"Fatally" Shot, Negro Lives.

Hattiesburg, Miss., August 17.—After receiving one bullet straight through the heart and another entirely through the head, Charles Williams, a negro, of this city, has survived for three days and will probably recover.

The wounds were inflicted by a 38-calibre revolver, fired at short range. Williams fell over as if dead. The undertaker was telephoned for, but a surgeon had arrived in the meantime, and when the undertaker's wagon arrived the wounded negro was able to sit up. Since then he has been eating heartily, and the physicians venture the opinion that he will recover if no complications arise.

Rural Schools—Cross of Honor.

Hon. Wyatt Aiken will send to all libraries the Agricultural Year Book for 1905, and on page 257 teachers will find valuable aid in improving schools and how to teach agriculture. Teachers, please get a copy and read to your children.

Remember the educational rally, August 25th, at Westminster. All friends of education are invited. Visiting teachers in county are especially invited.

A Cross of Honor will be given free to every Confederate soldier in Oconee. Those who wish crosses can get them by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Miss Marye R. Shelor, Westminster.

Too Much to Pay for Cattle.

The recent purchase of nine head of Jersey cattle for $1,800 for the Clemson College farm has caused a good deal of comment. The cattle were purchased from J. A. Shanklin, of Pendleton. Some of the other cattle raisers seem to think that they were not given exactly a square deal. They do not charge the committee that made the purchase of any wrong-doing, but they say the committee did not look far enough. They say that if the committee had looked around it could have found just as fine cattle as that bought from Mr. Shanklin at a much lower price. In short, they claim that the committee did not use proper care and business judgment in expending the money. They claim that $1,800 is a powerful high price to pay for nine head of Jersey cattle.

The committee consisted of Prof. Harper, the director of the experiment station, Col. M. L. Donaldson, of Greenville, and J. C. Stribling, of Pendleton. These are good business men, and, of course, they are prepared, no doubt, to justify their action, but there is, nevertheless, a great deal of criticism going on of the charge outlined.—Anderson Mail.

The intense itching characteristic of salt rheum and eczema is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Salve. As a cure for skin diseases this salve is unequalled. For sale by J. W. Bell, Walhalla; W. J. Lunney, Seneca.

L. W. HASKELL.

A Life Long Friend Pays Tribute to an Old Abbeville Boy.

Editor of Press and Banner: Having noted the announcement that Major L. W. Haskell will be a candidate for the office of Adjutant and Inspector General and feeling the kindest interest in him, I desire through your paper to say a word in his behalf.

Mr. Haskell is by education specially qualified for the office which he seeks, having graduated as Captain from the Citadel, in 1889.

He is a son of Mr. Langdon C. Haskell, whose home was in Abbeville county, from which place he volunteered in the Confederate service. Major Haskell spent the earlier days of his career in Georgia. He was there during the stirring days of factional fight in South Carolina and he has had no factional affiliations. He has served his State for four years as legislator, where he is known by all his associates as a prince of good fellows. His splendid work as a legislator and his eminent fitness for military service specially recommended him to Gen. Frost, the present Adjutant and Inspector General who appointed him assistant.

Having served as assistant most satisfactorily and his chief declining another nomination, Mr. Haskell naturally desires and deserves promotion. Mr. Haskell is a brother of Mr. Chevis Haskell of this city. Like most of the men who are offered to public service by old Abbeville, he is qualified in every particular. It is a pleasure to support a man so courteous and agreeable and withal so faithful in the discharge of duty.

A Correction.

Editors Courier: In your issue last week in my communication you no doubt unintentionally changed two words in speaking of Dr. Klein's address, which makes him criticize the condition of behaviour, where I intended the criticism myself and used the plural "we" instead of "I opine." I trust you will correct the error and exonerate Dr. Klein from the criticism. J. W. S. August 17, 1906.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children.

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the First M. E. church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Sold by J. W. Bell, Walhalla; W. J. Lunney, Seneca.

News from Jocassee.

Jocassee, August 20.—The Jocassee hotels, owned by W. M. Brown and A. L. Whitmire, and located on the bank of the beautiful Whitewater river, are crowded with boarders from far and near. The low-landers always find Jocassee Valley a pleasant summer resort.

