

REMAINS OF JOHN PAUL JONES.

Naval Hero's Body Formally Delivered to Uncle Sam—Unique and Imposing Service.

In the presence of the highest dignitaries of France, the diplomatic representatives of many foreign governments and civil and naval officials of the United States, the body of Admiral John Paul Jones was on July 6th formally delivered to the United States government.

The occasion was unique and probably without parallel, as the funeral was that of a Revolutionary hero who had lain neglected in a foreign grave for over a hundred years.

Seldom has an event awakened such widespread interest in the French capital. Dense throngs packed the Champs Elysees and other principal thoroughfares to witness the imposing cortege which for the elaborateness of its military features equalled the martial display on the occasion of the visit of King Alfonso.

The ceremony of delivering the body was held in the American church on the Avenue de l'Alma at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon. The interior of this Gothic edifice was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers.

At the right of the altar sat Ambassador McCormick, Senior Special Ambassador Porter, Junior Special Ambassador Loomis, United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Rear Admiral Sigbee and other officers of the American squadron. Across the aisle sat Premier Rouvier with other members of his cabinet.

After brief religious services Gen. Porter, wearing evening dress according to the French custom, with the red sash of the grand cross of the Legion of Honor across his breast, advanced alongside the casket and formally delivered the body to Mr. Loomis, as the representative of the United States government.

As the surpliced choir took up "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" the entire assemblage rose and joined in the strains of the patriotic hymn. Eight brawny sailors from the Brooklyn then stepped forward and raising the casket on their shoulders bore it slowly from the church to the waiting gun carriage.

The cortege was now formed and proceeded to the Esplanada des Invalides. Arriving at the esplanada an imposing picture was presented. The French government had erected a large pavilion in which to deposit the coffin.

The casket was deposited in the center of the pavilion while the cortege passed, rendering military honors. Later it was borne to the invalides railroad station and placed in a funeral car where, guarded by French and American sailors, it started for Cherbourg at 10 o'clock to-night.

How Consumption Begins.

Consumption always begins with a cough that lingers. A cough that hangs on and will not yield to the usual treatment may not mean consumption, but too often it does mean this dead destroyer has gained a footing.

Picket Gets Ten Thousand.

The jury in the Pickett case awarded young Pickett $10,000 damages for the loss of his right arm by being run over by a Southern train at St. Matthews four years ago. The case was first heard two years ago and a verdict was rendered for $8,800, but the railroad appealed to the Supreme Court on the grounds of excessive damages.

We would esteem it an honor to meet the man who is brave enough to try to write Col. William Jennings Bryan a policy in the Equitable since Grover Cleveland has become one of the trustees of that company.—Augusta Chronicle.

HARVIE JORDAN TO FARMERS.

Warns them Against Speculation of All Kinds. Advises a Conservative Course.

Harvie Jordan, President of the Southern Cotton Association, has issued the following:

The South is to be congratulated on the prospects for general prosperity during the next eighteen months. The loyalty of Southern farmers in standing together during the first three months of the year and holding their staple off a depressed cotton market and following this by curtailing production for 1905, by materially reducing the cotton acreage and use of guano under cotton, is more largely responsible for the present condition of good prices than all other causes combined.

The loyalty of Southern bankers, cotton men, fertilizer companies and business men generally who have so generously contributed funds to the association, and the Southern press, which, during the hard struggle of the farmers for the past six months to whip the fight they had undertaken, has done such valiant and effective public service without price, are other highly important factors in making possible existing conditions.

All of these things, coupled with bad seasons following in the wake of a heavily reduced acreage and an enormous demand for spot cotton by the spinners of the world, gives to cotton the strongest statistical position it has occupied in many years. If crop conditions do not rapidly improve the supply of raw cotton for consumption in 1906 will fall far short of the demand and prices will go very much higher.

It will be the best part of wisdom for all cotton producers to discourage speculative interest that would tend to drive the price of spot cotton above 12 cents per pound just as it is imperative that no farmer should ever again sell a pound of middling cotton under 10 cents per pound. Let us not encourage the growth of the staple in foreign fields.

