Graves' Speech is Creating Big Interest.

Washington, April 12.-The Washington Post says this morning:

"Nothing coming from a Democrat iu recent years has attracted more attention among politicians than the speech of John Temple Graves, the distinguished Georgia editor, at the Bryan anniversary club dinner at Chattanooga Wednesday night. Mr. Graves, whose Democracy no man can impeach, took the advanced ground that Mr. Bryan, at the forthcoming Democratic National Convention, should nominate Mr. Roosevelt for another term. "He did this on the theory that more Democratic policies had been enacted into law under Mr. Roosevelt than any Democrat could hope to equal, and that with the Senate as it now stands, no Democratic President could work reforms along purely Democratic lines. For this reason he believed another four years of Roosevelt would be for the best good of the country, in that it would advance Democratic principles.

Died Horrible Death.

Union, April 11 .- Robert A. Hancock, well-known man of this place, died last night. He has been sick a long time with a complication of diseases. No one was in the house with him, when he died, except a boy. This youth states that Mr. Hancock was ill all night; that he, the boy, was up with him until 2 o'clock, when Hancock told him to go to bed.

This morning Hancock's body was found, face down, in the fire, his head resting against the back of the fire-place, and all the flesh burved from head and face; both arms burned off nearly to the shou der, and his legs partially consumed. The boy says he left Mr. Hancock sitting by the fire when he fell asleep, and it is thought that a sudden attack of heart trouble, to which he was subject, pitched forward into the open fire-place fter dying.

Washington, April 15.-"My opinion is that if Roosevelt and Bryan are the opposing candidates in 1908, Bryan will be the victor," said Warwick M. Hough, the well-known St. Louis lawyer, at the New Willard.

"To-day the President is acclaimed as the greatest man in his party, and there is no question that he could easily get the nomination. His election would be a very different thing. The American people are, in a way, enthusiastic and excitable, but they have a habit of taking a sober, second view of affairs, and herein would lie Roosevelt's peril. The third term idea is obnoxious.

"A vast number of conservative citizens regard Bryan as much safer and sounder in his views than the present Chief Executive."

"This man has elected himself to the highest seat in the synagogue of this world and expects to lead Hosannas in the next no doubt, and that is the reason he is so ready to damn his brother, but he forgets the injunction of the Bible, 'Judge not, lest ye be judged.' I am willing to compare lives with him, and public records with him; I am willing to have his record and mine sifted by any jury in Georgia; I won't go to South Carolina to get it, and if I don't shine along with him in honesty, decency and integrity, I will quit and hush."
