Takes Queer Way to End His Life.

Logansport, Ind., May 17.—It is thought that Fred Rush, who died yes-terday afternoon in a local restaurant, deliberately committed suicide. He was found to have a rag so tightly drawn around his throat that it was impossible for him to eat, yet he crowded enough chicken into his mouth to choke a horse. Coroner Hetherington could not untie the knot that held the rag about the neck and had to cut it. Those about the place assert that Rush deliberately com-mitted suicide.