The McKinney's school, near this place, is in a flourishing condition under the skillful management of Miss Earle Kelley, as teacher.

Rev. J. B. Colley, pastor of Mt. Carmel church, closed a series of meetings last Tuesday. The congregations were large and attentive. There was only one addition to the church. Rev. D. Ramey, pastor of Salem church, assisted Rev. Mr. Colley in the services.

SENECA.

Seneca, August 21.—The meeting of the young people under J. A. Hassel, at the Presbyterian church the past week, while not as full as was desired, was nevertheless a delightful one. The appointment at the home of Mrs. T. E. Stribling on Monday afternoon for the purpose of organizing the Miriams, a chapter for girls, and the Covenanters for boys, was met by a good handful of these young people and organized by Mr. Hassel.

On Friday evening next, at the school house, Hon. O. B. Martin, State Superintendent of Education, will speak to our citizens who are interested in education, his subject being Higher Education. It is the earnest desire of the trustees that a full house hears the distinguished speaker. Let all who are interested attend.

Last night, at the opera house, Dr. J. H. Thornwell, of Fort Mill, addressed the public here through the Knights of Pythias on "Pythianism." Considering the fact that notice was given of the lecture only a few hours previous, the attendance was good. Dr. E. A. Hines, in his happiest vein, introduced the venerable doctor, who held the close attention of his hearers for over an hour. Delightful jokes were interspersed, which added to the sound reasoning, for which the speaker is noted, made an address of great interest to all present.

Mrs. S. K. Dendy will be at home tonight to a large company of young people in honor of her young guests, Misses Mattie Julia Corneg, Leo Cannon and Beatrice McAllister, of Landonia, Ga. The occasion will doubtless be altogether charming.

Miss Fannie Lowery was hostess to the Gossippers last Friday evening, which meeting was characterized as being fully up to the standard of the many delightful meetings which have made these young members famous for their charming hospitality. An elaborate menu was served, consisting of a salad course, followed by delicious cake and cream. A unique contest was engaged in, in which the answers were suggestive of things cooling, the prize going to Miss Beatie Simpson, a beautiful fan, which furthered the idea of "cool suggestions" embodied in the contest.

The remains of Mrs. Duncan, of Gainesville, wife of Isaac Duncan, a former citizen of this place, were brought here yesterday for burial. Mrs. Duncan was a sister of J. L. Kell, of this place.

Miss Annie Shanklin, of Easley, is the accomplished guest of Miss Carrie Hunter.

The Williams Comedy Company will open a week's engagement here next Monday. The opening bill will be "The Girl I Love."

The election on the question of water and lights for Seneca was held to-day. The result was overwhelmingly in favor of municipal ownership and control of the water and light supply. The vote stood 60 to 3.

The election held last Saturday for cotton weaver resulted in the selection of J. A. Henry, who will weigh the cotton for this section this fall.

Mrs. M. W. Coleman's friends are delighted to have her in Seneca again. She is accompanied by her son, Dr. E. M. Coleman, who together have been touring the famous resorts of the mountains of North Carolina and Chick Springs.

Mrs. Mary Curtright, of Atlanta, is the distinguished guest of Mrs. W. F. Strickland.

Mrs. Mary Daniels, of Raleigh, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Griffin, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gignilliat.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Holleman and children are at the home of Mrs. Holleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Thompson, this week, for a few days recreation.

In Self Defence.

Major Hamlin, editor and manager of the Constitutionalist, Eminence, Ky., when he was fiercely attacked, four years ago, by piles, bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, of which he says: "It cured me in ten days and no trouble since." Quickest healer of burns, sores, cuts and wounds. 25c. at all druggists.

Another South Carolina Negro Lynched.

Columbia, S. C., August 20.—Bob Etheridge, the negro who, on Thursday last, attempted to criminally assault the 7-year-old daughter of T. H. West, a well-to-do farmer of the Mount Willing section of Saluda county, was to-night taken to the scene of his crime, by the father of the little girl, and shot to death. Etheridge was employed at the home of West. Thursday afternoon he asked the little girl to accompany him to the barn to feed the stock. It was while there that Etheridge made a desperate effort to assault the little girl, placing his hand over her mouth to muffle her screams. She was horribly bruised, but the negro failed in his purpose. It is reported that the little girl cannot live.
