities. After an absence of about ten days they will be at home to their friends at Piedmont.

Mrs. Giles is a beautiful and charming young lady and greatly admired by many friends who regret losing her from their midst. She is a full graduate of the Greenville Female College, a member of the class of 1897.

"Dr. Giles has been a resident of Piedmont for three years, and is well liked by those who know him. He is a graduate of the medical department of the University of Georgia, and is a splendid physician."

Pastor Pounded.

Westminster Times, November 7th: Last Tuesday evening the Baptist parsonage was the scene of a pleasant little episode. The occasion was one long to be remembered. Young and old members of the Baptist church had gathered there to "pound" pastor Rev. J. E. McManaway, each bearing something good with which to fill the pantry. There were some fifty participants, and, as a result, that reverend gentleman got the "real good pounding he deserves." Many of the young ladies "pounded" him. Several came in from the country to "pound" him. He may get another "pounding" at any time. That's right, give it to him, he ought to have it.

Arbor Day.

Friday, November 15th, is Arbor Day, a day which every school should make the occasion for special exercises to impress upon the minds of the children the worth and beauty of trees. On that day—or, if the necessary preparation cannot be made in time on a later day this month—the usual school work should be discontinued or abridged and appropriate instructive public exercises be held at an appointed hour for the profit and pleasure, not only of the children, but of the entire neighborhood. Let this be a time when the thoughts of all are quickened with interest in our fellow-beings and friends of the plant world. At the request of the State Superintendent of Education Miss Sarah Chandler, of the Spartanburg Graded Schools, has prepared a special programme for Arbor Day exercises in the public schools.—Greenville News.

News Around Seneca.

[Greenville News.]

Seneca, November 8.—Improvements on the mineral springs are nearing completion, and the work, when finished, will reflect much credit upon the young men's league, under whose directions the work is being done.

Leo Sitton, while in discharge of his work as flagman on a freight on the Southern, fell between two cars, receiving painful, but not serious, injuries. He is at present at the home of Mr. O. R. Doyle, at this place.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church of this place are arranging a series of entertainments for the winter season. Among them will be given an old-fashioned spelling bee and later the "Deestric schule." An old time genuine hot supper will also be served.

W. P. Nimmons, one of our enterprising merchants, will soon begin the erection of a modern home on Townville street.

Mrs. J. W. Stribling entertained a few friends at tea a few evenings since, complimentary to the Misses Norris, of Hickory Flat, who were her guests during the past week.

The Methodist denomination will hold services in the Presbyterian church for the present, the Sunday school being regularly conducted in the Masonic hall.

Rev. Phillips Verner and family left for Alabama on Tuesday, where Mr. Verner goes to attend the meeting of the Synod of Alabama.

Seneca will regret to lose as citizens the family of Mr. J. M. Strother, who has been connected with the oil mill here for some years. Mr. Strother goes to Ridge Springs.

Mr. M. S. Stribling, our champion chrysanthemum grower, is shipping these magnificent flowers daily. Mr. Stribling grows them to perfection and realizes handsome prices on them.

Madame rumor says Seneca will hear wedding bells before another moon.

Mrs. M. W. Coleman is completing arrangements to leave Seneca in the near future for her new home in Charleston. The change is a source of much regret to our people, as outside of the prominent social position she occupies, she has always possessed marked public spirit and in fact will leave many monuments to her zeal and energy along this line, which will be prominently conspicuous for time to come.

The town council has ordered a town clock, and not having a suitable town building on which to place it, has arranged with the congregation of the Baptist church to place it in the steeple of that church, and necessary alterations are now being made and will soon be completed. Much of the credit for this improvement is due to the ladies of the town, as they started the movement and accumulated a considerable fund for the clock and the council has appropriated the necessary amount to secure this addition to our conveniences.

The Baptist State Convention will meet at Florence, S. C., on Monday, December 2d, and will continue in session until the 7th. All who attend are requested to notify Dr. Brooks Rutledge, chairman of the committee on homes.

Chat With Fair Play.

Hello, Central! Give me Fair Play, please.

Hello! Is that Fair Play?

Yes.

What's the news down your way?

Who is that?

The Keowee Courier.

Why didn't you say so, of course we have news for the Courier.

We don't know what to say about our people; a good many are down sick and those who are well enough to go don't stay at home long enough to tell what they are doing.

Miss Dora Glymph is still quite low with fever.

Mr. Willis Grubbs has quite a good deal of sickness in his family, too.

It gives us pleasure to report that Mr. Willis Knox thinks he has recovered from his recent injury sufficiently to take up his mail route again soon.

Mr. R. H. Marett improves very slowly from his erysipelas.

So far as we know the rest of our people are enjoying their share of health.

How about "'possum and taters?" Well I guess we've got 'em for you. Everybody's digging "taters," and a small party went out the other night and caught eight 'possums; bad night for it, too—too dry and light nights.

Had any weather cold enough to kill hogs? We had a big frost last Wednesday morning and that afternoon we saw two nice ones hung up, but we didn't think to ask if the cold weather had killed them, or whether they had been knocked in the head. Wish we had found out.

Any visitors?

Yes. Mrs. Nannie Jackson, of Lavonia, Ga., spent Wednesday night with Mrs. Wright and then Thursday morning they, together with Miss Hattie Wright, and Mr. Willie Knox, went to Anderson to spend a few days shopping, etc.

Mr. Keels Marett is with his parents on a short visit.

Saturday morning Messrs. M. C. Barton and W. C. Hughs are going to Anderson. Mr. Barton goes to take charge of his school at Hopewell, near Anderson. Although Morris may be as poor a shot with the rifle as the professor has proven himself to be, still we know from experience that he can train "the young idea how to shoot" unerringly. May all success attend him.

Say, let me tell you, there's a young fellow down here in quite a dilemma. He does not believe in Woman's Suffrage and is a candidate for matrimony. The vote of one certain young lady would elect him "fair and square," but with all his "'lectioneering" she won't consent. Suggest a remedy will you.

Central: You all have had the line long enough.

Very well, that's all. Good bye.

Good bye. Reporter.

Says He Was Tortured.

"I suffered such pain from corns I could hardly walk," writes H. Robinson, Hillsborough, Ills., "but Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured them." Acts like magic on sprains, bruises, cuts, sores, scalds, burns, boils, ulcers. Perfect healer of skin diseases and piles. Cure guaranteed by all druggists in the county, 25c.

Thornwell Orphanage.

The Thornwell Orphanage, Clinton, S. C., established in 1875, is a home-school for orphan boys and girls from any part of our sunny South, and from any denomination, who need and will work for an education.

It is under the care of the Presbyterian church, but makes no discrimination against any child because of the religion of its parents.

Two hundred and fourteen orphans were under its care during the year just ended. These were supported and educated by the generous gifts of a multitude of people. As Thanksgiving and Christmas times are drawing near, not only this, but all other orphan institutions should be remembered by the good people of our land. Who could not spare a five dollar bill to educate and clothe and feed an orphan for a month! But small as well as great gifts will be accepted by any Orphanage—gifts for the Thornwell Orphanage should be sent to Dr. Jacobs, Clinton, S. C.