The recent advance in cotton is inducing many farmers already to sell their crop for delivery in October. This is bad policy, and if generally indulged in will deluge such an enormous amount of the staple on the market during that month as to break prices and prove injurious to those who must sell. Learn to market the crop slowly and do not go into speculative propositions.

By co-operative action refuse to sell any cotton under 10 cents and so market the staple as to keep the legitimate demand active and healthy at good prices.

The Southern Cotton Association, in its meeting at Memphis, June 20, 1905, endorsed the plans for immediate construction of warehouses under the plans and specifications of the insurance companies and to be owned and operated by the local communities in the development of a cotton warehouse system as absolutely essential to the best system of marketing cotton for high prices and this matter should be pushed at every cotton point in the South.

It is now imperative that the farmers rally in each county and build up the membership of the association. Those counties which have not yet organized should get into line at once. Those that are organized should be pushed by the local officers and the membership of each rapidly increased after the crops are laid by.

We want to be in a strong position by September to handle the situation next fall and winter. The outlook is most encouraging. The State and county officers of the association are to be congratulated on the splendid work they have done and now that success is assured they should redouble their efforts.

We have everything to be proud of and must not let the golden opportunity now in reach to still better fortify our position for the future, slip by or fail to measure up to the highest standard of our duty to one another. Very truly,

Harvie Jordan, Pres. Southern Cotton Association.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

The term "Dyspepsia" means a lack of pep in the stomach. Root is Formally Named.

Oyster Bay, July 7.—Official announcement has been made here that Elihu Root has been appointed Secretary of State. The announcement is made on the authority of President Roosevelt in the following statement given out by Secretary Loeb:

"Elihu Root has accepted the tender by the President of the Secretaryship of the State. He will take the oath of office in a couple of weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he closes up his business affairs. He will not go to Washington permanently until some time in September."

President Roosevelt is much gratified at Mr. Root's acceptance and is deeply sensible of the personal sacrifices made by Mr. Root in taking on him the burdens and duties of a member of the cabinet.

These Have Paid the Penalty.

For the murder of his mistress, Lula Mitchell, John Burch, colored, was hanged in Baltimore last Friday morning.

Henry J. Handy, colored, murderer of his wife, paid the penalty on the gallows at Salisbury, Md., last Friday morning. A fence was erected in order to prevent outsiders from seeing the man hanged, but it was besieged by midnight and torn down and despite the efforts of a large posse to preserve order, the crowd tore down the fence and when the hanging took place it was in view of several hundred.

Lon Beard, a negro, who had been arrested on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Chester Crawford, of Normady, was lynched Saturday afternoon by a mob of 25 men.

Escape of a Wife Murderer.

Hampton, July 10.—Ben Bennett, a white man convicted of wife murder and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary or on the chain-gang, and Sam Jenkins, a negro serving on the chain-gang for killing another negro, whose sentence was four years in the penitentiary or on the public works of the county, have escaped. The escape was made by filing a large ring. They left with their shackles on them. There were nine convicts at work near Hickory Hill. Webb Thomas was the only guard in charge of this gang at the time, Romy Bowers, the other guard, having gone to his home on Saturday. Nothing was known of the escape until daylight this morning. Supervisor Snider will do his best to have the convicts arrested.

Rev. R. Herbert Jones, presiding elder of the Greenville District, is a man of parts. Besides being an eloquent pulpit orator, and one of the best presiding elders the district has ever had, is a gardener of no mean ability. He brought the Daily Mail office to-day some tomatoes from his garden which are as fine as any that ever grew in this section. One of them was sixteen inches in circumference and the others were nearly as large. His garden is said to be one of the finest in the city, although he is at home but a small part of the time to look after it.—Anderson Mail, July 10.

