A CORRECTION.

We regret that on account of a mistake of one of our compositors in setting up the report of the campaign meeting at Reader's Cour for last week's issue of this paper, the speech made by Mr. J. W. Bearden was credited to Mr. W. M. Brown, in addition to the report of Mr. Brown's speech. Our Mr. J. W. Shelor wrote a report of the meeting, and the manuscript gives a brief resume of the speeches of all five of the candidates for the House of Representatives. The report of Mr. Bearden's speech followed immediately that of Mr. Brown, and by mistake two of the first sentences in Mr. Bearden's speech were omitted, viz: "Mr. J. W. Bearden spoke next. He said this was his third race before the people." Then followed the report of the remainder of his speech which by reason of the above omission appeared as the latter half of the speech of Mr. Brown. We make this correction to justice to all parties, and especially to Mr. Bearden, at the same time expressing our regret that it occurred. Mistakes of this character will happen occasionally in the best regulated offices, and while they are always annoying (more so to us, perhaps, than any one else), yet we take pleasure in making proper corrections and amends.

The jury returned a verdict of $2,180 for the plaintiff. Since the accident Mr. Boyd has suffered considerably from the injuries and is unable to perform his duties.

The taking of testimony in the case began Friday morning and continued throughout the day. The arguments in the case began yesterday morning and were concluded yesterday afternoon, being made by T. P. Cotman for the defendant and H. F. Martin and Jos. A. McCullough for the plaintiff.

After the verdict was rendered Mr. Cotman, as attorney for the railroad, made a motion for a new trial. It is now known whether it will be granted or not.—Greenville News, July 27th.

APPORTIONMENT OF SCHOOL FUNDS.

Below I give the complete apportionment of all school moneys, including balances July 1st, 1901, and what has been spent since then, so as to show the amount to the credit of each and every district July 1st, 1902.

Trustees should post this report in some convenient book for reference when they are inquired for information about school moneys. Each district will get about the same apportionment every year as long as the law stands as it now is, if there is no change in the county enrollment nor in that of the districts.

The polls go to the credit of the district from whence they are paid. The three districts in the county which are in arrears for necessary fund are: Harlan, but the county dispensary fund is divided equally among the districts without regard to their enrollment.

The deficiency in weak districts is paid out of the State dispensary fund by the Comptroller General.

Table with columns: No. of District, Enrollment, Amount brought Forward July 1, 1901, Three Mill Tax, Poll Tax, County Dispensary, Special Tax, Deficit, State Dispensary and Delinquent 2 Mills., Delinquent Polls, 1901, Total Apportionment, Amount Spent Since July 1, 1901, Amount on Hand July 1, 1902.

THE TRIBE OF SMITH.

They Held a Reunion and Brag About Their Good Looks. (Anderson Daily Mail, July 25.)

The most delightful and instructive occasion within the recollection of the oldest citizens of the Lowland section was the annual reunion on Wednesday, July 23d, 1902, of the descendants of Jonathan Smith, at the old homestead of Nimrod Tillman Smith.

Mr. Robt. M. Burns called the meeting to order and introduced the orator of the day, Judge D. A. Smith, of Walhalla.

The carefully collected and methodically arranged data presented by Judge Smith was so complete that it was decided to verify and extend it, re-edit it and have it put in pamphlet or book form, and for this purpose a committee was appointed consisting of Judge D. A. Smith, John Baylis, Smith, William W. Smith, Luther P. Smith and Thomas A. Ratliffe.

After a sumptuous and much relished al fresco dinner Mr. Luther P. Smith entertained the crowd in a very neat and witty discourse on the characteristics of the tribe.

Resolved, That we have listened with interest to the address of Judge D. A. Smith, giving a sketch of the Smith family, and hereby tender to him our very sincere thanks for the same; and Resolved, further, That we hereby tender our very sincere thanks to Messrs. Joseph Smith and L. P. Smith and all others who contributed to bringing about this pleasant assemblage and all its attendant pleasures.
