President Smith's Wives.

Salt Lake, Utah, May 7.—President Joseph Smith, head of the Mormon church, has been doing the World's Fair dedicatory ceremonies at St. Louis, accompanied by a plural wife. President Roosevelt was among the notables introduced to Mrs. Smith. The question is asked why Mrs. Juliana Smith, the wife who presides over his home at 143 West Second Street, North, is not a member of the delegation. The explanation offered by one friend of the family is that both Mrs. Juliana and Mrs. Edna were anxious to accompany their husband to the exposition next year. As President Smith could not take both of them at the same time without provoking a scandal he proposed a compromise. Mrs. Edna was to go with him this year to witness the opening and Mrs. Juliana was to be rewarded next year by witnessing the glories of the exposition. After thinking the matter over the two women decided that this was the best solution of the problem, and Mrs. Edna started for St. Louis.

The Jeff Davis Memorial.

Richmond, May 6.—The idea of building an arch as a memorial to Jefferson Davis has been practically abandoned. It is understood that Mrs. Davis and some of the prominent officers of the memorial organization are opposed to the arch. A monument will probably be erected.

Deadly

Grasp of Grip Prostrated Me.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Built Up My

Shattered Nerves and Gave Me an Appetite.

Of the millions of people, who today suffer from nervous or heart weakness, a large percentage trace the cause directly to deadly LaGrippe. It is a germ disease, and makes a direct attack upon the nerves, putting an extra strain upon them at the time their vitality is at the lowest ebb. If LaGrippe has left you with a shattered nervous system, with loss of appetite, lack of energy, insomnia, frequent headaches and morbid tendencies, you should strengthen the weakened nerves with Dr. Miles' Nervine. It will undo all that grip has done, bring back appetite, rest and restore the nerves to their normal activity.

"I want to write this testimonial for the benefit of those who have suffered from that dreaded disease—LaGrippe. I suffered several weeks with it, and nothing I tried seemed to benefit me in any way, shape or form (I suffered almost death) and finally my daughter recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine to me and I can truthfully say from the first day I felt better than in weeks. It gave me relief, built up my shattered nerves and gave me a splendid appetite. I cannot speak too highly of it and want to say, each and every one who has suffered from LaGrippe will find instant relief by getting a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. Insist on having it and take no other. It is simply splendid. Hoping this will benefit some poor sufferer I remain," —MRS. GEORGE B. HALL, Jackson, Tenn.

South Carolina and St. Louis.

The Board of Trade of Walhalla has set an example which such organizations throughout the State would do well to follow. At its first annual meeting on Monday night it voted $100 "to be placed to the Governor's order for the purpose of supplementing the proposed $25,000 appropriation" in aid of the South Carolina exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis. The Walhalla Board of Trade is one of the youngest organizations of the sort in the State, and stands, as we are informed, "squarely for progressive methods."

The sum voted by it in aid of the South Carolina exhibit at the World's Fair is not large, but it was larger by $100 than the appropriation made by any other business or commercial organization in the State, we believe, and the spirit with which it was given ought to encourage similar associations to join in a work which means so much for South Carolina.

Governor Heyward believes that a full exhibit of the progress and resources of South Carolina at St. Louis would be of great material benefit. He has invited the co-operation of all the people in the work of making such an exhibit possible, and we hope that the rest of the trade and industrial organizations in the State will follow the example of the Walhalla Board of Trade. The Commercial Club of Charleston ought to take an active part in the work.—Charleston News and Courier.

Peeping Student Tarred and Feathered.

Columbus, Miss., May 6.—At the Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Starksville, Miss., C. L. Hinojosa, a student from Monterey, Mexico, was caught in the act of concealing himself in the apartments used by the girls of the institution. He also wrote the most shocking stories about some of the most highly respected girls at the school. When it was established that he was the guilty one a detachment of students took him from the guardhouse Saturday night and carried him to the woods nearby, tarred and then compelled him to roll over and over again in a bed of feathers. They then dispersed, and he remained in his deplorable condition over night. He was sent to his home Sunday.

Prof. Warren Morehead, of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., has discovered on a farm east of Hopkinsville, Ky., what is presumably the burying ground of a prehistoric people. Ten skeletons in a fair state of preservation were exhumed. The bones are probably those of an extinct race of mound builders. The skeletons were discovered in receptacles built of flat stones. Stone utensils were also found.

National Aid for Public Highways.

When Col. W. P. Brownlow, of Tennessee, asked Congress to appropriate $20,000,000 for National aid to road improvement in the United States, the economists were shocked at the mere suggestion of so lavish an expenditure on such account. The amount provided for in the Brownlow bill, however, was ridiculously small in comparison with the immense territory in which it was to be distributed.

We are told that the New York Legislature has adopted a constitutional amendment providing for a road tax of $5,000,000 a year for ten years, $50,000,000 in all. This amendment will doubtless be ratified by the people of the State. The Legislatures in the States of Alabama, Tennessee, Wisconsin, New Mexico, Missouri and Minnesota have all declared in favor of National aid for road improvement, and soon or late both States and Nation will unite in a policy which will result in the improvement of all the highways of the country, and to the great advantage of her industrial life.