Theodore H. Price notifies the newspapers to refer to him in reference to the cotton-leak scandal at his peril. We propose Mr. Price has no objection to reference to the leaks and washouts he caused in pockets of Southern cotton holders when he a few months ago urged them to sell cotton at seven cents, and even six cents, declaring it was going to five cents and under. Soon after Mr. Price turned bull. It is time the Southern farmers were realizing that Mr. Price is a manipulator of the future cotton market and that in following his lead they are playing for his advantage and, as likely as not, for their own loss.—The State.

Tribute of Respect.

Stephen Albert Maret, Christian gentleman and friend, sleeps well after life's fitful fever, in the cemetery of the church he loved and labored in so long. We, his fellow-workers, can say of him,

"Life's work well done, Life's race well run, Life's victory won, Now cometh rest."

In loving remembrance of his devotion to church, his faithful discharge of duty as deacon, his consistent Christian life, and his noble example of a good citizen, we, the members of Beavertam Baptist church offer the following resolutions:

- 1. That we have lost one of our most useful members.
2. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in this time of their need and invoke God's grace upon them.
3. That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family and recorded in our minute book.

Bequest to the Connie Maxwell Orphanage.

The trustees of the Connie Maxwell orphanage held their annual meeting at the institution, near Greenwood, last week. Every department of the work was found to be in a healthy condition and everything prosperous and encouraging. The feature of the meeting was the presence of Dr. W. C. Smith, of Williston, who came as a visitor to appear before the trustees. He reported to them that his uncle, J. Terrell Smith, of Williston, had recently died, leaving him as the executor of his will. The will provides for the erection of a cottage for girls to be called the Martha Smith Home, in memory of Mrs. J. Terrell Smith. In 1898 J. Terrell Smith built a home for boys at the orphanage and the building bears his name. His will expresses the wish that a companion building for girls shall be erected at once. Dr. Smith reported that he had in his hands money sufficient to build this house and requested the board to proceed at once to erect the building. The property of Terrell Smith is worth about $20,000 and practically the entire property was left to Connie Maxwell Orphanage.

Obituary—Mrs. S. E. Nelson.

[By Her Pastor.] Late in the afternoon of June 28th, 1905, after a two days' illness, Mrs. S. E. Nelson (nee Allen), wife of Rev. R. W. Nelson, fell "asleep in Jesus" as sweetly as a child or as a traveller on a pleasant journey. She was fully conscious and knew that she must soon leave her friends, relatives and the loving husband to whom she was so devoted. To him she was a help-meet indeed and in truth. Just two years previous to the night she lay a corpse, the life of Rev. R. W. Nelson was brightened and cheered by the nuptial tie, but the afternoon of the 28th of June closed those two short years that had been such a benediction to his useful life.

Just two months ago Sister Nelson was preceded to the grave by her aged mother. She was a faithful and consecrated member of South Union Baptist church. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor in the presence of a large number of her friends and relatives. Thus has passed from earth to heaven a bright spirit, leaving a loving husband with other near relatives and a host of friends to mourn her death.

"Out of the shadow-land, into the sunshine, Cloudless, eternal, that fadeth not away; Softly and tenderly, Jesus has called her Home, where the ransomed are gathering."

A basket of potatoes, in each one of which was imbedded a $5 gold-piece, was presented last week to Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, of Cleveland, of which John D. Union Meeting.

The Beavertam Union, Lower Division, will convene at Fant's Grove July 29-30, 1905. The moderator, Rev. W. R. Wilson, will open the meeting at 10 o'clock and after devotional exercises at discretion the following queries will be discussed by those appointed and others who will join in the discussions:

- 1. Is it practicable to enlist every Christian in the work of soul-winning? If so, how? W. N. Bruce. Rev. D. L. Hatcher, S. M. Vandiver.
2. Is there need for more strict discipline in our churches? J. D. Stonecypher, W. N. Mitchell, J. W. Bearden.

- 3. What duties to the older Christians owe to new converts? M. C. Barton, A. B. Langston, J. B. Harris.

This being the season when the pastors will likely be in revival meetings, laymen are mostly on the program. Discussions open to all. The program for Sunday will be arranged at the union. J. R. Moore, J. B. Harris, J. F. Foster, Committee.
