That Clemson Cow Trade. Clemson College, September 24.—Be-cause a committee, appointed by the Board of Trustees of Clemson College, paid eighteen hundred dollars for nine fine Jersey cows, and because some far-mers who attended the farmers' institute in August claimed that they did not re-ceive good accommodations and good attention, a number of persons through-out the State have been publishing in the newspapers severe criticisms of the man-agement of Clemson College, Col. R. W. Simpson, chairman of the Board of Trustees, considered the several criti-cisms of such moment that he called a special meeting of the Board of Trustees, which meeting was held last Tuesday night and Wednesday at the college. After examining thoroughly the cow transaction and understanding the con-ditions, the board issued a statement endorsing the action of the committee that purchased the cows. The board and the faculty regret that some of the farmers' institute is a large number of persons to accommodation, but it should be known that thirteen hundred farmers' institute is a large number of persons to accommodate, and under the oircumstances the farmers received the very best of attention and accommoda-tion, and the Board of Trustees, while deploring the lack of attention in some cases, have dismissed the consideration of all the criticisms along this line. A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES reports were short. One from Missouri and one from Arkansas report a bale per acre, if a late fall; but they had not picked any. Southern Texas has nearly finished gathering and selling and are now turning her cotton land to destroy the boll weevil. I saw thousands of acres of cotton in Alabama and Mississippi that look like it will take six acres to make a bale. Then we saw some fields that had a fine weed, but of course we could not tell what was in it. I talked with a great many farmers and hey generally re-ported a half bale to the acre as an ave-rage crop. They make this without commercial fertilizers and without fresh air and pure water, while we use all three. So I have come to the conclusion that Texas is not so much ahead of South Carolina after all, although I saw some fine lands on my trip. I crossed the Mississippi river at Vicks-burg. I was there forty-three years ago and the city was then full of Federal troops and the river full of gunboats. There are only two things as reminders of that time aud these are the tombs over the Federal dead and the changed bed of the river which Gen. Grant caused by cutting a canal across the bend. host of friends who will learn of his death with sore regret. He has in honest and upright dealings with his fellow man won for himself many laurels. For 25 h years the writer has been almost in daily association with Mr. Elrod, and in all that time he has been the perfect gentle-man, the loyal friend, the unostentations, laborious man and an upright Christian. The advocate of the poor and unfortu-nate, Mr. Elrod was the sort of a friend worth having. He never pushed himself nor did he care for glory. The know-ledge of duty well done, of victory, was all he sought. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn their loss. The fune-ral services were held at Center church, he the place of interment, the day following his demise, by his pastor, Rev. T. C. Ligon. A Friend. ANOTHER OLD VETERAN GONE.

Death of J. A. Elrod.

ANOTHER OLD VETERAN GONE.

Ligon. A Friend. ANOTHER OLD VETERAN GONE. J. A. Elrod, of the Oakway vicinity, died the 17th instant, and by his death the entire community has sustained a great loss, as well as his own loved ones. He had attained considerable age, being S3 years, 8 months and 20 days old, and yet his mind was clear to the last, though his body had been frail for sometime past. He had been a member of the church, first a Methodist, then a Presby-terian, for at least 70 years, and had been married 59 years and one month, his de-voted wife, nearly 75 years old, still sur-viving him; also, five children, several grand-children and some great-grand-children. Everybody held "Uncle Arch," as he was familiarly called, in the very highest esteem, and no one for a moment doubted his piety. He had been a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church for 18 years, and he largely built the Oakway Presbyterian church, with his own hands and means, himself giving the land on which it stands. He was ap-pointed to represent the church in the Presbytery, to meet at Westminster the 20th instant, and his heart was set on going. It was his delight to work in Sunday school, prayer meeting, and in-deed in every good way. Truly he was a good man and he will be greatly missed.

As a dressing for sores, bruises and burns Chamberlain's Salve is all that can be desired. It is soothing and healing in its effect. It allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. This salve is also a certain cure for chapped hands and dis-cases of the skin. Price 25 cents. For sale by J. W. Bell, Walhalla; W. J. Lun-ney, Seneca.