It is said that "one of the objections most loudly urged against both State and National aid is that it will encourage local communities to neglect the improvement of their roads, and depend on the State and Federal Governments to do the work for them." The objection has very little behind it, as it would not be practicable to increase the "neglect" with which "local communities" have heretofore and always regarded the improvement of their roads. The efforts which have been made by enterprising towns here and there to improve the highways leading to them have been regarded by some of the "leaders of thought" as a useless waste of money and muscle. In the States and communities where there has been any well developed policy of road improvement, the people invariably favor the largest practicable expenditure of money for this purpose. Only the people who live in backward communities oppose the use of public money for such a public purpose.—News and Courier.

Military Company Prevents Lynching.

We suppose it is our duty to rejoice that that lynching didn't take place at Lowryville, in Chester county; but to be candid we cannot feel a great deal of pleasure in the rejoicing. The average man will not feel very happy when he reads of a military company being called out to protect a negro who attempts an assault upon a white woman, and we had just as well tell the truth about it.—Anderson Mail.

Man and Mule.

[At the old maids' convention, held in Rochester, New York, Miss Cynthia Scott read a paper on "Mere Man." In substance, she said that man is no more of an absolute success than the mule.]

The mule—he is a gentle beast,
And so is man;
He's satisfied to be the least,
And so is man;
Like man, he may be taught some tricks,
He does his work from 8 to 6;
The mule—when he gets mad, he kicks,
And so does man.

The mule—he has a load to pull,
And so has man;
He's happiest when he is full,*
And so is man;
Like man, he holds a patient poise,
And when his work's done will rejoice,
The mule—he likes to hear his voice,
And so does man.

The mule—he has his faults, 'tis true,
And so has man;
He does some things he should not do,
And so does man;
Like man, he doesn't yearn for style,
But wants contentment all the while,
The mule—he has a lovely smile,
And so has man.

The mule is sometimes kind and good,
And so is man;
He eats all kinds of breakfast food,
And so does man;
Like man he balks at gaudy dress
And all outlandish foolishness,
The mule's accused of mulishness,
And so is man.

A friend is worth more than silver or gold, houses, treasures, or lands. There are times when we would give all we have for a loving human friend. A soul may live very near God; may be able to whisper close to the Father's ear, yet when he enters his Gethsemane every heart longs for a friend to lean upon; longs for such a friend to sit near till the day break and the shadows flee away. We thank God for friends. But while thanking Him for what friends are to us, there comes the thought, Are we the same to others?—Selected.

Sea water is now used to extinguish the burning colliery of the Dominion Coal Company, Nova Scotia. Through a sluice cut from a dam on the shore of the ocean, sea water is pouring in at the rate of some three and a half million gallons an hour. The pit is flooded up to the seventh level, but four more must be reached before the fire can be extinguished. In other words, 450,000,000 gallons of water will be needed and six days time required.

Anderson Mail, May 17th: Senator Latimer is a statesman who believes in things practical rather than high sounding theories. While a Congressman he conferred an everlasting benefit upon the people of the Third District in the establishment of the rural mail delivery service, and if he can now get the people of the State aroused and to taking an interest in good roads, he will have conferred a still greater and more lasting benefit.

Laurens' Plucky Sheriff.

Laurens, May 5.—Last night Sheriff T. J. Duckett had an exciting encounter with a negro prisoner named Walter Lowe, who made a desperate attempt to break jail. Sheriff Duckett had gone to the second floor of the jail to lock up the prisoners for the night, or such of them as are allowed the freedom of the jail hallway in the day time.

After, as he thought, he had locked them all in their cells and was about to lock the hall door, Lowe, who had in the darkness managed to secret himself in a vacant cell while the others were being barred, made a dash for liberty. As he ran by the sheriff the latter seized him by the shoulders and down the precipitous stairway they went, the sheriff hanging on to the negro and endeavoring to check him. Lowe weighs about 185 pounds and the sheriff about 135 or less. The negro dashed on with his load through the hall and into the street, but in passing through the front hall struck the door facing with his shoulder and dislocated it. This disabled the negro and the sheriff had no great trouble then in handling him, assistance coming up in a moment. The sheriff was unarmed. Lowe figured in a riot in the town of Waterloo some two or three years ago in which a negro was killed. It is said that Lowe was chiefly responsible for the trouble. He immediately fled and remained until about two months ago, when he was captured in Georgetown and brought to Laurens. Capt. Duckett is one of the most peaceable of men except when there is real trouble, and then he is generally on hand.

Killed His Father.

Asheville, N. C., May 6.—In Haywood county to-day Samuel Keith was abusing his wife, when their young son remonstrated. Keith then turned toward his son, who fired at his father, killing him. The young man surrendered to officers and was placed in Waynesville jail.

Money in Hogs.

The farmers of Anderson are learning that they can make money in many other ways besides raising cotton. We know a man who is making a lot of money raising hogs. He kills the hogs on his farm, several miles out in the country, and brings the dressed meat into the city, selling it readily to butchers and direct to consumers at 9 cents per pound. He has killed 35 or 40 pigs and shoats this spring, and has thus realized a nice sum of money at a time of year when money is usually scarcest with the farmers. The cost of raising hogs is not very great, and with the market that now exists for fresh meats and the like, the wonder is that more of our farmers have not seen the opportunity and engaged in raising hogs for sale.—Anderson Mail.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder Thedford's Black-Draught should be used.

Caught Falling Babe.

New York, May 6.—A 3-year-old child fell from its mother's arms through a window of an elevated train on the lofty structure in Second avenue. The mother's screams were heard by two men who were crossing the street below, and who glanced up in time to see the child falling and to catch it in their arms. The child was restored to its frantic mother, with no more serious result of its thrilling experience than a slight bruise caused by grazing the edge of the elevated structure.
